ROOSEVELT PUTS WHIP TO HOUSE ON UTILITY BILL

Rebels Told to O. K. 'Death Clause.'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 28.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt today tried to lecture a balky, independent house of representatives into including in the utility control bill the "death sentence" for holding companies which the New Dealers ardently desire.

As the house seethed in heated debate this afternoon over the fate of the utility bill, the President at his semi-weekly press conference delivered a homily on abolishing what he called parasite holding companies.

Thus far the house has refused to follow the lead of the senate and include in the bill the "death sentence," a provision under which utility holding companies above the first degree must be dissolved within seven years.

House Balks at Clause.

Mr. Roosevelt's lecture to his press conference was plainly intended by the chief executive to be relayed to the revolting congressmen on Capitol hill who were refusing to follow his demands and who in the debate this afternoon even claimed that the "death sentence" which Mr. Roosevelt now demands is a violation of the platform on which he was elected President.

Bluntly the President declared that he wants the house of representatives to reverse its committee and change the bill now being debated so that it will include the "death sentence." He came out flatly saying he desired the abolition of holding companies more now than ever before, if that were possible.

The President in his talk to reporters objected to calling the outlawry of utility holding companies a "death sentence," charged that only people like the Insulls and a few holding company capitalists in New York opposed him, and lambasted the utility representatives who had dared to fight him as the most powerful and dangerous lobby ever created.

The White House outburst evidently was touched off by the fight in the house today in which members of the President's own party fought to keep the "death sentence" out of the utility bill.

House Applauds Opponent.

Ripe for rebellion against the President on the bill, the house was stirred to almost hysterical enthusiasm by a plea from an Alabama Democrat to "remember the Democratic platform of 1932."

George Huddleston, a slender little gray haired congressman with 20 years of service in the house behind him, was the fiery orator who touched off the fireworks.

Two-thirds of the 400 representatives, irrespective of their party affiliations, jumped to their feet and shrieked their approval when Huddleston concluded with this shouted defiance:

"Whether it be propaganda from one source or another; whether it be influence brought to bear by utilities officials, or whether it be the threat of demagogs and agitators; whether it be to oppose the chief of this nation, I will do what I think right and all hell cannot stop me from it!"

Huddleston's speech was the high point of the day's debate. Much worried Democratic leaders continued to exert pressure for the "death clause" upon members of the majority. A poll last week showed 20 votes short of the required approval of the clause. After a checkup today Representative John E. Rankin [Dem., Miss.] asserted that enough Democrats had been whipped into line to assure its approval by 28 votes.

Predicts Roosevelt Victory.

"We have conceded all old guard Republicans and all reactionary Democrats to the opposition," said Rankin with a note of contempt in his voice as he thus lumped those who are against the form of the bill wanted by the administration. "But we feel sure that there are 28 more members in favor of the death sentence than there are opposed to it. I am confident of an overwhelming victory for the administration on this proposition when we reach a vote."

The scenes accompanying the Huddleston speech were unusual even on the floor of the house, which is accustomed to unique emotional displays. Almost the full membership was present, in contrast to the ordinary attendance of about one hundred.

"In a few words," Huddleston began, "the issue here is whether you wish to regulate the holding companies or destroy them. My position is that they should be regulated, sharply and rigidly regulated. I have some authority for that position. I turn to the Democratic platform of

Detroit, Mich., June 28.—[Special.]—A man once acquitted of murder and an unidentified woman were sought tonight as the central figures in the mysterious slaying of Howard Carter Dickinson, prominent New York attorney and nephew of Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes.

The man is William Lee Ferris, also known by other names and described by police as a hotel habitué who makes a practice of developing acquaintanceship with guests. He is said to have had an appointment with Dickinson a few hours before the attorney's bullet pierced body was found in a Detroit park.

Woman Checked Brief Case.

The unidentified woman checked Dickinson's brief case at the Book-Cadillac hotel, where he had stayed, a few hours after his body had been identified. A checkroom attendant said the woman appeared nervous and left hurriedly before a good view of her could be obtained through a crowd about the checkroom window.

The brief case, examined by officers, contained paper pertaining to the estate of the late William H. Yawkey, multimillionaire lumberman. Dickinson was here representing the $40,000,000 estate in connection with a claim against it.

Daughter of Yawkey.

It was said her claim is based on the allegation that she is the natural daughter of the late Mr. Yawkey. She contends she was adopted as an infant by James M. Carmichael, who also adopted Attorney Carmichael. The attorney said his sister learned of her paternity through a letter left to her after the death of her foster father.

Mr. Yawkey was the foster father of Tom Austin Yawkey, the present owner of the Boston Red Sox baseball team.

Search through several states was instituted for Ferris on information given to police by Andrew Smygen, taxicab driver and chance acquaintance of Ferris. Smygen told police Ferris picked him up on a street Wednesday and later gave him a check for $3 on a bank where he had no account.

Had Date With Lawyer.

Smygen said Ferris told him he had a date Wednesday night with a lawyer named Dickinson who was staying at the Book-Cadillac hotel and who has a lot of money. Ferris, according to Smygen, said they were going out with two women Wednesday night and offered him the job of driving them.

Smygen said he made two trips to Ferris' hotel to pick up the party. On the first trip he was informed the lawyer had not arrived and on the second trip he was paid 50 cents and told that the party was staying in the hotel for the evening.

The New York attorney was believed to have been carrying a considerable amount of money when he disappeared after leaving the hotel, apparently to keep an engagement. His wife informed Detroit police in a telephone conversation that Dickinson had told her he carried several thousand dollars.

Police said they were working on the theory that the lawyer was deliberately slain in a holdup. They said it was possible he may have known his slayer, at least casually.

Suspect Leaves Hotel.

Chief of Detectives Fred W. Frahm said the whereabouts of Ferris are unknown since he checked out of his hotel at 11 a. m. yesterday, shortly before Dickinson's body was identified.

Frahm said police records showed Ferris also was known as James Taylor and William Sweitzer. Under the latter name he was tried here in 1930 on a murder charge, but was acquitted on a plea of self-defense, the detective chief said.

Police Commissioner Heinrich A. Pickert ordered a state-wide search for Ferris and asked Ohio and New York police to aid in the hunt. Although detectives also were searching for Ferris' wife they refused to say whether she was sought for questioning in the case.

Detective Chief Frahm said Ferris

THE STAIRS OF THE CONQUEROR

[Copyright: 1935: By the Associated Press.]

Washington, D. C., June 28.—Preparing for another major transfer of the government's huge gold reserve, secret orders were disclosed today for the hurried construction of a new, subterranean vault in the center of an army post 31 miles from Louisville, Ky. Into it will be transferred a large part of the billions in gold now held by the government in New York and Philadelphia.

The structure, officials reluctantly disclosed, will be built in continuation of the policy of moving precious monetary reserves away from vulnerable coast cities to more isolated inland territory. That policy was instituted months ago, and has resulted in the shipment of nearly three billion dollars of gold from San Francisco to Denver.

Has Natural Protection.

Completion of the project at Fort Knox, Ky., will mean that the Rocky mountains on one side of the continent and the Appalachians on the other separate the nation's monetary base from any possible enemy attack on either seaboard.

Treasury officials in charge of plans for the new building were asked to have them ready by Aug. 1. No reasons were given for the haste.

In preparation, treasury surveyors already have journeyed to and from Kentucky to look over the ground. The site tentatively selected is not only in the center of Fort Knox, but is isolated from both railroads and highways.

Plan drafters were given few instructions except that the building should contain an area of 10,000 square feet and cost not more than $450,000. The intention was to put offices atop the gold bullion depositary vault.

Vault "Inaccessible."

From a strategic standpoint, military experts asserted, the new vault will be decidedly inaccessible. An invading army would have to fight its way through the Appalachians—a terrific task. Even airline fliers who regularly cross the mountains regard it as a treacherous flight. Further, the new general headquarters air force squadron at Langley Field, Va., is not far away in the matter of air miles.

The army is not assuming responsibility for protection of the gold. Treasury guards will get that. The army is merely turning the necessary land over to the treasury.

CUTS OFF TAIL OF HIS OWN DOG AND LOSES 50C!

John Hectus, 3205 North Harlem avenue, a dog breeder, was not only embarrassed over cutting the wrong dog's tail off. He was also out 50 cents.

Hectus was arraigned before Judge Thomas A. Green in the Shakespeare avenue court yesterday on a disorderly conduct complaint signed by Mrs. Edward A. Chester, 4810 Chicago avenue.

"Several days ago," Mrs. Chester testified, "I took Rowdy, my bull terrier, to Mr. Hectus and gave him 50 cents to cut Rowdy's tail off. When I got the dog home I found it wasn't Rowdy at all, but one of Mr. Hectus' own dogs that looked like Rowdy. He'd cut off his own dog's tail but he never did fix Rowdy's. I got Rowdy back but Mr. Hectus refused to return my 50 cents."

Judge Green dismissed the charge after Hectus agreed not only to refund Mrs. Chester's 50 cents, but a like additional sum for carfare Mrs. Chester spent because of the mixup.

Plucky Girl Bites Hand of Club Robber

Four masked bandits, carrying shotguns, invaded the Nordic Country club, a mile southwest of Itasca, early today and escaped with $400 from the office safe.

In addition one carried away a badly bitten finger, streaming blood—a testimonial to the determination and sharp teeth of Miss Clara Rash, 32 years old, office secretary and bookkeeper, who lives in the clubhouse.

Miss Rash was asleep in her bedroom, which adjoins the club office. In a rear room was Mrs. Freda Luethke, wife of Walter Luethke, club manager. Luethke was not at home when the bandits entered.

Bites Bandit's Hand.

The robbers forced the lock on the office door, then broke the door leading into Miss Rash's bedroom. She awoke with a scream as she saw the four men burst in. One quickly clapped a hand over her mouth and Miss Rash sank her teeth firmly into a handy finger.

The bandit yelled with pain as his companions struggled desperately with the bookkeeper to force her to relinquish her grip. She finally did so.

"Open the safe and we won't hurt you," ordered the bandit leader. "If you don't——"

Miss Rash, clad only in her nightdress, was forced into the office, where she complied with their demands.

"Now, where's the telephone?" was the next command.

Cut One Telephone Wire.

Miss Rash pointed out the office phone and one of the gunmen quickly cut the wire. The courageous bookkeeper did not tell them, however, of another phone on the inclosed clubhouse porch.

Electrocuted as He Hunts Water Leak Under Garage

Anthony Guisto, 23 years old, 2631 Shields avenue, was electrocuted yesterday when he grasped an electric light extension cord while standing in a pit he was digging under a public garage at 2645 South Wells street. The pit was being dug in an effort to find a leak in a water pipe. Firemen of rescue squad No. 8 endeavored to revive the victim with an inhalator.

Action Rushed Against 12 in Union Slugging

Warning to Unions

In a secretly prepared report to the Criminal court on the slugging of two Oak Park florists, the Cook county grand jury yesterday warned trade unions against violence and terrorism. Details on page 6.

Indictments were demanded yesterday by Berwyn officials against the twelve union sluggers who on Thursday invaded the home of Joseph Lid, 6529 West 29th street, Berwyn, and beat him with blackjacks and brass knuckles. Lid, who is 55 years old, owns and operates a dairy.

The slugging occurred when the unionists encountered Lid after they had threatened two plasterers and a carpenter who were working on an addition to Lid's residence and ordered them to pack their tools and leave the job. The carpenter and one of the plasterers are union men in good standing, and the other plasterer had been a member of the plasterers' union for twelve years, until a year ago, when unemployment made it impossible for him to pay his dues.

Seeks Indictment Tuesday.

Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Dougherty, assigned by State's Attorney Courtney to coöperate with Berwyn officials and direct the investigation of the slugging, said he would present evidence to the grand jury on Tuesday and that he would ask indictments for assault, assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder, and conspiracy to commit an illegal act.

Meanwhile Assistant State's Attorney Frank Christiansen, who is assisting Prosecutor Dougherty, directed police of the state's attorney's office to make a search for the twelve men, the identity of only two of whom is believed to be known. Arrests are to be made on John Doe warants issued by Police Magistrate Frank Pavek of Berwyn.

Identity of Two Believed Known.

Before Dougherty's appearance before the grand jury Tuesday, however, authorities expect to have in custody or at least know the identity of the majority, if not all, of the unionists involved in the assault. So far they have only the names of Seth Piper, a representative of the electricians' union, and Henry J. Mock of the carpenters' union. Another unionist known either as "Dalton" or "Carney" also is believed to have figured in the violence.

"This vicious assault on a respectable citizen by union sluggers is an outrage," Mayor Anton J. Janura of Berwyn said yesterday as village officials demanded stern action against the terrorists. "It is a shocking thought to know that the sanctity and privacy of a man's home in a peaceful community may be invaded by thugs who break and enter in violation of the law.

"I have instructed the chief of police and the entire department to make a relentless search for the assailants of Joseph Lid, and we ask the coöperation of the state's attorney's office to run them down.

"They should and must be prosecuted criminally to the limit as a warning to other sluggers and racketeers."

Police Chief Enters Inquiry.

Chief of Police Joseph Pilot of Berwyn visited the Lid home yesterday and found that work on the addition to the Lid home was at a standstill, the union carpenter having failed to appear for work. Chief Pilot advised Lid to hire another carpenter, but the assaulted dairyman said the absent workman had told him he ex-

59TH ASSEMBLY ADJOURNS SINE DIE AT MIDNIGHT

Adopt Bill to Guard Public Monies.

Pension Increase Wins

The bill to increase maximum pensions for Chicago teachers from $1,000 to $1,200 a year passed the state senate yesterday and now goes to the governor. Page 3.

The Illinois house recessed at 1:40 a. m. today until 9 a. m., when the remaining bills will be considered.

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 28.—[Special.]—With only 36 hours left before sine die adjournment tomorrow at midnight, both houses of the Illinois legislature moved swiftly today through final passage of several bills which now go to the governor.

In the house there was no debate when the Mayor Kelly sponsored bill providing for a permanent Chicago fair was called up and the measure was carried by a vote of 84 to 6. Likewise when the bill permitting construction of a lake front island airport was brought up the measure was passed, 97 to 2.

Both these bills have been passed by the senate.

Approve Separate Maintenance.

Preceding consideration of the airport bill the house approved, 85 to 27, the Graham separate maintenance bill, which would bring about reforms in the state's marriage laws as advocated by divorce court judges and attorneys.

In the senate 26 bills that had their origin in the house were approved quickly. Principal among these measures was a bill designed to prevent a recurrence of the situation that existed in Cook county prior to the recent ouster of Robert M. Sweitzer, county treasurer, on charges of having failed to turn over to his successor as county clerk more than $400,000 of public funds that had been in his custody.

Provisions of this bill require public officials, except tax collectors, to deposit in the middle of each month with the county treasurer all public monies accruing to their offices during the preceding month. Forms are to be provided so public officials may keep accurate and complete records of all monies handled by them in their official capacities. This measure would prevent public officials from banking and collecting interest on public monies temporarily in their keeping.

Graham Bill Amended.

When the house passed the Graham bill an amendment was added to make the two year separate maintenance provision, after which either party might apply for divorce, applicable only to childless couples. Senator Richard V. Graham [Dem., Cicero], president pro tempore, will ask for concurrence in the amendment tomorrow.

Other provisions of the bill provide that courts may order wives to pay separate maintenance to their husbands. This provision is in line with the law passed two years ago which made the same stipulation as regards alimony.

Mayor Kelly's permanent fair bill met the hardest opposition two days ago when Republicans opposed it vigorously on second reading. It went to third reading by a substantial vote, however, and today Majority Leader Benjamin Adamowski's motion for passage was accepted without debate. The lake front airport bill was without opposition at any time.

Milk Bill Stirs Fight.

A three hour battle occupied most of the time in the house this morning. It raged over a senate amendment to Representative David Hunter's bill prohibiting the sale of "filled" milk in Illinois.

"Filled" milk is manufactured by concerns at Litchfield and Edwardsville and consists of pure milk to which coconut oil has been added.

As passed by the house the bill would have become effective upon its being signed by Gov. Horner. The senate amendment fixed Sept. 1 as the effective date, however, in order to give the companies time to comply with the law.

Sanitary Bill Signed.

Gov. Horner today signed the Chicago sanitary district bill establishing civil service for district employés. The measure was introduced at the request of Ross Woodhull, president of the district.

Samuel E. Weinshenker, legislative attorney for the district, thanked the governor and received the pen with which the bill was signed. He will present it to the 1,500 employés whose jobs were made more secure by its passage.

The Cook county employés' civil service plan is dead. It was passed by the house but ran into a snag in the senate and now is only on first reading. It cannot pass, inasmuch as sine die adjournment is scheduled for early tomorrow evening.

Scholarships Increased.

Members of the house had an opportunity to do what they have wanted a chance to do for several days—increase the number of their annual scholarships at the University of Illinois from one to three.

In vain some of the conservative members like F. W. Lewis [Dem., Robinson] pleaded for defeat of the Boeke Mundy senate bill on the grounds that it was "cheap chiseling." Others recalled that President Arthur Cutts Willard told the education committee that the university would have to have an extra $200,000 appropriation to care for the 204 additional "free" students the bill would authorize.

But the growing sentiment noted within the last few days welled the major proportions and the measure passed, 90 to 18.

Low Cost Hospital Care.

A hospital service plan is set out in another house bill approved today by the senate. This measure provides for the incorporation of nonprofit hospital service corporations under the state director of insurance. The corporations would contract with hospitals for the care of subscribers to the service plan, which is intended to make hospitalization available at low rates.

By a vote of 32 to 6, the upper chamber agreed to creation of an Illinois armory board, which would have powers to purchase lands and buildings for armories and issue bonds for that purpose.

The board would consist of five members appointed by the governor. It would lease the armories to the state and after the armories were paid for they could be donated to the state. A companion bill, also approved, would authorize cities to construct armories and sell or lease them to the state.

Registration Date Earlier.

A change from five to six weeks in the time elapsing between the day of first registration and an election was passed also. A companion bill provides for the filing of sworn applications of registration by voters who expect to be absent or unable to get to the polls on the second day of registration.

By a vote of 20 to 15, the senate rejected the proposal for the appointment of a commission of five senators and five representatives to study the proposed revision of the state criminal code.

NEW RETIREMENT BILL AFFECTS 177 CHICAGO POLICE

Legislation at Springfield to compel the retirement of city employés over the age of 63 will affect 177 members of the Chicago police department, Commissioner James P. Allman said yesterday. These members of the force will be retired on pensions of half pay for life on Dec. 31 if Gov. Horner signs the bill which has been passed by the general assembly.

Twenty-one police captains, fifteen lieutenants, forty sergeants, two matrons, two policewomen, a surgeon, and ninety-six patrolmen are beyond the age limit provided in the bill. Commissioner Allman, who is 65 years old, and three other captains, above 63, who are performing higher duties in the department, apparently are exempted from forced retirement under another bill going to the governor for signature. This bill, which would become effective July 1, temporarily removes from civil service any officer above the rank of captain.

The three captains in addition to Allman are Ira J. McDowell and Thomas C. Wolfe, both 63, who are supervising captains, and John Alcock, deputy commissioner, who is 65. Among the captains who would be effected by the age limit bill are John E. Ptacek, 74 years old, and Patrick J. Harding and Martin J. O'Malley, both 71 years old.

Alimony $7,110 in Arrears, Organist Sentenced to Jail

Superior Judge Desort yesterday ordered that Herman Grueneberg, 50 years old, 2326 Lincoln Park West, an organist, be committed to the county jail for six months for being $7,110 in arrears in alimony and support money to his former wife, Mrs. Grace Hinton Grueneberg, 5948 Winthrop avenue, and their two daughters. The Gruenebergs were divorced Dec. 22, 1922.

HORNER FORCES FIGHT AUTO TAG FEE REDUCTION

House Refuses to Pass Senate Proposal.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 28.—[Special.]—A steam roller as agile as a motorcycle struck the automobile license fee reduction proposal tonight. It was a serious threat against the success of Mayor Kelly's attempt to save the motorists of Illinois from $8,400,000 to $4,200,000 in the purchase of their 1936 plates.

The house, in a move so quickly executed that it caught tax cut proponents flatfooted, refused to concur in the senate amendment attached to house bill 392, containing revised registration fee rates from 20 to 25 per cent lower than the present schedule.

Horner Forces Prevail.

As the bill was called before the house for concurrence, Representative A. B. Lager [Dem., Carlye], Gov. Horner's wheel horse in the house roads and bridges committee, shouted a motion to nonconcur. As if prearranged, a group of other Horner followers shouted with Lager and Speaker John P. Devine [Dem., Dixon] pounded his gavel and announced that the motion was carried.

The action, whether by coincidence or design, took place just as the senate adjourned until tomorrow morning. This postponed until tomorrow, the final day of the 59th general assembly, the senate's receiving the report of the nonconcurrence.

May Force Compromise.

The next step is for the senate to vote on whether it will withdraw or modify its tax reduction amendment. If the upper chamber refuses to recede, a conference committee of three to five members of each house will be appointed by the lieutenant governor and by the speaker. There have been reports that Horner and Secretary of State Hughes have agreed to a compromise at a 10 per cent cut.

Delays such as might reasonably be anticipated will be fatal to the measure. After midnight tomorrow, if the amendment fails to carry in both houses, motorists will continue for at least another two years to pay for license plates at rates that have not been lowered since the deflation of the 1929 boom.

Late tonight the house called the administration proposed new traffic code from third to second reading to strike the 45 mile an hour prima facie maximum speed limit. This amendment is in conformity with a separate bill repealing the speed provision that has passed both houses.

Last Day to Act.

The proposed traffic code, containing many other reforms in the regulations for motor car operation, must pass both branches of the general assembly tomorrow to be enacted into law.

Also late tonight, the representatives voted final passage to a series of bills providing for a $4,500,000 program for the construction of low cost secondary roads with federal "easy money" and labor from the relief rolls. The state highway department has been allotted $19,000,000, consisting of $10,000,000 for grade separations and $9,000,000 for roads, expenditures to be apportioned among the counties in relation to their relief loads.

This series of five bills provides that, unless otherwise directed by the federal relief commission, at least 50 per cent of the $9,000,000 road money should be apportioned among counties [after the relief load has been considered] half in relation to mileage of roads in the counties and half in relation to mileage of unimproved roads.

May Use Gas Tax.

One of the bills provides that counties may use their 1 cent share of the gasoline tax money to purchase materials, tools, and equipment for construction to supplement the "easy money" for wages so that the road building will meet federal requirements for a maximum unemployment relief.

Another bill provides that in counties of less than 500,000 population, not less than 50 per cent of all work relief money should be spent for roads. It further sets up that any physically able man on the charity rolls who refuses such work should be denied further charity.

The senate today gave final passage to a bill amending the motor vehicle laws to require all cars and trucks to be equipped with adequate mufflers in constant operation. The present regulation merely prohibits the use of a cutout that can be operated from within the vehicle. It has been ineffectual in quieting the unnecessary noises of motor transportation.

To Attend Inaugural

Ira H. Latimer, radio news commentator, will leave for Minneapolis today to be at the side of his newly found father, Thomas E. Latimer, when the latter is inaugurated as mayor of Minneapolis on Monday.

Ira Latimer, who lives at 5742 Stony Island avenue, will be accompanied by his wife and their son, Ivon Henri, 2 year olds.

He established his relationship with the Minneapolis mayor elect last week, presenting proof that he was the son of Thomas Latimer and May Helser Latimer of Hilliard, O., whom the elder Latimer married in 1905 and from whom he was separated after three months of married life. The father had been informed that the child of this marriage had died.

MORRO CASTLE HULK IS SWEPT BY FLAMES FOR SECOND TIME

Baltimore, Md., June 28.—(AP)—The hulk of the steamship Morro Castle, swept by flames which took more than 130 lives off the New Jersey coast last September, caught fire a second time today in the shipyards where it is being scrapped.

A fireboat and three land companies were rushed to the yards of the Union Shipbuilding company here to battle flames which threatened property in the shipyard for a brief interval before they were brought under control.

It was said the fire started when bilge oil in the hulk of the ship became ignited. Little on board the ruin of the 4 million dollar former pride of the Ward steamship line remained to be damaged as a result of the disastrous fire which brought the vessel's career as a luxury liner to an end when it was beached on the Jersey coast.

NORMANDIE LAID UP IN EFFORT TO REMEDY DEFECT

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, June 28.—The giant French liner Normandie went into dry dock at Havre today to have its propellers changed in an effort to eliminate vibration. The original three bladed propellers largely accounted for the steamer's extraordinary speed, but the French line now believes that while four bladed propellers might reduce that speed slightly, they will make for much smoother going.

Everything has been prepared for a swift change. Four new propellers are already in the exact places where they can swiftly be mounted. The Normandie is scheduled to sail again for New York on July 3.

During its week in dry dock, the giant vessel will also have certain reinforcements made astern, where most of the vibration took place.

EX-CONVICT WEDS GIRL HE KEPT IN A CAVE FOR 12 DAYS

Mount Kisco, N. Y., June 28.—[Special.]—Silas Hiatt, war veteran, sentenced to Sing Sing for keeping Dorothy Sands, then 17 years old in a cave for 12 days in 1933, and returned to prison for three months early this year for violating his parole by coming here to see her, admitted today he had married Dorothy Wednesday. He said he and Mrs. Hiatt were living here with his mother-in-law, Mrs. Mabel Sands, whose complaint brought his return to prison.

Hiatt was freed two weeks ago. On Wednesday he and Dorothy obtained a marriage license from the Newcastle town clerk and went to a justice of the peace, who said he could not perform the ceremony because the girl was under 21. They sought the services of an Episcopal clergyman who said their announcement of intention to be married must be published three days. Then they went to the Rev. C. Lloyd Lee, pastor of the Mount Kisco Methodist Episcopal church, who performed the wedding service.

"Even if I'd known their story I'd have married them," Mr. Lee said today. "If every girl who is abducted by a man when she's only 17 and who sends a man to prison, married him after he comes out, there wouldn't be much to kick about, would there?"

HUNT ACQUITTED KILLER, WOMAN IN DETROIT CRIME

had used a half dozen aliases. He said the man is wanted in Oakland county, Mich., on petty theft charges. He described Ferris as about 35 years old, 5 feet 6 inches tall, and slightly built.

Dickinson's movements have been checked by police up to 9 p. m. Wednesday night. At that time the attorney finished a hurried dinner at his hotel and left with a light topcoat on his arm. It was said he hurried through his meal, pressing his waiter for speed, giving the appearance of a man who feared he would be late for an appointment.

In Bar at 1 A. M.

Although police questioned the identification, Carl C. Oglesbee, Dearborn councilman and restaurant proprietor, said Dickinson had ordered drinks at his bar about 1 a. m. Thursday. Oglesbee and his bartender, Richard Watson, identified the attorney's body as that of the man who entered the bar with two companions.

Oglesbee said Dickinson paid for the drinks, taking a bill from a large roll. He said the three men left as soon as they had finished their drinks.

A cashier at the restaurant, Margaret Reuter, 26, said she noticed the man identified as Dickinson because of his mustache. Dickinson had a closely cropped mustache. Miss Reuter said she also saw him take a large roll of bills from his pocket, but she did not recall whether he carried a brief case or top coat.

Police have not found either Dickinson's top coat or his hat. His suit coat was found two miles from the park where his body had been dumped on a roadside. The coat, with his hotel key still in a pocket, was pierced by a bullet hole which corresponded with the wound in the attorney's chest.

The hole in the coat indicated the garment had been taken off the victim after he had been slain.

Springfield, Ill., June 28.—[Special.]—In yesterday's issue of THE TRIBUNE it was stated that State Representative Robert Petrone of Chicago, was an incorporator of the Chicago handbook operators and owners association which was incorporated in Springfield Thursday. Representative Petrone denied that he was connected with the organization and his name does not appear in the records.

An item Wednesday said that Miss Helen Mackenzie would conduct gallery tours of the Art Institute at 2 o'clock every Monday afternoon. The tours are to be held at 3 p. m. on Sundays.

DYNAMITE BOMB WRECKS BUILDING AND PERILS LIVES

A powerful dynamite bomb, exploded in front of a two story brick apartment house at 8251 South Sangamon street, literally tore the front out of the first story, broke windows throughout the neighborhood, and endangered three men asleep inside early today. The damage was estimated at $3,000.

The building is owned by three brothers, Taxe, Peter, and Nick Pantopulos. The first two and their nephew, Harry Gainoulis, 30 years old, were in bedrooms in the first floor apartment at the time of the blast. All were hurled from their beds and showered with falling plaster, but escaped unhurt.

The second floor is occupied by Albert Gaus, his wife, son, and daughter. Gaus was at work and the other members of the family were out for the evening when the bomb exploded. The Pantopulos brothers told police they knew of no reason for the attack.

Within a few minutes Gresham police had another call of a bombing, this time in the rear of a liquor store at 7855 South Halsted street, said to be owned by an Owen Ahern. Windows in the neighborhood were broken, and Mrs. Mary Conlan, 74 years old, asleep in an adjoining building at 7847 South Halsted street, suffered several cuts when she was thrown from her bed by the force of the blast. The damage caused by the second bomb was estimated at $500.

BOY'S BODY RECOVERED.

'DAY'S REST IN SEVEN' BILL PASSED, 92-10; GOES TO GOVERNOR

Springfield, Ill., June 28.—(AP)—Labor forces tonight won their second major legislative victory of the session tonight when the house passed and sent to Gov. Horner the "one day rest in seven" Huckin bill, 92 to 10.

The bill, introduced by Senator Frank Huckin, Chicago Democrat, provides for one day rest in seven for employés, with certain exceptions in cases of employés whose duties on Sunday do not require more than three hours' work. An additional exemption is made for persons employed by small plants and factories where not more than seven persons are employed but, due to the nature of their work, Sunday labor is necessary.

The measure does not specify Sunday as the day of rest, merely providing one day of rest in seven.

Labor forces previously had obtained passage of the measure extending the minimum wage law for women and children indefinitly.

Mrs. Farnum was found in Garlitz's room on May 17 with a broken jaw. Garlitz was not there. Mrs. Farnum died without revealing what had happened.

SEIZE SUSPECTS IN SHOOTING AND TAVERN HOLDUP

Four men, said by Lieut. Thomas Kelly of the state's attorney's police to have been involved in the shooting of a policeman during an attempted holdup and the robberies of persons whom they followed from banks, were in custody at the Lawndale station last night.

They are Irving Cohen, 26 years old, 2001 Fullerton avenue; Louis Havel, 27 years old, Cicero; August Delise, 25 years old, Cicero, and John Pawlowski, 31 years old, Cicero. They were arrested at 24th street and Clifton Park avenue by Policemen Dennis Mahoney and Harry Miller.

Lieut. Kelly declared they were wanted in connection with the shooting of Policeman Henry Schmidt on June 24. Schmidt was shot by one of four gunmen who attempted to rob John C. Mousteiko, tavern owner whom Schmidt had accompanied from a bank after Mousteiko made a large withdrawal.

Lieut. Kelly also said the two had been identified in two holdups, in which they secured $800 and $400.

CITY TEACHERS' PENSIONS PUT AT $1,700 MAXIMUM

State Senate Sends Bill to Governor.

The Illinois state senate yesterday approved a bill which, if it becomes law, will increase the maximum pensions of retired Chicago school teachers to $1,200 a year. The present maximum is $1,000. Already passed by the house, the legislation now goes to Gov. Horner for his signature.

This measure had the approval of the Chicago board of education, the pension board, and Teachers' organizations. It is the third bit of legislation passed at the present session to readjust the conditions of teacher retirement and the amount of compensation to be drawn by those retired.

Age for Retirement Lowered.

The other two acts, in the form of amendments to existing laws, [1] cut the compulsory age for retirement from 70 to 65 years and [2] reduce the teachers' retirement pay, separate from the pension proper, from $1,500 to $500 a year. These amendments were opposed by the teachers.

In practical effect the new laws taken as a whole will reduce the total maximum compensation possible for a retired teacher from $2,500 to $1,700—$1,200 from the pension fund and an additional $500 from the retirement fund, which is paid from the general educational fund of the school board.

There is a clear differentiation between the two types of compensation. The pension fund is raised partly by contributions of the working teachers and partly by direct taxation. The retirement annuity is taken from funds of the board that would otherwise be available for direct expenditure for school operation.

Teachers to Pay More.

Specifically, the law passed yesterday provides that retired teachers who have served 25 years shall receive $800 annually from the pension fund; those with 30 years' service, $1,000 a year, and those with 35 years or more service, $1,200. Teachers who are now paying $4.50 a month to the fund, if they have taught less than 12 years, and $10 a month if they have taught more than 12 years, must increase their contributions to $5 and $12, respectively.

The tax levy for the pension fund, which was four-tenths of a mill until 1933, and since then five-tenths of a mill, will remain at the latter rate in 1935, but will be increased to eight-tenths of a mill in 1936.

A number of retired teachers are now drawing the maximum income, and it is expected they will resist the cut to $1,700. There is some legal doubt whether the reduction can be made to apply retroactively to them.

Fund Put on Firm Basis.

The school board, however, takes the position that the retirement annuity, established in 1926, was in the nature of a gift, was not a pension, and that there has never been any obligation to hold it at a stated rate. It was pointed out by James B. McCahey, president of the school board, that under the system now in vogue a teachers' pension and retirement annuity together [at $2,500] might be more than the salary of many teachers now working in the schools.

Frank S. Righeimer, attorney for the board, said last night that the new legislation was designed to put the pension fund, for the first time, on a firm basis.

The retirement annuity expenditures, he said, have been growing fast.

"In 1926," he said, "only $12,000 was paid in this form to retired teachers. This year the sum was $1,200,000, equivalent to a week's pay for all employés of the school system."

Mr. McCahey estimated that the reduction of the maximum payable under the retirement annuity would make at least $600,000 annually available for operating expenses.

Seize Suspect in Beating of Girl in Evanston Home

John Pitt, colored, 28 years old, was arrested in the loop yesterday and is being held at the detective bureau as a suspect in the beating by a burglar of Miss Helen Ellis, maid in the home of Dean Ralph Heilman of the Northwestern university school of commerce. The attack occurred on June 21 in the Heilman home at 731 Clinton place, Evanston, and Miss Ellis is still in a serious condition. At the time he was seized Pitt was carrying property that was taken in a burglary of another Evanston home several days ago. He is a paroled convict.

Avoids $2,000 Fine; Appeal Unlikely.

Dave [Long Count] Barry, known principally as a boxing referee, was sentenced to serve one year in the county jail yesterday by Judge Michael Feinberg in the Criminal court. Barry was found guilty by a jury a week ago of conspiracy to embezzle $54,473 from the Amalgamated Trust and Savings bank, 111 West Jackson boulevard.

At that time a co-defendant, Abraham Karatz, former St. Paul attorney, was sentenced to serve one to five years in the penitentiary and fined $2,000. The jurors decreed the maximum punishment for Karatz, but recommended leniency for Barry. The maximum penalty possible for Barry under the jury verdict was the year jail sentence and a fine of $2,000. The fine was not imposed by Judge Feinberg.

Exposure Balks Insurance Plot.

The state charged that Barry, Karatz, and Joseph Baiata, ex-convict and former banker, had planned to use the money taken from the bank to acquire the Abraham Lincoln Life Insurance company of Springfield, Ill. This plot was balked by exposure of the $54,473 theft from the bank. Baiata pleaded guilty and is serving a penitentiary sentence of one to ten years.

When Barry went before the judge yesterday, Roland V. Libonati, defense attorney, pleaded for a small fine for his client on the ground that Barry's reputation "had always been good."

Assistant State's Attorney Thomas Dodd Healy argued that Barry "had received too much consideration from the jury," and asked that the maximum penalty be imposed.

"Barry let his name be used so that others might violate the law," Judge Feinberg said in imposing sentence. "When a man lends his name to an ex-convict and a discredited lawyer, he should be punished."

Chance of Appeal Discounted.

Barry was given until July 12 to perfect an appeal and was allowed his liberty on bond until that time. Attorney Libonati said, however, that lack of funds likely would prevent the case from going to a higher court.

The conviction of Barry and Karatz was based largely on confession and testimony of Otto Van Derck, clerk in the bank, who aided Baiata, Barry, and Karatz in passing worthless checks.

Still pending against Barry is a second indictment charging conspiracy to defraud the life insurance company of $25,000 and intent to loot its assets by taking control with a small down payment of money embezzled from the bank. Following disposition of the embezzlement charge Judge Feinberg ordered Barry to prepare to stand trial on this charge on July 15. Karatz also was named in this indictment.

Over 98 per cent of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

DOCTOR'S AUTO IN CRASH; OTHER DRIVER INJURED

Leo Davis, 30 years old, 4585 Elston avenue, suffered a possible fracture of the skull yesterday when the automobile in which he was riding collided with a car driven by Dr. Hazel Griffith, 39 years old, 6427 Kimbark avenue, at 63d street and Princeton avenue. Dr. Griffith, who escaped with minor bruises, was not held.

Miss Bernice O'Neill, 24 years old, 6448 South Troy street, was critically injured yesterday when the car in which she was riding crashed into a steel trolley pole in North avenue, near Western avenue. The others in the car, who suffered minor injuries, are Miss Edna Becker, 24 years old, 6353 South Troy street; Earl Carter, 31 years old, 1207 Leland avenue, a corporal in the 124th field artillery of the National Guard, and Benjamin McKay, 31 years old, 6147 Drexel avenue, a private in the same organization. Police are seeking Carter, who left the scene.

Joseph Fiala, 62 years old, 5740 West 23d street, Cicero, was on his first night as watchman at a sewage construction in front of 6152 Ogden avenue, Cicero. He was standing behind a wooden barricade there when the automobile of Clarence Boivin, 27 years old, of Congress Park, crashed into the barricade. Fiala was instantly killed.

Fiala's death brought the Cook county motor toll for 1935 to 443. Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 355 persons had been killed in motor accidents in the city limits since the first of the year, and 7,606 had been injured.

1,500 Cheer After Hour's High Speed Race.

Albert Tangora of New York City entirely unflustered by the presence of a tense crowd of 1,500 onlookers, sat down at a typewriter in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Sherman last night and won the 1935 title of champion typist of the world.

Tangora, who was also world champion in 1923, 1924, 1925, and 1928, typed for a solid hour at a speed of 128 words a minute. He was three words a minute ahead of Cortez W. Peters, colored, of Washington, D. C., a long shot who never won a big championship.

Third at the finish was George L. Hossfield, a New Jersey product who was held in the morning line as the principal rival of Tangora. Hossfield had the titular crown in 1918, 1920, 1921, 1922, 1926, 1929, and also in 1930, the last time it was awarded. His score was 124.

Chicagoan Last of Field.

Barney Stapert of New York was fourth with 123; Chester Soucek, a Pennsylvanian, took fifth with 117, and Miss Irma Wright of Toronto, Ont., the sole feminine contestant, finished sixth with 115. The real disappointment of the key tapping classic was Norman Saksvig, Chicagoan who works regularly with the HOLC organization. Saksvig, who had rehersed at high speed for only three weeks and hadn't dieted at all, finished up with a snappy 43 words a minute.

The contest was held by the International Commercial Schools association and the results were carefully examined by expert referees. They followed the traditions of the prize ring by giving one disputed decision. They first announced that Hossfield had beaten out Peters, but reversed themselves on closer study.

Because of the density of the crowd and the heat of the room it was found necessary to rope off the contestants' space and to station brawny guards to prevent admirers of the typists from rushing up to shake hands. All present were urged not to cheer while the race was in progress.

Variety of Blinker Styles.

The typeteers were then handed their copy. It was a piece of fiction entitled "Sob Sister," dealing with a girl reporter interviewing notables. Adjusting their eye shades, the contestants advanced to their seats. Tangora, it was noted by the fans, wore a special kind of blinkers. Peters also had a distinctive eyeshade that singled him out from the other battlers.

A tremendous clatter of the machines began when the opening gong sounded. It was rung at fifteen minute intervals and at the end of the hour a great cheer broke out in the crowd, which had heeded the adjuration to be silent till then.

Tangora, perspiring through his white shirt, staggered to his feet and wobbled a little. Peters seemed still full of endurance and Saksvig appeared ready to go another 43 words a minute if necessary for another hour.

Tangora received a large cup symbolic of his victory.

Twenty-four schools were given cups by the association for general excellence. The high four were Austin High school and the Gregg college of Chicago and the John Hay High school and Wilcox college of Cleveland.

Peoria, Ill., June 28.—[Special.]—Activities of more than 100 friends of Gerald Thompson, 25, charged with the rape-slaying of Mildred Hallmark, 19, are being checked by officials here, Acting Police Chief Fred Nussbaum said today.

"Thompson's diary and other papers show he was only one of a gang responsible for attacks on girls and women during the last two years," said Nussbaum. "Arrests of several of his associates are likely."

Two Chicago attorneys, Edward S. Herdlicka and Frank Sharp, were refused permission to interview Thompson in jail by Circuit Judge Henry J. Ingram, who said he was not convinced they had been "retained by anybody."

DENY NEW TRIAL FOR CAB DRIVER GUILTY IN KILLING

Theodore Prade, 36 years old, a cab driver, was denied a new trial and sentenced to 14 years in the penitentiary yesterday by Judge E. I. Frankhauser in the Criminal court. Prade was convicted by a jury on May 29 of the murder of Mrs. Ann Solan, 17 years old, an expectant mother.

Prade and Frank Junior, father of Mrs. Solan, quarreled over a cab bill of $11.95 in front of Junior's home at 2556 Iowa street. Prade fired three shots through a window of the home and one bullet fatally wounded Mrs. Solan.

COUNCIL GROUP ACTS TO REMOVE 'L' ON MARKET ST.

Assistant Corporation Counsel Joseph F. Grossman was instructed yesterday by the local transportation committee of the city council to report on the possibility of removing the Market street "stub" structure of the elevated lines. Grossman is expected to inform the committee within two weeks on any legal issues involved.

The "stub," which is on the Lake street elevated route, partly blocks the south entrance to Wacker drive. Only a few trains are operated on it during the morning and evening rush hours and the "stub" is used mostly for the storage of cars.

A jury before Judge John T. Cummings of Kewanee, sitting in Circuit court here, yesterday returned a verdict of $12,000 against William D. Meyering, former sheriff in the assault and defamation suit brought by Mrs. Ora L. Perry, 1340 North Dearborn street. Mrs. Perry alleged that in July, 1931, Sheriff Meyering wrongfully attached her personal goods to satisfy a judgment for $4,168 against her husband, N. I. Perry. The judgment was obtained by Perry's former business partner, W. H. Darlington. Although Darlington was named a co-defendant in Mrs. Perry's suit, the verdict was returned against Meyering alone. A motion for a new trial was continued indefinitely.

COAL RULE BILL HIT AS RUINOUS TO PRODUCERS

Scale Will Boost Prices, House Group Told.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 28.—[Special.]—Coal prices, especially in areas such as the Chicago district, will inevitably rise under the minimum price provisions of the Guffey coal bill, Louis G. Caldwell, counsel for the Northern Illinois Coal corporation, told the house ways and means committee today.

Moreover, the attorney warned, the provisions will result in loss of business and in many cases ruin to the producer, large or small.

He pointed out that the lower transportation costs of producers with mines close to the consuming market area are, under the bill, to be neutralized by imposing minimum prices much higher than their cost so that distant producers can sell at advantage in that market.

Cites Producers' Handicap.

"The nearby producers are to have all or a part of their trade taken from them and handed over to more distant producers," he declared. "The consumers in such areas are to be heavily taxed in order to subsidize those more distant producers, and the industries in such areas are to be handicapped as against industries which are not located in common consuming market areas."

Mr. Caldwell illustrated this point by stating the situation with reference to the Northern Illinois Coal corporation, his client, and its principal market, Chicago. He remarked that the same situation could be reproduced many times throughout the country.

He explained that the freight rate from the corporation's mines at Wilmington, Ill., to Chicago was $1.25 per ton. The freight rate from southern Illinois fields is $2.10 per ton, 85 cents higher. The freight rate from western Pennsylvania to Chicago is $3.24 per ton.

"Consumer Imposed On."

"Suppose the grades of coal produced in all these fields were exactly the same and that the minimum price f. o. b. at the mines were fixed at exactly the same figure, based on a reasonable average cost figure," he stated. "I assume that the consumer would have no serious cause for complaint. His minimum price would be the operator's minimum price, plus transportation charges.

"But if, as the result of this bill, the Chicago consumer has to pay an additional 85 cents for coal from the northern Illinois mines, or any part thereof, to counteract the transportation costs from the other and more distant mines in Illinois, you will readily agree that the consumer is being badly imposed on. And if he has to pay an additional $1.99 to counteract the transportation costs from western Pennsylvania, the imposition assumes enormous proportions."

The lawyer criticized a tendency to picture the proposed system of regulation under the bill as a miniature NRA limited to the bituminous coal industry.

Bill Sets Up License System.

"At least, the assertion is made that this bill goes no further than the NRA code of the same industry," he said. "Nothing could be more inaccurate. Title I. of this bill subjects the entire industry to a drastic license system of regulation, rather thinly veiled over with phraseology borrowed from the federal taxing power.

"Once the bill is passed no one may engage in the bituminous coal mining without filing an acceptance of the code with a newly created federal commission in Washington. This is the prescribed way to obtain a license to engage in the business.

"The alternative of paying 25 per cent tax on the sales price of all coal sold or otherwise disposed of is not an alternative; it is a penalty for engaging in the business without a license.

Numerous Rules Prescribed.

"After the coal producer has obtained his license to carry on his own business by filing an acceptance of the voluntary code, he must obey every provision of the code as well as an undefined lot of rules, regulations, and orders promulgated by this new commission and twenty-two district boards. If he does not, his license is revoked by the typical orthodox commission method in which legislator, prosecutor, and judge are rolled into one, with a minimum of recourse to the courts for protection against arbitrary and capricious action.

"If he is found guilty, his punishment consists in a forced return to his state of original sin and the penalty of this 25 per cent tax; in other words, exile from the coal mining business and loss of his investment—unless some astute lawyer devises a method of evasion, such as inporporation under a new name."

The coal operator, under the bill, would be in even worse circumstances than the New Jersey tailor who was fined under the NRA code for pressing pants for 30 cents instead of 35 cents, Mr. Caldwell told the committee.

"All that happened or could happen to the New Jersey tailor under the code was a comparatively small fine," he pointed out. "The coal operator loses his right to earn his living. What is today, and always has been, a constitutional right to engage in an honorable and useful calling becomes overnight a mere privilege held at the mercy of a commission in Washington and one or more of the twenty-two district boards.

Only Upward Revision.

"What does the bill mean," he asked, "when it directs the district boards to 'coördinate' prices? Obviously, so as to make them higher in one district and lower in another with reference to coal to be sold in a common consuming market such as Chicago. But the bill goes on to provide that the prices may not be revised downward, only upward.

"The only thing that is clear is that these district boards may get together and juggle prices so that a producer or a group of producers in a district will be subjected to higher minimum prices, way above the average cost figure, in order to permit another producer or group of producers in another district to absorb large transportation costs and sell in the same market."

Borah Marks 70th Birthday Today

Health Is Good

Washington, D. C., June 28.—(AP)—Senator William E. Borah, militant Idaho Republican, ended his 70th year today by working at his office and brushing aside reporters who sought to ask him what he planned to do during his 71st year.

Appearing healthier by far than in the past several years, Borah has been right "in his element" this session in telling the senate what the constitution says—a voice strongly heeded since the Supreme court lent it additional weight.

He led a battle in the last week for immediate action on the President's tax program and prepared to begin next week a fight against Secretary Wallace's AAA amendments.

AAA PROCESSING TAXES DECLARED BLOW TO FARMER

Expert Explains Upset of Economic Machine.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Processing taxes under the Agricultural Adjustment administration are injuring the farmer, whom they were supposed to benefit, according to Stanley F. Morse of Sumter county, S. C., a consulting agriculturist.

He is finishing a report to be submitted to the American Liberty league on the AAA program. Mr. Morse was formerly director of agricultural extension of Arizona and is vice president of the Farmers' Independence Council of America. Yesterday in Chicago he summarized some of his findings.

Tend to Cut Consumption.

"The processing taxes on various basic farm products," he said, "tend to reduce consumption of these commodities. Price increases in pork products have caused consumers to turn to cheaper meats, fish, and other less expensive foods.

"A large part of the hog tax and most of the sugar tax is paid by the producers. Under the control program estimates indicate about 500,000 less bales of cotton and 18 million less bushels of wheat a year are consumed.

"Most of the increases in farm prices have been partially offset by higher costs of things the farmer buys.

"Dislocations resulting from various AAA projects are becoming more apparent. The importance of these inevitable economic repercussions cannot be overemphasized.

Upset Plans of Planners.

"They damage the economic machine, bring unexpected losses to the purposed beneficiaries of planning, and compel the planners to try new plans and controls. Some typical cases may be summarized as follows:

"Potato growers in Accomac county, Va., were seriously injured in 1934 by a large crop of potatoes grown on former cotton lands in North Carolina.

"In six states the wheat acreage showed increases, while in three southern states corn was materially increased. On land taken out of corn in five corn belt states soybeans increased 50 per cent over 1932. The resulting soybean meal output increased to 9 per cent of the production of its competitor, cottonseed meal.

"Increasing imports of butter were attracted by higher butter prices. These were caused by mounting prices of feed. This was due to a scarcity of cottonseed meal resulting from AAA cotton control and accentuated by reduced supplies and higher prices of lard [hog reduction] which react to increase the price of cottonseed oil.

Foreign Cotton Gains.

"Price pegging with cotton has stimulated foreign cotton competition, causing a loss of cotton exports and the accumulation of cotton socks.

"Reduced corn production in the United States has led to the heavy importation of corn from Mexico, Argentina, and other countries.

"The result of the southern rice marketing agreement has been the accumulation of 225 million pounds of rice, threatening the growers with a loss which they have asked congress to avert by imposing on rice a processing tax of 1 cent a pound to compensate them for the difference between domestic and world prices. This has passed congress and has been signed by the President.

PRESIDENT PRODS REBELS IN HOUSE ON UTILITIES BILL

Demands 'Death Clause' Be Approved.

Defies Democrats' Challenge.

"Remember," he told the 300 Democratic members seated around him, shaking his finger at them, "remember, it says 'regulate,' not 'destroy.' Those who advocate destruction cannot quarrel with me for my Democracy. No Democrat can find fault with me for standing upon the Democratic platform of 1932.

"Socialists, radicals, whatnots of whatever stripe," he contined, raising his voice significantly, "they have a right to quarrel with me, but no Democrat dare challenge me on that."

"Will you correct the evils of the holding companies, or will you wreak your vengeance upon them?" demanded Huddleston. "Do you come to preserve, to build up, to make perfect that which is imperfect, or do you come in a punitive spirit, intending to punish for the misdeeds of the past? And upon whom would you visit vengeance? Not upon the officials, but upon the people whose only crime is that, as investors, they were too trustful. For what they paid $100, the average price now is $20 to $30. Now they look and see their great government trying to take away from them the last few remaining pennies of what they had invested."

Bill Called Deflationary.

The bill, as passed by the senate in the form desired by the administration, was highly deflationary, Huddleston declared.

"It is now having a bad effect upon business," he asserted. "It halts enterprise. It strikes a blow at confidence. It retards recovery."

Referring to the assertion of Chairman Sam Rayburn [Dem., Tex.] of the interstate commerce committee, that the power companies had deluged congress with propaganda against the bill, Huddleston asserted that government commissioners also had flooded the country with propaganda for it and against the ulities.

"The federal trade commission was directed to make an investigation of the utilities by the senate in 1928," he said. "They set some incapable gentlemen to work digging in. They trumpeted forth only what they found was wrong. I am reliably informed that the commission, during its investigation, issued over 200 newspaper releases in the form of publicity stuff.

"They whipped the country into a rage, formed public opinion especially among those who had the least information. They cause this opinion to reach a fever heat."

TVA PURCHASES SOME JERSEY CATTLE; GETS LAWSUIT THROWN IN

Chattanooga, Tenn., June 28.—[Special.]—Some of the cows that the Tennessee Valley authority bought in its program to improve the deep south got it into a lawsuit today.

Herbert Farrell, operator of the Grieve Hall farms, near Nashville, entered suit in Chancery court here for $2,050 claimed due him from the TVA in a sale of Jersey cows May 14, 1934.

The bill said the TVA bought eight cows for $5,350 that were delivered before payment was received on July 26, 1934. Three of the cows, the bill said, were returned in the dead of night, while Farrell was away, and on Dec. 7, 1934, he was paid $3,300 for the remaining five animals.

His claim is for the balance due, interest, and the cost of keeping the three cows on his farm since their return.

INJUNCTION WAVE ROCKS NEW DEAL PROCESSING TAX

Proposed Amendments Bring Actions.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 28.—[Special.]—Foundations of the New Deal's 500 million dollar processing tax system are slowly being nicked away by a series of injunction proceedings, inquiry disclosed today.

Between 30 and 50 court proceedings which would block the collection of processing taxes are believed to be pending in the courts. A majority of the pleas for injunctions have been filed within the last month and the number is mounting daily.

Collapse Is Threatened.

At least a temporary collapse of the processing tax system may result if the pending actions result in permanent injunctions. If it is unable to collect its processing taxes, the Agricultural Adjustment administration will have to dip into the general government funds in order to pay AAA benefits to farmers.

New Dealers have brought the flood of injunctions on themselves by their proposed amendments to the AAA. Under the amended AAA, if it is held constitutional, packers, millers, bakers, textile mills, tobacco manufacturers, and others who pay processing taxes would be refused the right of going into court to obtain refunds. Therefore, these interests have hastened to file suits before the amendments become effective.

Great Deal at Stake.

Some companies have a great deal at stake. The three big cigaret companies are reported to have paid 20 million dollars in tobacco processing taxes in 1934. The companies will never be able to recover this money even if the Supreme court declares it was collected illegally, according to the proposed AAA amendments. Their only hope is to file claims before the amendments pass and try to make their cases stand up despite the amendments.

How badly the flood of court actions has reacted on collection of processing taxes already, the treasury department claims it is unable to say. Collection reports for June, the month in which at least half of the proceedings were started, will not be received here from field offices until July 10.

No Permanent Writs Yet.

No permanent injunctions have yet been granted. Several temporary injunctions have been issued forbidding the collection of processing taxes until a full hearing of the cases can be had. The actions thus far apply only to the individual litigants and are not of a nature to kill the entire AAA. A show of success in the pending court actions, however, might encourage a general legal revolt against the AAA levies.

To forestall this collapse of their unprecedented tax arrangements, the New Dealers are depending on the AAA amendments which have passed the house and are pending in the senate.

These amendments would withdraw the right of any one who has paid processing taxes to go into court and obtain a refund even though the AAA is held unconstitutional. As to future processing taxes, the amendments lay down such unique and impossible requirements for a refund that one can hardly be obtained.

GUNMEN GET $183 IN GROCERY.

Two masked gunmen invaded a grocery at 725 West 87th street yesterday and robbed the proprietor, Richard B. Liston, of $92, and a customer, Lee Fuller, 6336 Drexel avenue, of $90.

BEGIN WORK ON POWER PROJECT IN MAINE JULY 4

Boston, Mass., June 28.—[Special.]—The detonation of a half ton of dynamite July 4 will mark the $36,000,000 federal Passamaquoddy project in Eastport, Me., on which nearly 7,000 men will be engaged for the next three years to harness the tides of the Bay of Fundy for water power purposes.

President Roosevelt is expected to discharge the explosive by touching a key in the White House. Thousands of persons, including federal and state officials, will throng Eastport on Independence day to take part in the ceremonies incidental to the opening discharge.

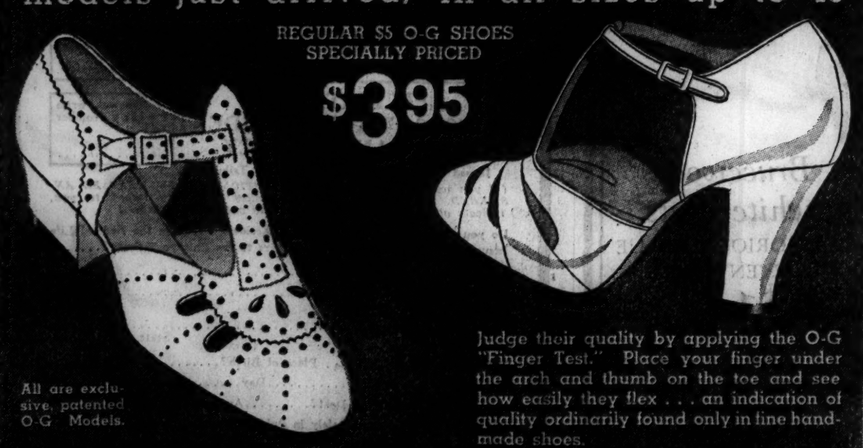

Congressman Ralph O. Brewster of Maine left Boston for Bangor, Me., by airplane today, accompanied by Maj. Philip B. Fleming, war department engineer, who will have charge of the project, with Dexter Cooper, engineer, who designed it.

PRESIDENT SAYS GOLD MESSAGE MAY BE HIS LAST

Only New Business Will Change Plan.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 28.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt today said he has completed his recommendations for new legislation for this session of congress barring unforeseen emergencies.

His message of yesterday asking congress to ban gold payment suits is to be his last unless new business comes up. He added that he may send clarifying messages on pending matters although he does not have any in mind.

The President said that he did not want his statement headlined as "President announces he will have no more messages," because something might come up which would necessitate a message. Then, he added, some friendly editor might complain he had not kept his word.

Relates to NRA Status.

Mr. Roosevelt said his pronouncement related to reviving government regimentation of industry by revamping the NRA. This program, he asserted, is still in the study stage and no definite program has been evolved to circumvent the Supreme court decision outlawing the Blue Eagle.

Earlier in the day William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, offered a plan to preserve NRA principles at a White House conference. Green was accompanied by Maj. George L. Berry of the NRA.

Under the terms of the Green proposal a federal commission would be established to license corporations, which would be forced to meet certain requirements, including abolition of child labor, fixing hours, and setting fair trade practices. If a corporation should fail to comply with the regulations the commission could revoke its license.

"The federation is working upon a licensing plan which would embody the principle in the child labor case which was beaten in the Supreme court by a 5 to 4 decision. We believe that if the matter were put up to the court again it would reverse itself.

Want Action Soon.

"We discussed with the President action at the present session of congress. We expressed the belief that the needs of the country are such that our proposal should be enacted as soon as possible."

During the day the President signed the joint resolution continuing the nuisances taxes, which impose an annual burden of 500 million dollars a year on taxpayers, for two years. He also signed the federal deposit insurance bill continuing the present basis of bank deposit insurance. The FDIC bill is a 60 day extension of the present act.

SENTENCED IN GAS FRAUD.

Found guilty of tapping a gas supply line and thus defrauding the gas company, Vito Stefanelli, 56 years old, 2339 Taylor street, was sentenced by Judge Thomas A. Green yesterday to three months in the Bridewell.

DELAYS DECISION ON OWNERSHIP OF KIDNAPERS' AUTO

Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan yesterday continued until Monday a hearing to decide who is the owner of an automobile seized by federal agents after Russell Gibson, suspected kidnaper, was shot to death on Jan. 8 when he resisted arrest in an apartment at 3922 Pine Grove avenue. Mrs. Clara Gibson, widow of the slain hoodlum, and Mrs. Veva Bolton, wife of Byron Bolton, an associate of Gibson, both claimed the automobile.

Bolton is now in St. Paul awaiting sentence on a plea of guilty in the kidnaping of Edward G. Bremer, wealthy St. Paul banker, the crime for which Gibson was sought.

Agents of the division of investigation of the department of justice were granted the right to use the car until the ownership is determined.

Attorney James M. Burke's Wife Files Separation Suit

James M. Burke, lawyer with offices at 111 West Washington street, was sued for separate maintenance in the Circuit court yesterday by Mrs. Ellen Burke, 7543 Lafayette avenue, whom he married in 1917. The wife's bill alleges that he deserted her last May 18, despite the fact that she "helped him build his reputation and business, indulging all his whims, and has concealed his shortcomings from the world." She also charges infidelity and several acts of physical cruelty.

BURGESS FIGHTS CLUB'S PLEA FOR GAMBLING VETO

Calls Union League Stand Contrary to Facts.

Prof. Ernest W. Burgess, head of the sociology department at the University of Chicago, who recently urged Gov. Horner to sign the bill legalizing handbooks in Chicago, yesterday made public a letter to the public affairs committee of the Union League club, which has urged a veto of the bill. His letter referred to three "misstatements of facts" in the committee's appeal to the governor, and urged that it reconsider its action.

Attorney Max Murdock, chairman of the committee, acknowledged receipt of the letter, which referred to past occasions in which Prof. Burgess had coöperated with the committee on other projects. Attorney Murdock said that the committee had considered its action fully before addressing the governor, and will not change its stand.

Specific Differences Cited.

The corrections which Prof. Burgess offered to the club committee's statements were as follows:

"1. Gambling 'from time immemorial has been considered anti-social and contrary to the public interest.' This is not true. The Puritan in England was the first to regard it as immoral only 300 years ago. The Puritans settled New England and to a less extent the south, and put their stamp of disapproval on gambling. Today the United States is the only large country of western civilization which does not permit gambling on a large scale.

Enforcement Only Spotted.

"2. 'The public officials have demonstrated from time to time that handbooks can be stopped.' This is absolutely untrue. In no large American city has gambling been suppressed for any long period of time. In Chicago during the last 30 years, many so-called 'lids' have been put on gambling in Chicago and Cook county. Mayor Dever kept down gambling in Chicago while he was mayor, but in Cicero and other county towns gambling was run wide open with little attempt at concealment. Soe Landesco's study of organized crime in Chicago published as part of the Illinois Crime Survey.

"3. 'If this bill becomes a law, it will surely mean the opening of many additional places.' It is estimated that there are now 1,500 to 1,600 handbook establishments in Chicago. In addition there are 10,000 to 12,000 small places where bets on horses can be made, or agents who visit hotels and other places to take bets from residents and guests.

Foresees Check on Crime.

"The number of gambling places and agents cannot help but be greatly reduced under licensing. In my judgment, the amount of gambling will be greatly reduced. It will no longer have the attraction of forbidden fruit. The legalizing of gambling will be a knockout blow to organized crime. The United States is the only large country in the world that does not permit gambling on a large scale. It is also the only country in the world that suffers from the invisible government of organized crime."

SWANSON BIDS NAVY TO INCREASE ENLISTED STRENGTH TO 93,000

Washington, D. C., June 28.—(AP)—Moving to increase navy enlisted strength to the 93,000 authorized by the 460 million dollar appropriation bill for next year Secretary Swanson today ordered enlistments resumed on July 1 at the rate of 1,500 monthly. The present enlisted strength is 82,500.

Secretary Swanson estimated the average number of recruits sent to the training station at Great Lakes, Ill., would be 200 per month. Closed for two years because of reduced appropriations, the station will be reopened July 1. It will take part of the overflow from the stations at Norfolk, Va., and San Diego, Cal., but men wishing special training will be transferred to Norfolk.

FISH TO DESTROY MOSQUITO EGGS URGED FOR POOLS

Owners of garden pools were urged yesterday to stock them with fish to clear the water of mosquito larvæ by J. Lyell Clarke, sanitary engineer of the Des Plaines valley mosquito abatement district.

"The value of fish in a garden pool may be illustrated by an experience of last week," Clarke said. "An average sized pool in Riverside was found to contain several thousand mosquito larvæ. Fifteen goldfish were put in the pool and cleaned it of larvæ in twenty-four hours."

Property owners also were urged to store extra garbage and ash cans not in regular use and not to allow rain water collected in tubs to remain outside more than a day or two.

UNIONS WARNED BY GRAND JURY TO END VIOLENCE

State Control Hinted in Report on Sluggings.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Frank R. Braune and Maurice L. Dale, manslaughter, sentenced to 1 to 14 years each in the penitentiary by Judge Harry B. Miller.

Dave Barry, conspiracy, sentenced to 1 year in the county jail by Judge Michael Feinberg.

George Warfield, manslaughter, sentenced to 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary; Charles Peterson, manslaughter, sentenced to 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary by Judge Cornelius Harrington.

The June grand jury in its final report yesterday denounced the slugging by union men of an Oak Park florist on June 12 and deplored the circumstances surrounding the outrage.

The jurors, headed by John G. Bremner, biscuit manufacturer, censured Chicago policemen for interfering in the Oak Park case, advised the unions to purge their ranks of undesirables, and recommended state supervision of unions if local control proves ineffective.

Just before Chief Justice Denis E. Sullivan of the Criminal court discharged the jury as a matter of court routine, the jurors submitted their regular report. This showed that the jury had returned 122 indictments and had voted 37 no bills.

Reads Secret Report.

Then Bremner drew from an inside coat pocket a special report and read it to Judge Sullivan. It appeared that the grand jurors had secretly prepared the special report and had not consulted with any court or county officials before making it public. The jurors were the same ones who on June 18 voted an indictment charging Robert M. Sweitzer with withholding funds from his successor as county clerk before the prosecutors had finished presenting their evidence.

Here is the text of the special report:

"Whereas, there was presented to this grand jury the case of a slugging in Oak Park.

"Whereas, investigations resulting from evidence submitted in this case have revealed certain undesirable conditions among several labor organizations.

Charge Breach of Trust.

"We, the grand jury, hereby present our findings:

"First, that there is decided disapproval of the breach of instructions committed by the police officers of the city of Chicago in this case, and it is urged that the police department take proper steps to prevent similar incidents.

"Second, that the police officers of the village of Oak Park are commended for the expeditious arrest in connection with this slugging.

"Third, that the practice of protecting union agents or officers without taking into account their character or activities is condemned.

"Fourth, that the exploitation of police protection by union agents for furthering their interests, or intimidating prospective members or business men is not countenanced.

"Fifth, that all unions should take immediate steps to rid their organizations of officials and agents who in carrying out their duties are intent upon slugging, bombing, or any other outrages against law and order.

"Sixth, that there has been promised harmonious coöperation between the state's attorney's office, the city of Chicago, and the officials of surrounding suburbs for the elimination of these practices by the apprehension of and the swift and thorough prosecution of those committing such violations.

Advocate State Control.

"Seventh, that finally, should there be a continuance of sluggings, bombings, etc., attributable to the activities of labor organizations, it is recommended that the legislature of the state of Illinois take such action as is necessary to bring all such organizations under state jurisdiction and control."

The Oak Park florist who was the victim of the slugging that aroused the grand jurors is Peter Javaras. He and Gus Poulos operate a small cash and carry flower business at Javaras' home, 1145 North Harlem avenue, Oak Park. Javaras was slugged for refusing to join the Florist Drivers' union and later that same day, June 12, his partner, Poulos, was beaten.

The case against Poulos' assailants has not yet reached the grand jury stage, but Fred Bohlman and Larry Monahan, business agents of the Excavating and Asphalt Teamsters' union, are under indictment for slugging Javaras. Their trial is set for July 15 before Judge Cornelius J. Harrington of the Criminal court. Two officials of the Florists Drivers' union will appear in the Oak Park police court next Tuesday on the charge of beating Poulos.

Slugged Downtown in Suburb.

Javaras was slugged as he was driving in downtown Oak Park. Soon afterward five pickets were arrested at Javaras' home. As Oak Park police were taking the prisoners to the station, they charged, Sergt. Andrew Carroll and Policemen William McCullough and Norman Sims of the Chicago labor detail, who have said they were guarding Bohlman and Monahan from enemies, demanded the prisoners' release. The Oak Park policemen refused and took the prisoners to the station, where they were released.

Capt. Daniel Gilbert, head of the Chicago uniformed police, investigated the interference charges and recommended that the Chicago policemen be not punished.

Citizens of Oak Park, headed by their village president, James A. Howe, rose in indignation over the slugging and demanded a full investigation. It was largely at Howe's insistence that the grand jury went thoroughly into the affair.

RUSH INDICTMENT OF 12 SLUGGERS IN UNION ATTACK

Press Hunt for Gang; Jury Action Tuesday.

Chief Pilot said he had definitly established that the motive for the beating of Lid was the employment of Frank Sleichert, 2610 South Homan avenue, as a plasterer on a $50 plastering contract. The plastering work had been completed and the two plasterers were preparing to depart when the twelve union sluggers forced their way into the Lid home.

Does Own Hiring for Job.

The work under way was to add a second story to Lid's one floor frame residence, the upper floor, when completed, to be occupied by Lid's son, Jerry; his wife, Mae, and their twin 2 year old daughters. Lid did not engage a contractor to handle the job, having hired the workmen himself. The cost of the addition he had estimated at $2,000.

He had been paying union carpenters $1 an hour, and there had been no difficulty over their work. Last week the framework was completed and ready for plastering. The Lids asked Joseph Jaros, 2501 South Central Park avenue, what he would charge.

Jaros offered to do the work for $50, and he was given the job. He and Sleichert brought their tools and material to the Lid home on Wednesday and had just completed the job Thursday noon when the trouble started. The twelve sluggers forced their way into the Lid home and up to the second floor addition, where Sleichert was packing up. The sluggers cursed the plasterer and told him to get off the job.

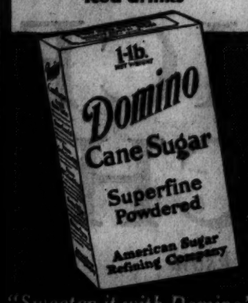

Lid, the owner, said he offered no resistance to the invading unionists, but suddenly was struck and knocked down and his lip cut so deeply that six stitches were necessary to close the wound. Another blow raised a bump on his forehead and his nose and eyes were blackened.

Sluggers Seize Woman.

Mrs. Mae Lid, wife of Jerry, was holding one of her 2 year old daughters, Geraldine, in her arms, and, seeing her husband's father being kicked, ran to the telephone to call the police. She was seized by several of the unionists, who held her while the others ran out.

William, another son of Lid, told Chief Pilot one of the men swung a blackjack at him when he aimed a kick at one of his father's assailants. He said his kick dislodged an automatic pistol from the hip pocket of the man, and the one who swung the blackjack dropped a fountain pen. This pen bore the name "Seth Piper," and it was for that reason that Piper was one of those being sought.

One of the cars used by the sluggers bore a license plate issued to the Steamfitters' Protective association, 408 South Leavitt street. Chief Pilot, with Detectives Charles Ruuderhan and Edward Trucksa, visited the union headquarters and the homes of Mock and Piper yesterday, but were unable to find any of the men they sought.

SWEITZER FILES ANSWER IN SUIT TO REGAIN OFFICE

Board's Authority for Ouster Attacked.

Robert M. Sweitzer, ousted county treasurer, yesterday filed a demurrer in the Circuit court to the "plea in justification" with which county attorneys recently answered his quo warranto proceedings seeking to regain his office. Joseph L. Gill, picked as his successor in the treasurer's office by the county board, is the defendant in the quo warranto suit.

The filing of the demurrer was the last preliminary to the trial of the suit. On Tuesday Judge Joseph Burke, before whom the case is pending, will rule upon the plea in justification and the demurrer, and if he rules that Sweitzer is entitled to prosecute his suit trial will be started.

Attacks Board on 14 Counts.

In addition to a general demurrer that the facts set forth in the plea in justification, even if true, would not bar Sweitzer from action to recover his office, the demurrer, filed by Attorney I. Harvey Levinson, attacks the action of the county board on fourteen special counts.

The first of these counts alleges that the county board had no authority to remove Sweitzer from the office of treasurer because of any acts committed while he was county clerk. He held that position for 24 years before he took office as treasurer last December.

The second count alleges that the county treasurer may only be removed from office for misconduct in that office, neglect, or refusal to settle his accounts as county treasurer, refusal to answer questions put to him under oath by the county board regarding his conduct of the office of county treasurer, or for being in default as treasurer or ex-officio county collector.

Claims Charges Not Proved.

Subsequent counts allege that Sweitzer was not removed from office for any offenses committed while county treasurer but because of his acts as county clerk, in which office he is charged with a shortage of $414,129. It is also alleged that such charges were not established in any court, that Sweitzer was not questioned under oath by the county board, and that none of his statements to the board established his alleged default.

It is further charged that no legal reasons existed for declaring a vacancy in the office of county treasurer, that the county board acted illegally in declaring such a vacancy, and that therefore the appointment of Treasurer Gill was illegal.

SENTENCE TWO PHYSICIANS IN ABORTION DEATH

Dr. Frank R. Braune and Dr. Maurice L. Dale were denied new trials yesterday and sentenced to one to fourteen years in the penitentiary by Judge Harry B. Miller in the Criminal court on charges of manslaughter. The defendants were found guilty by a jury two weeks ago on the charges which resulted from the death last Feb. 26 of Miss Marie Dwyer, 25 years old, laboratory technician, following an illegal operation. Both defendants were allowed their liberty in bonds of $25,000 each pending appeal to the state Supreme court.

COUNTY FACING 28 MILLION TAX PENALTY LOSSES

Bill Forgiving Them Before Horner.

Cook county stands to lose a paper credit of more than 28 million dollars under house bill 783 which was passed by the senate Thursday and is now in Gov. Horner's hands, it was estimated yesterday.

The bill provides that those owing real estate taxes for 1932 and prior years be forgiven all penalties up to next Aug. 1. It further provides that delinquent taxpayers may have their unpaid taxes for these years divided into seven equal yearly instalments, upon which 6 per cent yearly interest will be charged, starting on Aug. 1. The taxpayer would make this time payment arrangement with the county treasurer.

$170,000,000 Taxes Unpaid.

Figures obtained from the treasurer's office show that for the five year period ending last June 1 a total of $170,681,000 remained unpaid. At the current penalty rate of one-half of one per cent a month, the total penalties owing were $28,281,180. This is the paper credit that would be canceled under the terms of House bill 783.

The table below shows, for the years 1928 to 1932, inclusive, the delinquent taxes up to last June 1, the penalty rate now being charged, and the total amount of accrued penalties:

| | Uncollected Taxes. | Accrued Penalties. Pct. | Amount. |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1932..... | $ 42,916,000 | 7¾ | $ 3,323,990 |
| 1931..... | 37,488,000 | 13¾ | 4,779,720 |
| 1930..... | 46,777,000 | 10 | 8,487,630 |
| 1929..... | 31,593,000 | 25½ | 8,056,210 |
| 1928..... | 11,907,000 | 30½ | 3,631,630 |
| Totals ..... | $170,681,000 | | $28,281,180 |

Collect $500,000 a Month.

It is conceded that a large proportion of the unpaid taxes and accrued penalties may never be paid. Thus the exact amount the county will actually lose if the bill becomes a law is indeterminate. That the amount will be considerable is indicated in the statement made yesterday by George Hagenauer, chief auditor for the county treasurer, that recent collections of penalties have amounted to $500,000 a month.

Only the county government would lose through cancelation of the penalties now owing. This is because the courts have ruled that the county is entitled to penalty money, which need not be turned over for distribution among the various taxing bodies.

The county's loss, however, might be translated into higher taxes. One county official said yesterday that if the law forgiving penalties is passed the county will be compelled to ask for an increase of its tax levy, inasmuch as the county budget is built to a large extent on anticipated revenues from tax penalties.

Similar Plans Now in Effect.

"It would be a good thing in a way," one county official said. "While cancelation would in effect penalize the conscientious taxpayer who has already paid in his back taxes and penalties, it would also encourage many other delinquents to clean up the bills they now owe, both by reducing their total debts and by the time payment provision. Thus it is conceivable that in the long run there would be no actual loss of tax revenue."

BUYING OF JURY VOUCHERS BRINGS INQUIRY BY COURT

Warants Issued for Loan Firm Heads; 1 Jailed.

Charges that Chicago loan agencies are purchasing jurors' pay vouchers at a discount caused Chief Justice Denis E. Sullivan of the Criminal court to order an investigation yesterday.

Frank Flower, 55 years old, 764 Oakwood boulevard, was locked up in the county jail and ordered to show cause Wednesday why he should not be sentenced for contempt of court. At the same time the chief justice issued "John Doe" bench warants for the arrest of officials of Taman & Co., a loan concern.

Assistant State's Attorneys Frank Donoghue and Francis T. McCurrie were ordered to determine why the county treasurer does not pay the vouchers.

Seized in Criminal Court Corridor.

The investigation was opened when Flower was seized by Chief Bailiff Edward N. Scholler in a corridor of the Criminal Court building.

When taken into custody Flower had just purchased a $52.75 voucher for $47.25 from Frank Lowe, 2903 East 99th street, who had completed a term of jury service. Three more jury vouchers were found in Flower's pocket, and he was taken before the chief justice.

Judge Sullivan was informed that jurors are canvassed by postcards from loan companies during their term of service. One of the cards was produced and given to the chief justice. It carried the name of Taman & Co. and three addresses: 105 North Clark street, 82 West Washington street, and 5246 South Ashland avenue.

Official Explains Practice.

M. J. O'Connor, deputy county controler, said last night that every effort is being made by county officials to bring the jury pay rolls up to date. O'Connor declared that a year ago payment of jury vouchers was six months behind, but, that at present the treasurer's office is paying the jurors who served during last month.

"It was a question of the money not being available at all times," O'Connor said. "We have tried to keep the county pay rolls up to date and pay our bills as we thought best. Every effort will be made to bring the payment of jury vouchers up to date."

Train Goes Nearly a Mile After Killing Woman, 70

Pontiac, Ill., June 28.—[Special.]—Mrs. John Follmer, 70, of Saunemin, was killed this afternoon when struck by the Banner Blue limited of the Wabash railroad. Her body was hurled 150 feet. The train stopped three-quarters of a mile beyond scene of accident.

State Relief Costs for July Show Decline of 10.1 Pct.

The Illinois Emergency Relief commission estimated yesterday that the cost of July relief in the state would be $10,498,200, a reduction of 10.1 per cent under the June expenditures, which totalled $11,672,901. In addition to the money needed for actual unemployment relief, $39,844 was asked for other activities including transient relief and aid for college students, so that the total requested yesterday from the Federal Emergency Relief administration was $10,537,544.

The July reduction marks the first sharp drop in Illinois relief costs in the last six months. It represents a 2.9 per cent decrease in the state's relief population and a general curtailment of work relief activities which acquire greater expenditures than food relief—preparatory to the start of the Works Progress administration program.

Estimates for July.

In estimating the July requirements of the IERC, direct relief needs were set at $6,473,858, of which $4,431,250 is allocated to Cook county. The greatly curtailed work relief program, to be replaced by the WPA within a few weeks, calls for the expenditure of $2,799,068, of which Cook county draws $1,150,000. Administration costs are estimated at $1,107,279, of which $903,980 is allocated to Cook county.

The July relief load is estimated by the commission at 279,558 families as compared to 287,881 in the current month and 293,104 for May. The relief population for Cook county on the basis of the July estimate and incomplete June figures shows: May, 146,407; June, 145,000; July, 140,000.

Urge Olander Not to Quit.

The commission adopted resolutions praising Victor Olander, president of the state federation of labor, and a member of the commission, and urging him to reconsider his resignation, which was submitted to Gov. Horner earlier in the week, were passed.

At the close of the meeting the commissioners conferred for nearly an hour with a committee representing the radical Illinois Workers' Alliance of Cook County. Frank Waugh McCullough presented the organistion's demands for cash relief in lieu of grocery orders, distributed on the basis of unemployment rather than need, and other radical changes in the relief administration.

MOVE TO BLOCK VOTE ON FRAZIER MORTGAGE BILL

Washington, D. C., June 28.—(AP)—House Democratic leaders today expressed the belief they had stopped, for the time being at least, the drive to force a vote on the 3 billion dollar Frazier-Lemke farm mortgage refinancing bill.

They had induced five more Democrats to withdraw their names from a petition to force a vote on that bill July 8. They said they had promises from "half a dozen more."

There were only 202 names on the petition against a maximum of 210 yesterday. The petition must have 216 names to become effective.

Murray J. Posner Seized on Grand Larceny Charge

New York, June 28.—[Special.]—Murray J. Posner, dress manufacturer, who gave $40,000 to Helen [Boop-a-Doop] Kane, was arrested today on a bench warant issued by Magistrate Brough on April 17 charging grand larceny. The warant was obtained by Max Schnur, who accused Posner of obtaining from him $1,634.50 by false representations in connection with an arrangement the two men had whereby Posner was to buy silk for dresses with funds furnished by Schnur.

Armament, Radio Stolen from Sherif in Indiana

Delphi, Ind., June 28.—[Special.]—Rifles, shotguns, an automobile radio and several cameras were stolen from the Carroll county sherif's garage and that of the city marshal here early today. Officials believe gangsters made the raids for better equipment, recalling raids on two Indiana jails in 1934 by the Dillinger gang.

Ex-Pupil Cites Judge's Own Law Teaching and Is Freed

Sol Oswianza, 25 years old, 1834 South Central Park avenue, was arraigned before Judge John Gutknecht in the Traffic court yesterday on a charge of driving 39 miles an hour in Ogden avenue. Oswianza, a lawyer, insisted he had driven only 32 miles an hour. "And when you were my law instructor at De Paul university," Attorney Oswianza told the judge, "you taught that in a quasi-criminal case such as this the defendant is entitled to the benefit of the doubt." Smiling, Judge Gutknecht dismissed the speeding charge.

OIL OFFICIAL BARS RELIEF RECIPIENTS FROM EMPLOYMENT

Duncan, Okla., June 28.—(AP)—Erle P. Halliburton, millionaire oil man, launched a one man fight today against what he calls "the dole."

An order barring from employment any person who has accepted relief went into effect in all departments of the Halliburton Oil Well Cementing company.

"I see no reason why any company should employ a person who has been accepting the dole when there still are thousands of people who refuse to accept charity at the expense of the taxpayers and certainly are more deserving than those willing to sell their vote for bare subsistence," Halliburton said.

"Thanks, GRAND guy! I knew you'd phone. Hitch up the comet. Tell B/G to get their B/Gs and wizzes and zips and bims and the shortcakes and the goodies ready for I'm going to town this FUN day with a swell GRAND guy!

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED

One Shot, Many Beaten in Kansas Battle.

BULLETIN.

Galena, Kas., June 28.—(AP)—Twelve guards were besieged in the Eagle Picher Mining and Smelting company office near here tonight as strike sympathizers poured volleys or rifle and pistol fire into the wooden building.

The guards were reported unable to return the fire for fear of shooting motorists passing behind the gunners' position. One of the guards telephoned newspaper men that no one had been wounded.

"We're all right," he said. "The soldiers will be here in an hour or two and no one's coming any closer to this building tonight."

Joplin, Mo., June 28.—[Special.]—Gunfire, rock barrages, and hand to hand clubbings between striking miners and workers in the tri-state lead and zinc field today caused urgent requests that National Guard troops be called out in Missouri and Kansas.

The rioting started less than 24 hours after Oklahoma and Kansas troops had been withdrawn from the area which has been the scene of numerous acts of violence since the mine strike on May 8.

Eleven men were arrested by Oklahoma state officers at the Bendelari lead and zinc mine near Picher following a clash between pickets and workers.

One Shot in Riot.

One unidentified man was reported shot and many workers severely beaten today in the fierce fighting which prevented the reopening of a Galena, Kas., smelter of the Eagle-Picher Mining and Smelting company. Returning workers were routed with bullets and rocks as pickets blocked a highway passing the smelter.

Numerous automobiles were overturned and wrecked and shots were fired at cars that refused to stop. The strikers strung out in groups over a two mile section of the highway between Joplin and nearby Galena. Trafic over the highway was stopped.

Prosecuting Attorney Charles R. Warden at Joplin telephoned Gov. Guy B. Park asking that he send Missouri National Guardsmen at once to help maintain order.

Picket Roads in Potato Strike.

Painter, Va., June 28.—[Special.]—Determined to force the price of potatoes to $2 by Monday, belligerent farmers used bullets today to blockade roads leading out of the eastern shore area.

Pickets patroled the highways all last night and shot at the tires of trucks that attempted to carry potatoes to market. More than a dozen automobiles filled with farmers gathered at the town limits of Accomac and riddled the tires of a potato laden truck.

Challenge Omaha Action.

Omaha, Neb., June 28.—[Special.]—Gov. R. L. Cochran's arbitration of the long and bloody Omaha street car strike was attacked today in a suit filed in federal court by nonstriking employés of the Omaha and Council Bluffs Street Railway company.

They challenged the right of the governor's subarbitration board to restore seniority rights to 268 striking employés through an award made yesterday without the nonstrikers being represented. The court was asked to issue an injunction against enforcement of the award.

'SKIN WRITING' EXPERT HERE SHOWS SKILL

Chicago has its own skin writing expert. Kenneth E. Wallace, 1445 Victoria street, a stationery salesman, read in yesterday's newspapers that a man in Toronto, Ont., was attracting attention by writing on his skin with a stick. That was nothing new to Wallace, who says he has been doing the same thing for twenty years.

To prove his ability Wallace stretched out his arms. A newspaper man wrote his own initials on one arm, and Wallace penned his own on the other. In about two minutes large welts, first red and then white, plainly showed the letters that had been impressed. According to Wallace the writing operation causes him no pain.

Physicians said that, while not particularly common, this type of skin phenomenon was not regarded as especially unusual. Every day in large clinics it is noted, they said. The writing operation irritates the nerves in the skin and in the subcutaneous area and there is an immediate rush of blood to the area irritated, they explained.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Bob Becker

Dip a Forced Affair

June 28, 1935.

THE sheep on the Wheaton Experimental farm had no choice about going to a swimming party yesterday. They were forced to take a dip in a tub of stuff that looked bad and smelled bad. The occasion was the annual sheep dipping job that the ewes and lambs must take part in regardless of their likes or dislikes. It required about three hours to give every sheep a thorough treatment with the fluid that kills ticks and other parasites.

Carl was saying yesterday that his particular dip for the animals was primarily to kill all the ticks on them. The tick is a regular stick-tight pest that bores his head into the skins of sheep, dogs, and humans, and there he stays to make himself a painful pest. The dip the sheep received yesterday will kill these ticks.

But I noticed that the party was almost as distasteful to the sheep as it must have been to the insects, because they didn't like the idea of taking a bath in an insecticide. The fat little lambs complained considerably about such an enforced bath, although, of course, it didn't hurt them a bit.

One of the prettiest sights on the Tribune farm at Wheaton is to see the Muscovy ducks on Moon pond. I walk down there every time I go to the farm just to watch the ducklings paddle around and to see how much they've grown since last I saw them. The Muscovy is not nearly as pretty or as graceful a bird as the swan or some of the other waterfowl on the place, but they are very appealing and friendly.

One Muscovy is laying for the second time this year. Her first brood is the oldest and largest on the pond now and quite able to care for itself, so this old duck has decided to raise another family. She already has laid seven eggs.

The row of coops and pens where game birds are being raised on the Wheaton farm are getting overcrowded, so the "overflow" has been taken to Rawlings' house. Carl Henderson set a clutch of Hungarian partridge eggs in one coop behind this house the other night, but didn't have "rooms for rent" for ringneck pheasants and mutant pheasants. One clutch of each of these eggs were set under big hens near Rawlings' house. As soon as the pheasants hatch they will be put in pens alongside those behind Henderson's house.

A clutch of valley quail eggs were set the other day, and more Hungarian partridge eggs will be set this week.

A new dog has been added to the canine population on the Yorkville farm. Shirley Thurow and her brother, Louis Thurow Jr., have a new eight weeks old fox terrier to take the place of Buster. Buster, their former pet, has been lost for some time now, so they decided it was time to get another dog to take his place.

Mrs. Louis Thurow Sr. doesn't know what to do about Nig, her big Newfoundland puppy. Nig is about 10 months old now, but still hasn't got over his playfulness, even though he is nearly as big as a barn and weighs more than 100 pounds. Needless to say, lots of things can happen when a 100 pound canine starts to play.

Nig not only has torn most of the shingles off of his dog house but he has been chasing the turkeys and trying to get into the chicken house. Mrs. Thurow is busy now teaching him the niceties of "barnyard etiquet."

DELIVER MONDAY BENCH ELECTION BALLOTS TODAY

Ballots for Monday's judicial election are to be delivered today by the election commission. Precints are to be combined to save expense and there will be 624 voting places in Chicago and 44 in the country towns of the county. In ordinary elections voting is in 3127 precincts in the city and 364 in the country towns.

Through the reduction in the number of precincts, John S. Rusch, chief clerk of the election board, estimates the election commission will save about $150,000, while in the country towns the county board will save $25,000.

Despite the lack of a campaign, the 21 candidates for the Superior court on the "coalition" ticket have been assessed $2,500 each by the Democratic organization, a total of $52,500, for campaign expenses.

CHAIN STORE ROBBED.

ADVANCE GUARD ARRIVES FOR 33D DIVISION REUNION

Record Attendance Indicated; Election Today.

The battles of Chipilly Ridge and the Argonne were being fought again last night in the Morrison hotel, as members of the 33d Division War Veterans association gathered there for their ninth annual reunion.

An advance guard of several hundred members had arrived by midnight, but the bulk of the registration was not expected until this morning. The fact that the overnight registrations were several times those of a year ago led officers of the association, made up of members of Illinois National Guard regiments which entered the world war, to predict a record attendance.

Election of Officers Today.

Business sessions and election of officers will be held today. Philip T. Duff is the incumbent president of the association. The annual dinner will be held this evening, with Gen. John V. Clinnin as the principal speaker. Tomorrow afternoon the annual memorial service will be held in the Cameo room of the hotel.

Among early arrivals at the reunion was Col. O. C. Smith of Decatur, who claims to have been the only judge advocate ever wounded in action. He entered the war as captain of Company F of the 130th infantry, which was recruited in Benton, Ill. At Houston, Tex., Smith was transferred to the 90th division, consisting of National army troops from Texas and Oklahoma, as judge advocate. In France, while still holding the post of judge advocate, he was assigned at his own request to command of a battalion of combat troops, and was gassed and wounded by shrapnel.

Oldest Veteran Arrives.

Another early arrival was John E. Newcomb of Augusta, Ill., the oldest member of the association. He was 74 years old in March. Mr. Newcomb enlisted in the old 5th Illinois infantry in 1898, served in the Spanish-American war, and was a member of the National Guard continuously thereafter until the world war.

He told gleefully last night how on three occasions he outwitted medical examiners who sought to prevent his embarkation for France because of his age. He served in France as a battalion sergeant major with the 123rd machine gun battalion and, after the Armistice, with the 159th infantry in the army of occupation. He did not return to the United States until July 4, 1919.

ARMY COLONEL DENIES ACCEPTING FEE FROM CUBAN-MANGANESE CO.

Washington, D. C., June 28.—(AP)—Col. Joseph I. McMullen, charged with accepting a $3,000 fee from the Cuban-American Manganese corporation while he was serving in the office of the army judge advocate general, pleaded not guilty when arraigned today in the District of Columbia Supreme court. The indictment was returned after a protracted investigation of his activities in connection with the manganese corporation. The trial was expected in the fall.

TWO FILE HEART BALM SUITS AS DEADLINE NEARS

With breach of promise and alienation of affection suits outlawed by the legislature under a law which goes into effect on Monday, two more breach of promise suits were filed yesterday in the Circuit court. Today is the last day for the filing of such suits.

In the suits yesterday Miss Virginia Carroll, 22 years old, 4710 Sheridan road, seeks $20,000 damages from David Douglas, 30 years old, a credit man employed by a loop department store. The bill alleges that Douglas seduced Miss Carroll by promises of marriage which he never fulfilled. In the other bill, damages of $10,000 are sought by Miss Anna Walsh, 6401 Kenwood avenue, from John Fuhr, 4023 North Keeler avenue. Miss Walsh charges that Fuhr promised to marry her Sept. 22, 1934, but has failed to do so although "a reasonable time has elapsed."

Court attachés said that with 15 suits filed during the last month, there are now approximately 65 such actions pending in the courts. Damages sought in the suits are estimated in excess of $4,000,000.

GUESTS FLOWN TO NEVADA FOR HART WEDDING

Reno, Nev., June 28.—(AP)—Frank C. Hart, wealthy New York and Connecticut oil company president, and his bride, the former Muriel Constance Woodworth of New York, flew to a Pebble Beach, Cal., honeymoon tonight following Hart's divorce and remarriage in Nevada.

Nine wedding guests from New York and Philadelphia, who flew to Reno in a chartered transport plane yesterday, expected to follow the young couple. Hart and his bride left in his privately owned plane.

The two were married at Washoe Pines ranch, 25 miles south of Reno, a few hours after the bridegroom had won a private trial default divorce decree from the former Marion Alexander of Orange, N. J., whom he married April 29, 1929.

The former Mrs. Hart, who was not represented at the divorce in Minden today, said in New York this morning she intends to go ahead with a divorce suit pending there.

Commenting on Hart's new romance she said: "All I can say is that he is getting just what he deserves."

CHURCH COUNCIL URGES PWA EASE ITS REGULATIONS

Asks National Group to Combat Suppression.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The Chicago Church federation appealed yesterday to the Federal Council of Churches urging that body to make a formal demand to New Deal leaders that regulations affecting churches within jurisdiction of Public Works administration housing projects be relaxed.

The appeal was made before the executive committee of the federal council by Walter R. Mee, executive secretary of the Chicago federation as the committee held its summer meeting in the North Shore hotel in Evanston.

South Park Problem Cited.

Addressing members of the committee, Mr. Mee outlined unsuccessful attempts of the comity commission of the Chicago federation to secure leniency in church construction provisions affecting future residents in the area of the South Park gardens project of the PWA. These appeals, he said, were received sympathetically by local PWA officials, but met with insurmountable resistence from Brain Trusters higher up.

As an example, he cited the status of three colored churches in the South Park Gardens area, which presently have modest, though adequate places of worship. Under the PWA regulations, Mr. Mee said, these churches must erect new church buildings on their present sites and in accordance with New Deal architectural ideas or otherwise the properties will be condemned, and the churches will be forced to leave their special fields.

To illustrate another objectionable feature of PWA regulations, Mr. Mee pointed out that if in the future a group of residents in any one of the proposed federal housing project areas should desire to erect a new church, that right would be denied, according to his interpretation of existing regulations.

Presents National Problem.

Because similar conditions exist in conjunction with federal housing projects throughout the nation, he said, the Chicago federation voted to appeal to the federal council, which represents 23 denominations and about 25,000,000 members, and thus is prepared to cope with a problem of national scope.

Following receipt of the federation's resolution, the federal council committee assured Mr. Mee that it would be given immediate study and the whole New Deal setup as it affects religion through housing projects would be considered.

Reported unfairness toward religion prevailing under the Tennessee Valley authority headed by Prof. Arthur E. Morgan and the administration of Harold L. Ickes, public works administrator, also was discussed. The situation in the TVA area, and under other PWA housing jurisdictions was termed tantamount to virtual denial of constitutional rights, by the national Home Missions council, affiliated with the federal council, it was pointed out.

REFORM RABBIS DROP HOSTILITY TOWARD ZIONISM

The Central Conference of American (Reform) Rabbis, in annual conference at the Congress hotel, yesterday adopted a resolution formally withdrawing their hostility to Zionism. This resolution stated that opposition to Zionism no longer represented the sentiment of many rabbis and that "acceptance or rejection of the Zionism movement should be left to the individual members."

The conference recommended that the incoming executive board find means to support German Jewish scholars, either by making opportunities for them to work in this country or by subsidizing them in Europe.

The annual conference sermon was delivered in the Washington Boulevard temple last night by Rabbi Leo M. Franklin of Detroit. He urged that the Jewish race cling to its spiritual heritage and condemned what he termed the "defeatist philosophy" of many Jews. The Jew, Rabbi Franklin declared, must interpret his destiny in terms of his religion if he is to continue making worthwhile contributions to civilization.

TWO OF QUINTS STAND ON FEET; SISTERS ENVIOUS

COLLANDER, Ont., June 28.—(AP)—Yvonne and Cecile Dionne entered their fourteenth month today with their feet on the ground. The first of the quintuplets to stand up, they were the envy of sisters Annette, Emilie, and Marie, who, after a vain struggle to emulate them, tumbled back into their play pen.

Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, the country physician who has attended them since birth, ventured no prediction as to when the five sisters will walk. They will soon be able to play outdoors, where Yvonne and Cecile, his choice of "bright ones," may offer a surprise.

For the present, said Dr. Dafoe, the "quints" are content to crawl and sing. The five are in excellent health, the doctor said.

Wins Court Consent to Go Ahead with House Repairs

Officials of Cicero were restrained yesterday in an injunction issued by Circuit Judge George F. Rush from interfering with Edward Mastny, 5009 West 25th place, Cicero, in remodeling his house. Two of the walls were torn down several weeks ago, but repair of the house was stopped when town officials revoked Mastny's building permit.

Rain, Floods and Wind Sweep Japan; 15 Killed

TOKIO, June 29 [Saturday].—(AP)—Rainstorms, floods and wind spread death and destruction over a wide area of central and western Japan today, including the cities of Osaka and Kyoto, and southeastern Corea. The list of 15 known dead is expected to increase when communication is restored. Many are missing and injured.

CHRISTOPHER MORLEY CITES CLOSE PARALLEL WITH O. O. M'INTYRE

New York, June 27.—[Special.]—The mellowness of Christopher Morley, who virtually makes a profession of being mellow, has melted away before the fire of a perhaps too warm admiration and the rather acid results may be examined in the Morley column, "The Bowling Green," in this week's "Saturday Review of Literature."

The column is devoted to a review of "The Big Town," a collection into book form of the lucubrations of Mr. Morley's columnist colleague, O. O. McIntyre, a home-town boy who made good by blending homeliness with the opulent romance of the metropolis. Mr. Morley accuses Mr. McIntyre of being so carried away by his admiration for the Morleyan style as to borrow large chunks of the Morleyan writings from "John Mistletoe," for insertion in his column, "New York Day by Day."

| "THE BIG TOWN." | "JOHN MISTLETOE." |
|---|---|
| Chirping like an insect obbligato on a summer night. | That extraordinary insect obbligato of summer nights. |
| There is a spacious legend that wine, no matter how long casked, remains always en rapport with its native vineyard. When vineyards flower each year, the barreled vintage fumes and bubbles, a chemical heredity. | After wine has been barreled it is still en rapport with the vineyard. When next year's flowering comes on the vines, the liquid in the cask stirs and fumes and scintillates by some chemical heredity. |
| No opiate is so deadening as memory . . . the despair of anxious thought. | A sweet and dangerous opiate is memory . . . the bliss of anxious thought. |

Mr. McIntyre was in retreat at Greenwhich, Conn., today, when copies of the latest "Bowling Green" began prematurely to circulate round town. Mr. Morley was enjoying the rustic delights of Roslyn, L. I., but the "Bowling Green" spoke for him.

"When I'm low in mind, or feel any sort of spiritual ullage," remarks Mr. Morley in his opening paragraph, "I have an unfailing consolation. At any rate, I say to myself, O. O. McIntyre likes my stuff. If people are going to read it, I'd prefer them to get it under my own name, than under his."

U. OF MARYLAND ASKS PRESIDENT TO QUIT MONDAY

Action Is Taken After Airing Complaints.

Baltimore, Md., June 28.—(AP)—Dr. Raymond A. Pearson was asked today by the board of regents of the University of Maryland to hand them his resignation as president of the university Monday. The action was taken after extended consideration by the board of criticism of Dr. Pearson's administration.

The board notified Dr. Pearson that if the resignation was tendered by Monday he would be asked to remain at the university for a period as a consultant in its land grant college activities. Otherwise it decided he would be suspended from his duties as president.

The criticism of Dr. Pearson was brought into the open several months ago by an editorial in the Diamondback, university student newspaper, which asserted the academic standing of the institution had suffered under his policies.

Dr. Pearson has a long, distinguished record of research and scholarship activity. He was president of the Iowa State College of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts from 1912 until he came to the University of Maryland in 1926-'29. During the world war period in 1917 and 1918 he served as assistant secretary of agriculture.

He was born in 1873 in Evansville, Ind., and took undergraduate work at Cornell. He received the degree of doctor of agriculture from the University of Nebraska and holds on honorary LL.D. degree from Alfred university.

HEIRESS' PHOTO IN NUDE BARRED AT THEFT TRIAL

Los Angeles, Cal., June 28.—(AP)—A photograph of the undraped figure of Mrs. Blanche M. Sewell, Guggenheim heiress, precipitated a legal battle today at the trial of her business manager, Henry Guttman, on a charge of having robbed her of $44,000.

Guttman's attorney, John L. Fleming, attempted unsuccessfully to introduce the picture in evidence to show, he said, that the term "love" contained in letters and telegrams from Mrs. Sewell to Guttman had more than a "religious" meaning.

"I know that picture was missing from my safe deposit vault where I kept my securities," Mrs. Sewell said heatedly, "and if Mr. Guttman had it, he stole it."

Mrs. Sewell explained that the photo, showing her in silhouette, was taken so she would not have to pose undraped before a sculptor.

Writ Restrains Canal Board from Fireworks Sale Ban

A temporary injunction restraining commissioners of the sanitary district from interfering with the sale of fireworks on a plot of ground at Devon avenue and the sanitary canal, rented from the board by Indian Boundary post, No. 693, of the American Legion, was granted yesterday by Circuit Judge Stanley H. Klarkowski. The order restrains sanitary district officials from interference until July 13. Representatives of the Legion post alleged that officials sought to prevent the fireworks sales, in violation of a contract.

Exonerate Brooks, Family in Baby Farm Operation

Cadillac, Mich., June 28.—(AP)—Edward L. Brooks, his wife, Grace, and his son, Edward L. Jr., were exonerated today by Circuit Judge Fred S. Lamb and held to be blameless in connection with the operation of the Beulah baby farm, which was the subject of a one man grand jury investigation last winter. Brooks and his wife recently were cleared of charges of operating a baby hospital without a license in Chicago.

SATURDAY NEWS OF NEW BOOKS

South Offers 3 Novels for Review Today

"Deep, Dark River" by Author Who "Sees."

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Deep, Dark River," by Robert Rylee. [Farrar & Rinehart.] Published on Wednesday. July choice of the Book of the Month club.

"Siesta," by Barry Fleming. [Harcourt-Brace.] Published in April.

"Don't You Weep, Don't You Moan," by Richard Coleman. [Macmillan.] Published in March.

"Eyes on the World." [Simon & Schuster.] Published yesterday.

THE south, which is going through a literary renaissance, is the subject of the three novels listed above, as it has been of much popular fiction of late. Much of that fiction is self-consciously "south." Some of it is merely southern in atmosphere, and not in psychology. Some of it is all southern—background, ideas, actions, mood. These three books pretty thoroughly run the gamut.

Robert Rylee's "Deep, Dark River" is the story of a Mississippi river town, with the chief protagonists a Negro unfairly indicted for murder and a white woman lawyer who defends him. The prejudices of the town are the other leading characters. The result is an extremely interesting study of southern psychology, both black and white.

There is something real, rooted, right about the book. The reader feels that Robert Rylee is a teller of truth as he sees it as well as knows it (and seeing it an enlargement on merely knowing it). But Mr. Rylee sees more than southern facts. He sees that mankind is unfair, that injustice is a matter of inherited and inherent prejudice more than a matter of innate inhumanity. And he sees, too, that something fine in man, black or white, man or woman, can live and flourish in the muck of injustice.

That seeing beyond the facts is what makes "Deep, Dark River" what it is, not its art as a novel. For it is, although beautifully set down at times, for most of its pages, badly rather than well written. It is too uneven to be a work of art. Let us call it, rather, a work of life.

MORE ARTISTRY IN "SIESTA"

"Siesta," by Barry Fleming, has a great deal more artistry about it. It is cleverly fashioned. It tells its story of a town in Alabama with the vivid method of a news reel. It pictures rather than comments. But it is more of a study of the influence of a drouth on the members of a southern community than it is a study of that community.

Its members act as they would never have acted in ordinary times. They are southern, but they are, before that, tensed, and act more as personified tension than as personified south.

Parts of "Siesta" are brilliant. It is one of those modern novels that are really modern . . . twenty years ago neither method nor material would have been used. When the reader has finished it, however, although he knows a great deal about how a heat wave affected a southern town, what he really knows is more than he knew before about the effect of heat waves, not about southern towns.

Mr. Fleming's "Siesta" is a lineal descendant of John Dos Passos' "Forty-second Parallel" and "Manhattan Transfer." And one they may be proud to have sired.

OF CHARLESTON NEGROES

"Don't You Weep, Don't You Moan," by Richard Coleman, makes little pretense at interpretation. It merely records the life of Charleston Negroes. There is no conflict between black and white, no conflict at all, so far as that goes, except a spot of murder, rape, and assorted evils lightly and joyously taken in the characters' stride.

The Negroes in Mr. Coleman's book are as different from the Negroes in Mr. Rylee's "Deep, Dark River" as black is from black (and any artist will tell you that black is a combination of all colors, and, therefore, philosophically, capable of an infinitude of variations).

Mr. Coleman knows his black folks probably as intimately as does Mr. Rylee, but he chooses to see them as phenomena of fact; Mr. Rylee, as phenomena of idea.

"Don't You Weep, Don't You Moan" is memorable, I should say, for its exact reproduction of a picturesque vocabulary.

HISTORY VIA PHOTOGRAPHS

For undeniable veracity and vividness no book can equal "Eyes on the World" except Simon & Schuster's previous volume, "The First World War."

"Eyes on the World" is, like that unforgettable volume, a record wholly in photographs. It pictures, it records, it illumines the facts of 1934 and the first part of 1935. It is edited by M. Lincoln Schuster, and it lives up to its subtitle of "A Photographic Record of History in the Making."

Ruth Bryan Owen Writes Chatty Story of Greenland

"Leaves from a Greenland Diary," by Ruth Bryan Owen [Dodd Mead], is a pleasant, day by day chatty record of a journey the American minister to Denmark took to "Greenland's icy mountains." And, speaking of ice, she says . . . "the computation becomes credible that if all the ice in Greenland was to melt it would raise the water level of all the seas more than a hundred feet."

Two Authors Give Accounts of Red Russia

Eugene Lyons Seeking 'Feel' of Country.

BY LOUISE LEONARD WRIGHT

"Soviet Journey," by Louis Fischer. [Smith-Haas.]

"Moscow Carrousel," by Eugene Lyons. [Knopf.]

The Norman Wait Harris Foundation has just offered a series of lectures at the University of Chicago on The Soviet Union and World Problems. These books would further illumine those who were interested in the lectures.

BOTH of these books attempt to breathe life into the arid mental concept of bolshevism. Louis Fischer wants the reader to "see, hear, feel, and smell Russia." Lyons writes: "Not by facts alone can the new Russia be known. If the quality of life under the soviets will ever be conveyed to the rest of the world it will be done neither by economists nor by journalists, but by an artist. The things which give that life its special savor, its deep tang, are not alone, nor even primarily, in the concrete facts. They are in overtones, in new attitudes, and new prejudices not easily caught in words. They are in the mood of the nation, at once heroic and desperate; in the atmosphere at once stimulating and depressing."

These two books with their collection of details convey to the reader more than any philosophical dissertation can what bolshevism means to those who live it.

Books about Russia, however, should be read immediately, for any detail about this country seems to be true only as long as it is useful. "Nothing is final in the soviet union. Life is fluid and dynamic, and therefore very interesting and very tiring."

The author of "Moscow Carrousel" views Russia as "a stage as wide as two continents." Passing before him in an incessant parade Lyons describes doctrinaire communists, children educated in revenge, comsomols weighed down with the revolution they have inherited, the foreign radicals whose spiritual Russia is unduly glorified, the foreigners imported by the Russians, and the humorous tourists who are unequal to the opportunities Russia sets before them. He gives a harrowing description of the "chistka"—the communist confessional which is so painful with its unexpected disclosures.

The series of vignettes are done deftly with the hasty, colorful style of a good journalist. That Mr. Lyons knows his job [he was the United Press correspondent in Russia for six years] is proved by the fact that he was the first foreign correspondent to be received by Stalin. This was in 1930, three years after Stalin came to power. Lyons found Stalin a simple, direct, earnest leader, who is driven by his tremendous faith in his own ideas, a "passionate prophet of religion, more akin to Moses and Mohammed than to Bonaparte and Mussolini."

One of the most surprising chapters in the book is entitled "Living Museums." It is a description of the home for the aged bomb throwers. It is illustrated with a picture of Vera Figner, a nice old lady in a lace cap!

The crop which never fails in Russia, says Mr. Lyons, is the crop of political anecdotes, and he offers the reader an entertaining collection in the chapter, "Red Laughter." [All those who want to make speeches on Russia will like this chapter.]

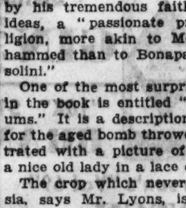

Before he is through, Lyons can't resist summarizing his conclusions about the Russian experiment. He steps from the rôle of the intelligent observer to that of a philosopher, but this is the least interesting and important part of his book.

In dealing with Moscow, Louis Fischer's "Soviet Journey" covers much of the same sort of material as "Moscow Carrousel." But Fischer takes the reader further—up to Leningrad and a factory, to southern Russia and houses of rest, to the great dam, and to a health resort in Georgia where he suspects that officials find it easier to get the beds and baths than the workingman, for the "pen pusher and engineer are pushing out the lathe tender. In their defense, the officials might submit that it is harder on the heart to work in a soviet office than to work in a coal mine."

Fischer journeys to Erivan where the soviets have made it possible for the Armenian nation for the first time in five hundred years to have a separate existence with complete cultural autonomy, with schools, courts, newspapers, theaters.

Although this is a book written to explain what communism is in terms of the every day life of soviet citizens, Mr. Fischer sometimes allows himself to stray into the philosophical field and then he questions certain aspects of Russian life in a more detached way than in his earlier writings. Fischer says, for instance, that "Planning is one of the virtues of sovietism, but the necessity of fulfilling the plan is one of its worst curses."

Both of these books are useful for any one who doesn't know the language but wants to understand Russia. No Intourist guide would or could supply the same sort of information. For those who want to see what Russia looks like, the photographic illustrations are profuse and excellent.

Acclaimed by critics of importance as one of the most exciting, compelling books published in many months.

Mystery of the Week

BY MORTIMER QUICK

Young Richard Wormser—I assume his youth because he is surprised that a man of thirty-five shows few signs of age—has written in "The Communist's Corpse" [Smith-Haas] what I call a bang-up story. It's tough and absurd and raw but it never stops for breath, and neither do you, in its erratic course.

A hardy young Swede, as deadly a female as you might wish to meet, six feet high and over, liberal to red in her views, but all for the underdog, gets involved in two or three murders, so involved, in fact, that she has to find the real culprit or "burn" herself. Her investigations are unorthodox to say the least. She fights, bleeds and all but dies in her search for the truth. Incidentally she renounces the communist party and all its works.

It doesn't seem possible that there are, even in New York, as many sorts of trouble as that girl gets into and crawls out of just to save two poor little people and their feeble romance. She is pretty funny, too, and so is her journalist friend and all in all the story swings along with a fine freedom of action and speech. If you have given up fireworks permanently it will take their place on any reasonably glorious Fourth.

Mr. Pinkerton, that gray little man who sticks his nose into so many messes, is with us for the second time in a year in "Mr. Pinkerton Grows a Beard" [Farrar & Rinehart] and his narrator, David Frome has contrived another ingenuous story about him without pressing coincidence too far. Inspector Bull of Scotland Yard is on hand to rescue him from his too active curiosity and once launched into believing that one small man could be the center of so many untoward circumstances you'll be quite interested in the whole performance. The book has its quota of murders and some terrible illustrations beside other assorted crimes.

Next week the Fourth brings a long holiday and it may be you will need books to read. A short list of really good mystery stories follows. They have all been recommended before but perhaps you have overlooked them.

"The Toll House Mystery" [Lippincott]. The very best that Anthony Wynn has written, swift, sensational but perfectly reasoned and satisfactorily concluded.

"Salute to the Gods" [Putnam]. Sir Malcolm Campbell's superb story of motor racing and the misfortunes that dog a famous team of racers. Expertly written by an expert. Don't miss it!

"Most Beautiful Lady" [Farrar & Rinehart], by Dorothea Brande. A mystery novel on the literary side. Not a detective story but an account of strange doings in an Italian palazzo. Charmingly written about unusual and charming people.

"The Grammarian's Funeral" [Macrae-Smith] by Edward Acheson. Like the above in its unconventionality. A painful story of a man suspected of a murder which he has not committed. Distinguished and interesting.

And four stories by Chicago authors: "The Alleged Great Aunt" [Bobbs-Merrill], Henry Kitchell Webster's last story completed as a labor of love by his friends, Janet Fairbank and Margaret Ayer Barnes.

"Five Silver Buddhas" [Dutton], a queer and entertaining book by Harry Stephen Keeler.

"The House on the Roof" [Doubleday-Doran], Mignon Eberhart's last mystery written with the cumulative suspense of which she is mistress.

British Readers Take to Books Dealing in Crime

Three Popular Volumes Have Murder as Theme.

BY FRANK SWINNERTON.

LONDON.—[Special correspondence.]—Crime is very much to the fore in the new novels which are attracting attention in London. Earliest among these books, and most in accordance with familiar formula, is a mystery story by two talented people, Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Lambert, whose "Mediterranean Mystery" was successful a few years ago.

The new book is called "The Mystery of the Golden Wings" [Nelson], and is the third to show Glyn Morgan, the Welsh detective, combining second sight with the ordinary elucidation of clews and counter-clews. It is about a murder committed during a cabaret performance, when all eyes are on the artists and when a criminal can escape with ease from observation.

Much ingenuity is shown in this book, chiefly in details; the detective is of the Sherlock Holmes school [even to his use of a modern Watson whose heart is given to a young woman journalist]; and until the end of the book the identity of the murderer remains baffling. This in itself is a feat.

In two other books the authors have sought to go deeper into crime and its consequences. By a coincidence, although these two books are entirely different, both are by way of being criticisms of the English judicial system—or of any system whereby an attempt is made to punish men whose wives die of poisoning.

Ernest Raymond in *"We, the Accused" [Cassell] has written a sort of English "Crime and Punishment," based, it might seem to a superficial eye, on the Crippen case. He writes with power and great dramatic effectiveness; and he tells the whole story of a murder, the murderer's flight with his mistress, the arraignment and execution, with an extremely vivid sense of the toughness and clumsiness of those engaged in bringing a man to the gallows. He also contrasts this toughness with the horrors of the murderer. His book is emotional, powerful, and highly dramatic; and it will certainly be very widely read.

Gerald Bullett in †"The Jury" [Dent] has a different objective. His aim is to show how every person involved in a trial for murder, from the accused to the twelfth member of the jury, has an entirely personal viewpoint. He is less emotional than Mr. Raymond; his method is less dramatic, more objective, more dispassionate. But in his book, as in Mr. Raymond's, there is another woman; in his book, as in Mr. Raymond's, there is a flight before the arrest.

First of all he gives us a series of vignettes of the husband and wife, friends, lovers, members of the jury. Then he reports the trial, and shows all the considerations which lead to acquittal of the murderer. The book is an interesting one, clear, lucid, and full of awareness of impulse and motive. It has not the stir of Mr. Raymond's "We, the Accused"; it belongs to a different genre. But the two books make a remarkable contrast, especially as their publication has been almost simultaneous.

U. S. INDICTS 25; SMASHES LARGE RUM CONSPIRACY

Seven Companies Named —Big Still Seized.

An indictment charging twenty-five individuals and seven companies with conspiracy to violate the internal revenue law through the illicit manufacture and sale of liquor was returned by the federal grand jury yesterday before Judge John P. Barnes in the United States District court. E. C. Yellowley, chief of the alcohol tax unit of the internal revenue department in the Chicago area, said that the defendants were engaged in the "largest liquor conspiracy case in Chicago since repeal."

The indictment followed several weeks of presentation of evidence before the grand jury after a raid by federal agents on March 8 on the Continental Warehouse company, 973 Cullerton street. According to the indictment, the agents found 17 vats in the warehouse, each containing 14,720 gallons of mash.

Steal Current and Water.

It was also charged that the distillery, which occupied three floors of the six story warehouse, had intricate water main and electricity connections which enabled it to steal 45,000 gallons of a water a day from the city and more than $800 of power from the Commonwealth Edison company each month.

The distillery was unlicensed and was evading the federal taxes on liquor, the indictment alleges. The still was valued at $50,000, Yellowley said.

The principal defendants are the warehouse company and its president, William J. Workman. Assistant United States Attorney Daniel D. Glasser, who presented the evidence before the grand jury, said that Workman had been "an operator in illicit liquor" during prohibition.

Other Companies Accused.

The six other defendant companies are the Cosmopolitan Candy company, 615 South Peoria street; the Chicago Steel Tank company, 1577 Ogden avenue; the Clinton Sugar company, 167 North May street; the D. B. Scully Syrup company, 321 East Illinois street; the Fletcher-Eichman confectionery Supply company, 1435 West 37th street, and Neiman Brothers, manufacturers of bakers' supplies at 2721 Roosevelt road. These concerns are charged with furnishing supplies to the warehouse.

The defendants in addition to Workman, all of whom were officials and employés of the seven companies, are Edward F. Young, Tony Williams, L. R. Clavenger, Bernhard H. Stevenson, George E. Matthews, August J. Engelhart, James P. Harrington, B. J. Burns, J. E. Kantin, P. F. Ramsby, N. L. Welch, H. L. Welch, Peter Gavaris, L. M. Fletcher, H. P. Swanson, J. D. MacWilliams, B. E. Shurig, Louis Neiman, O. P. Kline, Kenneth L. Fox, John Devlin, Samuel Eisenstein, I. A. Frankel, and Tom Marco.

SEIZE MILLION FAKE LABELS

Agents of the government alcohol tax unit yesterday raided a garage at the rear of 930 Argyle street and seized a truckload of counterfeit whisky labels, caps, and wrappers. Nicholas Martin, 29 years old, 928 Glengyle avenue, and John Popa, 930 Glengyle avenue, were arrested as operators of the business.

A number of the counterfeit labels, said by agents to total more than 1,000,000, bore the admonition to drinkers to "beware of counterfeits." Agents discovered that the name "Hennessy" on the labels was spelled "Hennessey." Copper plates for manufacture of fraudulent labels were confiscated by the agents.

Agents also seized a 750 gallon St. Louis still at 4263 Elston avenue and arrested two men at work on the premises. They identified themselves as Earl M. Flynn and John J. Jones. The agents confiscated 400 gallons of alcohol and 11,000 gallons of mash.

U. S. WILL MEET DEMAND FOR AGED WHISKY BY 1938

Washington, D. C., June 28.—(AP)—Uncle Sam will meet his own demands for aged whisky by 1938, officials of the alcohol tax unit of the treasury forecast today.

Statistics gathered June 1 disclosed the country had built up its stocks of whisky in bonded warehouses to 142,600,000 proof gallons from the stocks of 18,000,000 gallons on hand at repeal.

Of this increase 82,600,000 gallons were reported added to the bonded stocks in first eleven months. Distillers have increased from 44 to 76.

Bonded warehouse stocks were reported increasing 10,000,000 gallons monthly, indicating total stocks of around 200,000,000 gallons by next New Years. This would equal the pre-prohibition average. The prohibition peak was 273,000,000 gallons in June, 1914.

Officials said that by 1938 the bonded warehouse stocks would be sufficient to meet domestic consumption demands. At that time, it was pointed out, the stocks would be four years old. Meanwhile whisky imports are averaging about 400,000 gallons a month.

100 TO COMPETE TONIGHT IN BEER DRINKING RACE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., June 28.—[Special.]—One hundred experienced beer drinkers, tested and found to live up to their boasts by a special investigating committee, were ready to face as many tankards, each containing a half gallon of beer, tomorrow night in an elimination contest to determine the beer drinking champion of the state.

The ten who dispose of the half gallon in the least time will contest in the finals Sunday at the annual picnic of the Fond du Lac Avenue Business Men's association, which will be held at Cedarburg.

The tired members of the investigating committee, who personally put 500 applicants to a test during the last week, tonight announced all arrangements were complete.

Ethiopia Saves Food for War: Bans Cattle and Grain Exports

BY WILL BARBER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, June 28.—The fear that war with Italy is near today caused the government of Ethiopia to forbid the export of all live stock and cereals.

Orders were sent to the governors of border provinces to prevent cattle and cereals from being shipped out of the country. Grains, cooked or raw, form the chief subsistence of the Ethiopian soldier in time of war and the government wants to have a plentiful supply on hand.

Rome's Demands Stir Capital.

Latest reports from Rome declaring that Premier Mussolini is insisting upon the expulsion of Ethiopia from the league of nations and the establishment of an Italian military protectorate over the African empire have caused the gravest misgivings here.

Such conditions are entirely unacceptable to Emperor Haile Selassie. They are taken to mean that the Italian dictator intends to wage war no matter what the Italo-Ethiopian conciliation commission or the league decides upon. The outcome of the conference between Mussolini and Capt. Anthony Eden, Great Britain's roving diplomat, adds weight to that belief. The Ethiopians feel Eden may have been too generous in offering economic and territorial concessions to Italy.

Whatever the emperor may decide to do, the general feeling among the populace is that not one inch of territory or even a possibility of gaining territory later on must be given to Italy.

More Troops Sent to Africa.

ROME, June 28.—(AP)—The army Italy is massing in Eritrea and Somaliland for possible action against Ethiopia passed the 100,000 mark tonight.

Five ships sailed from Italian ports today with about 3,000 men aboard, pushing the total number of soldiers, officers, technical experts and skilled workmen concentrating in this nation's African colonies nearly half way to the goal of 225,000 men expected to be reached by the end of September. That will be the largest army any European nation ever has sent to Africa. The ships that sailed today were the Principessa and Giovana from Syracuse, the Leonardo da Vinci, Romolo, and Viminale from Naples.

In addition to the 3,000 troops and workmen aboard those vessels, the Conte Biancamand sailed from Naples en route to Cagliari whence she will continue to Africa with another 3,000 men aboard.

The 100,000 figure does not include thousands dispatched quietly before formal mobilization orders were issued. Nor does it include the thousands that have gone out in small units on regular ships. It represents only the total of official communiques announcing sailings.

Britain Is Gloomy.

LONDON, June 28.—(AP)—The wheels of Britain's cherished, peace-making machinery were still tonight, and her best diplomatic minds sought vainly some way to get them started again.

Throughout the day—the 21st anniversary of the shot at Sarajevo that set off the world war—Sir Samuel Hoare, foreign secretary, and Capt. Anthony Eden, diplomatic traveler extraordinary, tried to contrive new formulae to dissolve the stalemate in the working of the Anglo-Italo-French "Stresa front."

"It may take some time to ascertain what the government can do," one informant said gloomily.

Hoare himself, questioned in the house of commons, said no official statement concerning Eden's visit to Rome could be given before Monday.

Leaders Are Perturbed.

The British were plainly perturbed over the sand in their machinery—troublesome political sand in the shape of France's unallayed suspicions of Britain's motives in signing the Anglo-German naval accord, and Benito Mussolini's stubborn insistence that he could accept no halfway solution of his quarrel with Ethiopia.

Eden, it was reported, told Hoare that his visit to Paris was just so much red ink on the peace ledger. Mussolini's attitude toward Ethiopia so greatly complicates the outlook, diplomatic quarters said, that this issue is regarded as the most serious of all.

FRENCH CHIEF OF STAF HAS SECRET TALK WITH DUCE

ROME, June 28.—(AP)—Informed circles said today the unannounced conference Maj. Gen. Marie Gustave Gamelin, chief of the general staf of the French army, had with Premier Mussolini yesterday was concerned with an Italo-French agreement for mutual military assistance.

Official sources, however, kept the purpose of the visit shrouded in mystery. No Italian newspaper published news of it and the French press did not announce Gamelin's departure for Rome.

Reliable informants said an Italo-French mutual assistance agreement might follow the lines of the air assistance accord reached during the visit of Gen. Victor Denain, French air minister, last May, which provided for close cooperation, including the exchange of aviation information, instructors, officers, and material. Strategic landing fields were designated in each country which the planes of either might use automatically in event of an attack.

POLES VOTE FOR DRASTIC REFORM OF GOVERNMENT

Corporative State Law Is Passed by Diet.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, June 28.—Maciej Rataj, former minister of agriculture and leader of the Peasant party, warned the Polish government today that if the people were deprived of an opportunity to fight out their differences on the floor of parliament they would fight them out in the streets.

Rataj's speech was received with a roar of applause from the opposition parties, which earlier in the day lost their fight to save parliament from dissolution. The diet [lower house], by a vote of 216 to 83, passed three laws governing the future election of the diet, senate, and president. These laws now go before the senate, where their passage is assured by the majority party founded by the late Marshal Pilsudski. With the passage of these laws Poland will become a state operated on corporative principles.

Foes to Boycott Election.

The National Democratic party, which is the largest opposition group, announced it would boycott the next elections, which will select a parliament of 200 members in place of the present membership of 440.

The Socialists charged that the government, by forcing the passage of a new constitution and electoral laws, has deprived 12,000,000 of Poland's 13,000,000 voters of their franchise.

The new laws specify that Poland shall be divided into 100 electoral districts and that the list of candidates to be presented to the voters must be formulated by municipal and regional government bodies, including city and district councils, trade and industry, agriculture, and professional and trade union organizations. The Socialists alleged that a majority of these bodies are under the direct or indirect control of the present government.

Warns of New Ruling Class.

The Socialist declaration further warned that the government, by these laws, is creating a new and privileged ruling class. The destruction of parliament, they protested, will set Poland back 175 years, when another privileged class was in power whose inability to govern resulted in Poland being divided among its enemies for 150 years.

The two communist delegates voiced their protests with shouts and were forcibly ejected from the building by police.

Under the new laws the senate would be decreased from 111 members to 96, one-third of whom are to be appointed by the president. The remainder will be elected by district electoral colleges comprised of citizens holding government decorations or having university educations, or members of local government organizations.

In passing the electoral law, Pilsudski's Nonpartisan party voted its own death warant, for in future elections political parties will play no rôle and their dissolution by government decree is anticipated by the opposition press.

FATHER COUGHLIN AT SOLDIERS' FIELD.

The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin wants to use Soldiers' field for a massmeeting in promotion of his National Union for Social Justice. The Chicago park commissioners have refused to rent him the stadium. They won't take his money and give him the meeting place, justifying themselves on the ground that his purposes are political and his topic controversial. He has come to court, and the park commissioners, by the ruling of Judge James J. Kelly, must argue their case on its merits.

Soldiers' field is put to many public uses. THE TRIBUNE has had it for athletic and musical purposes. Mr. Hearst, when France hurt his feelings, gathered his friends there to receive evidences of their regard. Gene Tunney had the long count there. Some of the ceremonies of the eucharistic congress were held there. Politics has used the field. Once when the Blue Eagle was still in the air Gen. Hugh Johnson, chief aviarist, spoke there for the NRA. Wherever the general was in those days there was controversy. If there was none he soon made it.

Discretion to permit the use of the park for public gatherings must rest with park commissioners within reason. Public gatherings must be consistent with public security, but it is to be accepted that neither privilege nor prejudice will govern the decision to let or to deny. The explanations made by the park commissioners, Mayor Kelly's appointees, are simple, and if they do not seem complete it is because Father Coughlin's doctrins and utterances please some people and make other people mad. Consequently when he is denied the use of the field some people will wonder who is mad and why.

One point should be made clear. Freedom of speech is not involved. No one is trying to shut Father Coughlin up. He is not being denied the right to say what he thinks, although his lawyer would have it appear so. Mr. Ettelson is an odd fish in this argument. When he was corporation counsel he was on the other side of the street, but this is his story now. Many places may be had in Chicago for a price and public meetings held. Authority has not told the priest that he cannot appear in Chicago and talk. That would be denying him freedom to speak, and it is not being done.

Some suspicious people have thought that Mr. Dunham, head of the park board and a Roosevelt administrator in this state, was influenced by the recollection of some of Coughlin's criticism of the President. Sometimes the priest is with Roosevelt and sometimes he is not.

Granting the commissioners the right to use their discretion, it does not appear that they have yet made out a case for their refusal. No probable public interest appears to deny the Detroit clergyman the privilege of speaking in Soldiers' field to as many people as want to hear him. No doubt many will, and naturally he wants the place which will hold the biggest crowd. The denial has already made more controversy and stirred up more feeling than his speech would do. And it has probably made his meeting a success.

Precedents are against the board, and that gives the decision a color of prejudice. It would have been better to have rented the field to Coughlin without questioning the suitability of his use of it.

THE EVOLUTION OF A NUISANCE.

When that section of the outer drive extending north from Wilson avenue to Foster avenue was opened for trafic it immediately became evident that it must have an adequate westbound as well as northbound outlet. Foster avenue, of course, was available, but it soon became congested and a street widening project was proposed as a remedy. As Foster avenue was one of the most heavily wooded of Chicago's thoroughfares, hundreds of splendid trees were sacrificed.

Despite this vandalism trafic conditions were greatly improved by the opening of the street, but this condition was short lived. A popular shopping district appeared here and there along the widened avenue, inducing a parking problem. A motorist, finding room only half a space in length, nosed his car into the curb, leaving the rear wheels to block one of the traffic lanes, and an indulgent or absentee trafic officer let him get away with it. Before the motorist had completed his purchases later arrivals had emulated his example and within a half hour a full block of diagonally parked cars was not only completely closing one moving lane of trafic but threatening the second and last moving lane when the diagonally parked motorists, their errands completed, backed away from the curb.

Foster avenue is merely the latest example of such abuses which can be found on Madison street, Roosevelt road, and many other widened arteries. Complete segregation of the moving trafic through the construction of elevated highways is the only solution to the problem of handling our constantly growing motor trafic.

DEATH AND TAXES.

III. THE EXTENT OF INHERITED WEALTH.

It is easier to speculate about the evils of inherited wealth than to get at the facts. Probably most people would agree that it is not desirable to allow wealth to pile up in immense family hoards, generation after generation, but the question remains whether any such process has been at work in a large way in this country. That is not an easy question to answer.

A few names like Astor, Vanderbilt, and du Pont have been the names of very rich men and women for a number of generations, but it is altogether possible that the proportion of the nation's wealth which is possessed by these and similar families has been considerably exaggerated in the public mind. For one thing, it is easy to confuse great social prestige with great wealth. The prestige often persists after the fortune has been reduced by losses and division among heirs to quite modest proportions.

We do know that the wisdom which forbade the entailment of estates and primogeniture in this country contributed to the break-up of the great fortunes of colonial and revolutionary days. Washington was supposed to have been the wealthiest man of his day, his wealth consisting largely of western lands, but his fortune, and those of all his wealthier contemporaries, so far as is known, have been fragmented. If any of their descendants possess great wealth today it is not through inheritance from the rich men of a century and a half ago.

In 1829 the founder of the Vanderbilt fortune started in business with a capital of less than $30,000. The Astor fortune is a little older and roughly contemporary with the du Pont. But most of the great accumulations of today are much younger in origin. In this connection it is instructive to take down a few of the books written in the muck-raking era 25 or 30 years ago. Many of the "malefactors of great wealth" of that period bear names which today are half forgotten. Their holdings were squeezed in the wringer of 1907, 1914, 1921, or 1929. Some fortunes survived these successive storms only to be broken up through division among heirs, through unwise investment, through profligacy, or something else.

Many, of course, have come through, but it is a striking fact that if those books were being written today a considerable number of new names would have to be added. By common assumption, for example, the richest man today is Henry Ford, but his name was just beginning to be known at that time. No one dreamed of counting him among the "malefactors."

It seems altogether probable that these newer fortunes will split up, by natural processes, more rapidly even than the older accumulations. That is because they represent, in the main, investment in productive enterprises in a period of rapid change in industrial technique. If these fortunes are to last they require a succession of industrial geniuses in control, and the probability of such a succession over several generations is not great.

The Astor fortune, consisting largely of urban real estate, could be held together by doing nothing. It was admirably adapted to management by conservative trustees. That kind of management would dissipate the Ford fortune at the rate of a hundred million dollars a year, as Mr. Ford himself demonstrated a few years ago when he delayed too long in changing his model to meet the public's taste.

The seeds of disintegration are planted in every rich man's hoard. Mr. Roosevelt proposes to water and cultivate them with a view to speeding the natural process. Perhaps he has in mind the statistical fact often cited that in the good year, 1929, the 36,000 richest American families had an aggregate income of nearly 10 billion dollars. [These families today, of course, have far less income and their capital accumulations have probably shrunk even faster because a considerable proportion of the income was in the form of salaries which have suffered relatively little.]

He may also have in mind the fact that over the long term the American people as a whole have enjoyed incomes but the incomes of the richest families have grown at a somewhat faster pace than those farther down the scale. Mr. Roosevelt proposes to check this tendency by increasing the income taxes and death duties of the very wealthy.

In a fourth and concluding article an attempt will be made to foresee the economic consequences of his program.

[Buffalo Express.]

Playing cards, it seems, were calendars before they were turned from that serious occupation to the lighter purpose of gaming. So Samuel Zovello reports in the Journal of Calendar Reform, a research quarterly issued by the World Calendar association of New York. According to Mr. Zovello, the first playing cards were weekly calendars kept by early Egyptian priests. The calendar for each week was kept on a separate card and these were combined into a pack representing the 52 weeks of the year. The joker stood for the 365th day.

Mr. Zovello writes that knowledge of the calendar was the exclusive possession of the Egyptian priesthood and was guarded as a religious secret by priests known as keepers of the days. These priests were the only men in Egypt who knew when to anticipate a rise in the River Nile and when to warn the population to flee before the river's advance.

The priests used hierogiyphics on their calendar cards, a cup for the first week, a star for the second, a spearhead for the third, and a spade for the fourth. Through succeeding centuries the cup has become a heart, the star first a French fleur de lys and then a club, the spearhead a diamond. But the spade has remained a spade.

In addition to these hierogiyphics the Egyptian calendar cards bore figures of Osiris, god of the harvest; Isis, goddess of the spring, and Horus, god of time, holding the measuring rod with which he was supposed to gauge the rising of the Nile. Osiris has become the king, Isis the queen, and Horus the jack. In spades, Jack Horus still holds his hourglass; in hearts, his leaf of the lotus.

So if your partner plays the wrong card or bids the wrong suit, remember that even the ancient Egyptians doubtless got their dates mixed occasionally and that Osiris, Isis, and Horus, like the weather men of today, probably served weather out of season now and then.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

AFTER WHILE we won't need kitchens at all. Just an electric stove over in the corner of the dining room, a can opener, and a corkscrew. I heard a low moan in my favorite grocery store and, turning, observed that a man, unmistakably English, had fainted dead away. We revived him, and he stood white and wan pointing with trembling finger at something he saw on the shelves which had so unnerved him. "I say," he gasped. "It isn't possible, is it? Oh, tell me they're not there, that I am only dreaming." I looked where he pointed and observed something I had never seen before. It was tea in glass bottles, tea already made, and all you had to do was open the bottle and then you could drink it cold or warm it up as you liked. "Tea in bottles, ready made," moaned the Englishman. "Why, tea must be made with boiling water and drunk immediately. They really can't bottle tea up like that, you know. There's a law against it; oh, there must be. In England if any one committed such a horrid crime he would be sent to the Tower and thrown into the darkest dungeon. Oh, monstrous, monstrous!" He was led away babbling incoherently while several people bought bottles of the tea and said they had used it before and that it was swell. All right, all right, it probably is, but what are we coming to? I ask you.

IN PERPLEXITY.

Love, you are almighty strange,
For you are this, and you are that
And never twice the same.
I thought you once that ecstasy
Which would not let one eat or rest
And skipped one's thoughts in dizzy paths
I knew you then a timid thing
And skittish as a hunted hare
For fear the breathlessness should cease
Or soon be no more there.
Once you were a joyous thing
Of gayety and happiness
And not a need to cling,
For laughter was spontaneous
And lips could kiss or speak or smile
And eyes could sparkle, hands could touch
With not a thought of afterwhile.
But Love, you were that ripping pain
That vise which tightened on the heart
Until a blackness seized the brain
And split the soul apart.
Love, you were not love but hate
Or Hate, you were not hate but love
Which knew itself too late.
You looked once from a pair of eyes
Which challenged and I took the dare.
You honed the wit, electric wise,
You charged the very air
So that one's fingers just to touch
Sparked, and one's eyes leapt lightninglike,
Words sputtered incoherently
Were grounded ere they chanced to strike.
But you have been monotony
And loneliness and you have beat
Upon my ears as ocean waves
Which pound, retreat, and pound, retreat.
Love, you are almighty strange,
Both restlessness and sweet content
But never twice the same,
Voice lifted in triumphant song,
Voice hushed and spent with sighs,
You are that soft adoring look,
You are those reddened eyes,
You are that ugly angry thing
Loud with recriminations,
You are a miracle of peace

P. S. MCDONALD.

IT REALLY SEEMS quite silly to go to the lakes or the rivers for a swim this summer. One can get just as wet in going to the office or dodging down to the corner to get a can of condensed cream. "For the rain it raineth every day." And likewise every night. And every hour.

THAT'S WHAT MAKES 'EM MADDING.

Sir: I really must protest most earnestly against the silly notion expressed by Greta Garbo, who said she left us and fled to her native Sweden so that she might be alone. Most absurd! She could stay in any country and be alone by merely eating garlic. It keeps one really, as the poet puts it, "Far from the madding crowd." JAZBO OF OLD DUBUQUE.

"IS MAN IMPROVING?" is the title of an article in July Scribner's that set me thinking. Is he? Sometimes I think he is and sometimes I think he isn't. But I read the article and I decided that he was. And five minutes afterwards around the corner a fiend almost cut my toes off with his car. Anyhow, I thought, even if man is not improving, woman is. And then in the elevator a woman took out her reticule and mopped her face with a chamois skin and put on rouge and some kind of red stuff on her lip and then dabbed powder at her countenance. I wish I had had a canteen full of water and a folding canvas washbowl and a towel so that I could have washed my face. Or I might have carried a safety razor in my pocket with water and soap so that I could have shaved while the lady was performing her toilet functions. On the whole I believe man has improved, but I won't go so far about women. They will clean their faces in public.

AH, AND INDEED! In these parlous times 'tis much better to be rich in purity, in sweetness, in self-sacrifice, in nobleness, in contentment, and in virtue than to be rich in money. They can't tax purity and sweetness and virtue. I used to think those things were just the baloney. But gosh! I'd sooner possess them now than a steam yacht and a twenty-four cylinder imported limousine.

SEASICKNESS.

SEASICKNESS is a nervous reflex that arises from persistent irritation of certain nerves located in the organ of hearing [the inner ear] or in the stomach or in both. We must not blame nerves for objecting to unusual stimuli, as we depend on them for our safety as well as for the smooth functioning of the muscles of the body. Hence, whenever the body finds itself in an abnormal situation something is bound to happen.

Animals as well as man are subject to the condition. Horses, cattle, sheep, and dogs, because their hearing mechanisms are similar to those of man, can be affected. It has been observed that infants and deaf mutes are immune to seasickness. This is understandable when we realize that in infants the nerve of the labyrinth has not been fully developed, while in mutes the important nerve of hearing is lacking or has been destroyed.

As a rule the symptoms are ascribed to some disturbance of the labyrinth of the ear, a structure which has much to do with maintaining the sense of equilibrium. We know that disease of the labyrinth is often followed by marked vertigo [dizziness].

Various experiments have been performed in an attempt to interpret seasickness. By means of a rotating chair an individual can be studied in the laboratory. After a short period of whirling in this chair, dizziness, unsteadiness of gait, and peculiar muscle movements are brought about. Typical movements of the eyes to the right and left [nystagmus] are also observed. After a short period of rest all symptoms recede, but if the individual is whirled at frequent intervals typical manifestations of seasickness appear—nausea, vomiting, slowing of the pulse, pallor of the face, and intense headache. The severity of the illness is increased if the subject moves his head backward and forward during the periods of rotation. By this combined procedures all the semicircular canals of the ear are stimulated.

The movements of a ship and a motor car are somewhat alike. Each roll or pitch of the vessel affects the labyrinth of the ear at the beginning and end of the movement and if the rhythm is continuous the entire system reacts to the unending repetition of these shocks.

In car sickness the dominant sensation is one of nausea. This is followed by vomiting, sweating, a profuse flow of saliva, and the appearance of "goose flesh" on the skin. Whenever nausea occurs there is a backward movement of the stomach that may result in vomiting, as the normal forward contractions of the stomach are stopped. Strangely enough, car sickness is aggravated by hunger and is more frequent in those who travel with an empty stomach.

Disturbances of the digestive tract often mark the onset of seasickness, hence before taking a long motor or bus trip or ocean voyage, indiscretions of diet should be avoided as well as mental and physical fatigue. Usually there is so much fuss about packing and departing that the traveler arrives on board physically fatigued and susceptible to slight stimuli. For this reason some simple sedative such as sodium bromide is often prescribed. After the symptoms become evident, attempting to walk about only aggravates the condition and usually the greatest comfort will be found in lying down with the eyes closed. Of the numerous remedies recommended, few are of value, although every seasoned traveler has a favorite prescription.

Persistent nausea and vomiting often lead to a serious fluid loss and acidosis or alkalosis may develop. For this reason even seasick victims should take fluids even though a portion or all is rather promptly expelled.

Some real friendly chap who possesses a concrete nervous system will try to persuade you that the symptoms are due to your imagination. Keep him with you just long enough to enable you to grasp some hard movable object, then summon your fast failing powers and hurl the missil in his direction with accuracy and speed.

SPASTIC COLITIS.

Mrs. K. K. writes: Is spastic colitis curable? Is diet the only remedy besides relaxation? I have been strictly following a bland diet for over three years and although I am improved I still have some distress and can deviate from my diet but little. My trouble started about seven years ago, the symptoms being extreme bloating and distension after meals. I was also constipated. I had my appendix removed, thinking this would help, but it only aggravated the condition. After that I had soreness and rigidity in abdomen and alternating attacks of constipation and diarrhea. I am 27 years old, and X-ray pictures reveal severe contraction of the colon.

REPLY.

Spastic colitis is often curable, but it may require a long time. There may be a nervous condition that is stimulating the sympathetic nerve supply of the colon, thus holding the bowel in a chronically contracted state. There are many methods of treatment. Your symptoms, of course, are due to a cramp in the thin muscle of the bowel and this can be as painful as a cramp in the leg. Heat is the best remedy. A full tub bath as hot as can be borne, for 20 to 30 minutes, will relax the abdominal muscles as well as the colon. Use a hot water bottle or an electric pad over the abdomen when lying down. Mental discipline is also useful.

MEASURE THE BONES.

C. W. writes: Is there any definite means of determining the sex of a normal skeleton?

REPLY:

By measuring the bones of the skeleton the sex may be determined. The pelvic bones are peculiarly characteristic.

POSSIBLE SOURCE.

F. writes: During the cold months old automobile battery boxes which were lined with lead were gathered and used for fuel. Two members of one family were seriously poisoned. Lead fumes from the burning boxes were inhaled.

REPLY.

TERMS OF CONTRACT.

Chicago, June 15.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I gave a lawyer three real estate bonds of $500 each as collateral on a note for $1,000. The principal has all been paid and I hold receipts for the amount. The note called for 6 per cent interest on maturity, which I am willing to pay. 1. He also insists I pay 7 per cent from the maturity date to the time all the principal was paid. This I consider excessive and [2] have offered 3½ per cent, in accordance with the reduced interest rate to today. If I do not pay the 7 per cent he threatens to sell the bonds. 3. Can he sell them without my written consent? 4. Can he sell them without notifying me? 5. Would any one be silly enough to buy them? 6. What value would they have to the purchaser? 7. Could he eventually obtain title to the apartment on which they are issued without producing the balance of the bonds? H. S. D.

1. He is not in a position to force this unless the contract so provides.
2. You should pay the 2 per cent for the full period up to the time of your payment.
3. It seems probable that they were placed in his hands on the understanding that he could sell them if you did not pay the amount due. If you make a valid tender of the amount due in accordance with the wording of the contract, then he would have no right to sell.
4. Depends on the wording of the agreement.
5. It seems probable that they have a market value.
6. Depends on facts that are not before us.
7. In general, no.

TO SECURE COPY OF WILL.

Chicago, June 22.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My brother died in California leaving a small estate. 1. How could I get a copy of the will and what [2] is the cost of this service? P. B.

1. Write to the clerk of the Probate court at the county seat of the county in which he resided at the time of his death.
2. The cost of a certified copy would depend on the length of the will.

JUDGMENT NOTE.

Elkhart, Ind., June 21.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. How long a time will a "demand confess judgment note" be good before it is outlawed? Interest due every six months has been promptly paid. No payment was made on principal. 2. Is a demand for payment necessary to retain my right of collection? My sister and I hold a waranty deed to Nebraska real estate. Joint tenancy interest is vested in survivor. Property was given to us by our father as a gift or distribution of his estate. We are the only heirs. 3. Can either of us force the other to sell or sign a deed in case of sale? 4. Can either one force the other to change the deed from a joint to common tenancy? 5. How can we change title, both agreeing, from joint tenancy to common tenancy? C. N. H.

1. The Indiana limitation period is ten years from the maturity date, but the statute would not run as long as the payments were kept up. Indiana does not permit judgments by confession.
2. Not as long as the interest payments are being kept up.
3. Yes, by partition proceedings.
4. No, but if either one of you conveyed his one-half to a third party this would destroy the joint tenancy and survivor features, and upon your repurchasing such one-half the tenancy would be in common.
5. See 4.

The DEBUNKER

By John Harvey Furbay, Ph. D.

The word "doctor" means a teacher. The term has been applied since ancient times to teachers of various subjects—originally only to teachers of theology and law. Later this title was used for "degrees," but it was not until about 1150 A. D. that it was conferred as a university degree. It now is the highest of all attainable university degrees. Medical men were known as physicians until the fourteenth century, when they borrowed the term "doctor," and have used it since as a university degree, but not as a professional label; for medical "doctors" are really physicians—and teachers are the true doctors.

EDUCATION.

Chicago, June 26.—I see where New York has dropped mathematics, science, and foreign languages from the list of required subjects for high school graduation. I propose the following high school curriculum:

Swimming, I.
Swimming, II.
Baseball pitching, I.
Baseball pitching, II.
Knitting [for boys and girls], I. and II.
Social dating, I.-IV.
Dancing from A to Z.
Cut four years to two and give them a Ph. D. after the two years.

THE DEBUNKER CORRECTED.

Crown Point, Ind., June 26.—Your Debunker's caption is correct, but his sketch is incorrect. A full water pipe will discharge less water than one that is 93 per cent full, but when the level falls below 81 per cent of the maximum diameter it will discharge more water when full. The sketch is misleading because the depth of water is less than one-half; hence, the pipe would discharge more water when full than when at the depth shown in the sketch.

W. G. STUHLMACHER.

AN ADMIRED CARTOON.

Keokuk, Ia., June 26.—It seems to me your "Wrecking the House to Catch a Rat" in today's TRIBUNE says more [and more of something that should be said] than any cartoon in all the Orr productions. It tells the whole story and answers the half wit who would tell you of the good that has been done by the New Deal, all at the same glance.

My enthusiasm is unbounded when I contemplate the good such a picture can do in our all but lost cause, and wouldn't it be well to reproduce this cartoon marked "by request," many, many times?

HOWARD BELL.

ALABAMA PITTS.

Chicago, June 24.—It seems to me it would be kind of all reporters writing anything at all about Pitts to eliminate a constant reference to his having been at Sing Sing. He is trying his best, and why constantly throw Sing Sing at him?

A. D. R.

TOKENS.

Chicago, June 26.—How much money is 1½ mills? This figure becomes important to citizens of Illinois in view of the notice published in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE on June 26, 1935, to the effect that tokens for the above amount will be issued by the state of Illinois to facilitate the payment of the "occupational tax" of 3 per cent on all retail sales. One of these tokens will be used by the consumer for the payment of tax on a 5 cent purchase.

Adults can use them for poker chips since they possess all the desirable qualities, such as lightness in weight, inexpensiveness, and durability. It is true that playing poker for money is considered as gambling and is illegal; but are these tokens to be considered as money?

The answer to the above question is serious. Article 1, section 8, paragraph 5 of the United States constitution gives congress the power "to coin money, regulate the value thereof . . . " I have always considered this power as exclusive, especially in view of section 10 of the same article, which says that "No state shall . . . coin money . . . " If the state can coin money, or "tokens," so-called, for 1½ mills, nothing can prevent it from coining them for any larger amount. Each state could thereby issue its own coins, contrary to the express provision of the United States constitution.

From all angles I consider the issuance of 1½ mill tokens by the state of Illinois the most asinine measure ever proposed by a civilized government.

RAYMOND L. JONES.

GAMBLING IN THEATERS.

Chicago, June 27.—Ineffectual efforts to ban handbook gambling have for many years convinced me of the wisdom of permitting handbook operation under a legally licensed plan embodying restrictions pertaining to minors as participants. I am pleased to note that the mayor agrees with my views in this direction.

However, it does seem somewhat ironic that theaters have become instruments of instruction to youngsters in the art of gambling. Their many money games—in the form of attendance prizes—certainly do not keep the temptation of gambling away from our youngsters.

TIENTSIN, China, June 26.—[Via air mail to Hongkong to avoid censor.]—Japanese military authorities, with the coöperation of the powerful Osaka cotton industrialists, are embarking on a plan to convert Chinese territories north of the Yellow river into a vast cotton plantation. The object is to make Japan independent of American cotton.

When the Japanese speak of the territories north of the Yellow river, they mean the ancient course of the stream, which previously flowed toward the sea south of the Shantung peninsula. The areas embraced in the Japanese scheme, therefore, include Shantung, Hopei, and Shansi, and portions of northern Kiangsu and Honan provinces.

Plan Submitted to Nanking.

The Japanese "far eastern cotton bloc plan," which long has been contemplated, became a matter of official record last week when it was presented to the Nanking government by Ambassador Akira Ariyoshi and was confirmed at Peiping by Maj. Gen. Kanji Doihara.

Gen. Doihara is popularly known as the "Lawrence of Manchukuo," emulator of the famous Briton who brought the fabulously rich near eastern oil reserves under the British flag during the world war.

Gen. Doihara is attempting a similar exploit through the coördination of activities of the Japanese imperial army together with the financial resources of the Osaka industrialists and the diplomatic weapon wielded by Koki Hirota, Japanese foreign minister.

Foundation of Japanese Drive.

The plan provides for the conversion of the northern Chinese provinces into a vast cotton plantation in a five year program under which the Japanese would supply seeds, technical instruction, and money, while the Chinese would agree to sell the entire crop to Japan.

Gen. Doihara admitted that the cotton bloc plan constituted the foundation of the present Japanese drive in north China. He expressed the hope that in five years Japan will be made independent of both American and Indian cotton.

Evidence is conflicting as to whether China has officially agreed to the scheme. A complete censorship of reports bearing on the project has caused American diplomatic and consular officials in north China to believe that China has acquiesced.

Japs Take Over Mills.

This belief is based upon the fact that most Chinese cotton mills in north China are being handed over to Japanese for operation, while the Chinese are offering no objection to the free distribution by Japan of American cotton seeds. Fifty thousand pounds of seeds were handed out last year and a much larger amount this year to farmers along northern Chinese railroads.

According to authoritative information here the Japanese already have converted 750,000 acres in southern Manchukuo into the cultivation of cotton, but the quality is poor due to the climatic handicap. For this reason they now are turning to north China, where they hope to convert 2,000,000 acres into cotton lands next year.

Since this area already is a heavy cotton producer, Japan's chief problem is to raise a better quality of cotton, which it hopes to accomplish through the free distribution of American seeds, with technical supervision and regulations enforced by a special police force subject to the orders of the imperial Japanese army.

Area Yields 500,000 Bales.

According to the figures of the Chinese Cotton Statistics association, north China normally produces more than 500,000 bales of cotton. Only 20 per cent of this, however, is suitable for use by the Osaka mills.

The Japanese have agreed to purchase a portion of the inferior crop once the cotton bloc plan becomes effective. This can be used in the munitions industry.

One of the objectives of the Japanese plan is to have the mills in China specialize in lower grade textiles suitable for the Chinese masses, while the Osaka mills will specialize in finer weaves required by occidental and world markets.

Thus the Japanese hope to deal a death blow to American raw cotton production, while simultaneously killing the British Lancashire cotton industry, which already is languishing due to Osaka's competition. In 1933 Tientsin exported 250,000 bales, half of which went to Japan. Last year the exports dropped to half that figure due to the disturbed political and economic situation.

BARCELONA PLACED UNDER MARTIAL LAW TO END TERROR WAVE

MADRID, June 28.—(AP)—Premier Alejandro Lerroux's cabinet, in extraordinary session, tonight declared martial law in the city and province of Barcelona in an effort to halt increasing terrorism. Ordinary police methods have been futile against the wave of bombings, shootings, robberies and acts of sabotage, it was stated.

Lerroux and his ministers held an unannounced meeting. The premier said afterward that the cabinet felt drastic measures were necessary.

The ministers of war and interior will go to Barcelona by airplane tomorrow, he said, personally to direct the start of the "greatest cleanup of crime ever launched in Spain." All known gangsters, terrorists and hoodlums will be rounded up and be given long prison terms, Lerroux said.

RUSSIANS WAR ON CHURCHES AS RELIGION GAINS

Properties Seized and Pastors Exiled.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, June 28.—A religious revival has made its appearance in Russia, according to the central committee of the Soviet Society of Atheists, known as Bezboshniki.

The society has appealed to the commissariat of interior—formerly the G. P. U. [secret police]—to protect Bezboshniki groups from the proselyting activities of various religious sects.

The appeal especially mentions Baptists and Methodists, alleging that there are 403 new congregations. The society insists that the government should curb their activities.

Pastors Are Exiled.

The journal Bezboshnik, official organ of the Russian atheists, reports that the commissariat already has come to their assistance in Irkutsk and Simferopol, where several Baptist and Methodist churches have been closed, their properties confiscated, and their pastors and elders exiled to Siberia.

Renewed persecution of Lutheran congregations also is reported. The Riga Lutheran committee, which attempts to aid Lutherans in Russia, reports that only 22 pastors remain alive and at liberty of the 300 who were guiding congregations in the early years of the bolshevik revolution.

During the last 12 months, the committee reports, 42 pastors have been imprisoned, their congregations liquidated, and their churches confiscated. Appeals by Lutheran churches outside Russia against religious persecution brought the same reply from Foreign Commissar Litvinov as he gave President Roosevelt in 1933: "The soviet laws allow religious liberty and equality."

Contradicted by Pravda.

Contrasting with this official statement, the Moscow Pravda, official newspaper of the communist party, in an article attacking the activities of religious sects in Russia, states:

"We must recall Stalin's statement to the first American labor delegation which visited Moscow in September, 1927, when he said: 'The communist party cannot remain neutral toward religion. It conducts propaganda against all religious prejudices because the party defends science, and all religions contain something opposed to science. The communist party will continue propaganda against religion, because this is one of the best means of destroying the influence of the clergy, who support the exploiting classes. The communist party cannot remain neutral toward believers or religious leaders who poison the conscience of workers.'"

Pravda says the anti-religious activities of government organizations are unsatisfactory, and urges the liquidation of all churches in Russia.

RUSSIA PREPARES FOR WAR! SAYS JAP WAR CHIEF

Warns Nation of Danger on Manchukuo Border.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, June 29. [Saturday.]—Gen. Senjuro Hayashi, Japanese minister of war, today sounded a grave warning of the increasing danger of war between Japan and Russia as a result of the continued massing of soviet troops on the frontier of Manchukuo. He charged that Russia already has more than 200,000 soldiers on this frontier.

Gen. Hayashi, in a speech lasting an hour before the National Policy council, composed of former premiers and leading statesmen, said he was convinced as a result of his recent trip to Manchukuo that Russia is rushing warlike preparations such as sending up thousands of troops each month, setting up permanent trenches, and increasing the far eastern air force.

Cites Border Skirmishes.

Although there is no outstanding political cause for conflict between Japan and Russia at present, he said, there is grave danger of war so long as this situation is permitted to continue, for at many posts Russian and Japanese troops face each other across the river, being separated by only a few hundred feet.

Moreover, he said, there has been an annoying recurrence of skirmishes on the border, due to the penetration of Russians into Manchukuo, taking advantage of the fact that Japan has only a small force stationed in this region. He said that unless the Japanese strength is increased, he fears the danger of war.

Gen. Hayashi said wars generally can be checked by equilibrium of military power. Consequently, he said, it is necessary for Japan greatly to strengthen its border defense, particularly since the proposed creation of a joint commission to look into frontier disputes must be regarded as practically useless.

Cites Franco-German Cass.

Before the world war, Gen. Hayashi said, France felt, because of Germany's financial condition, that Germany had no intention of waging war and failed to consider its border defenses. Germany's strength suddenly increased, he said, breaking the balance and resulting in war.

This, Hayashi declared, should serve as a good warning to Japan. Even if a nonaggression pact should be signed and the Russian troops withdrawn, he said, the danger will remain if the defense works already completed are not destroyed.

Great significance is attached to Gen. Hayashi's statement. It is felt the army is likely to demand a huge increase in next year's budget.

[Copyright; 1935; By the Associated Press.]

PEIPING, China, June 28.—Chinese troops, rebellious at Japanese dictated orders for the evacuation of Hopei province, fought their way to the very gates of this "Forbidden City" today only to be beaten back by loyal troops after an all night battle.

Terror gripped Peiping during the twelve hours the fighting raged, but best information available indicated only one civilian was killed. The city's defenders suffered no casualties.

The mutineers were under command of Gen. Tsai, one of the subordinates of the ousted Hopei governor, Gen. Hu Hsueh-chung. At Japan's instance Tsai had been ordered to leave Hopei by June 25. He failed to go and the Peiping military council ordered his arrest. He was brought here yesterday.

Last night his men seized an armored train and attacked, only to be defeated.

BRIDE TO ENTER 'PHOBIC PRISON' TO AID TEACHER

Madison, Wis., June 28.—(AP)—A bride stood on the threshold of the "phobic prison" tonight, ready to help beat down the invisible walls which for years have confined Prof. William Ellery Leonard, 59, of the University of Wisconsin.

Grace Golden, 27, a university graduate student, is the woman who will share the "mental prison" with the white haired poet. The marriage is planned for tomorrow.

The wife's duty, it is said, will be to remain at home so Leonard never will find it empty or experience the terrors of a "distance phobia," which have held him within an area of six square blocks from his home for more than twenty years.

Last autumn he extended "his beat" by venturing downtown and recently he said his condition was improved. Leonard attributes his condition to reaction to a scare as a child. He said the fright grew after the suicide of his first wife in 1911. His second wife divorced him, describing the sect of his phobia as "cruel and inhuman treatment."

MISSING GIRL, 9, IS FOUND RAPED, SLAIN IN MARSH

Greenville, N. Y., June 28.—[Special.]—The body of 9 year old Helen Glenn, daughter of a Methodist minister and Greenville's "perfect school girl," was found in a lonely marsh today after a two day search. Police said she had been raped and murdered.

The girl had been sought since her disappearance Wednesday night when on her way to school to receive a prize for perfect attendance.

Father Has Suspicion.

The girl's father, the Rev. Ernest Glenn, said "somebody near Greenville is suspected of attacking and killing my child."

A tiny wound was found beneath the girl's right eye. Corporal Fred Hillstein said it might have been made with a penknife. After a preliminary examination it was said no other wounds were found on the body.

Farmer Heard Cries.

Paul Austin, a farmer who lives nearby, told authorities today he heard "mysterious noises" in the swamp Wednesday night. He added that he was "almost positive he heard frantic human cries."

Troopers were investigating information given them by the girl's father that he was threatened several years ago by an inmate of the state institution at Napanoch. The convict told the minister, who then was chaplain at the institution, that he would "get even" with him, police were told. The convict has since been released.

Meridian, Miss., June 28.—(AP)—A severe rain and thunder storm broke over Fred and Al Key's endurance plane late today and when stabilizer trouble developed the brothers circled close over the airfield, prepared for an emergency landing.

The flyers, who yesterday established a new world's endurance flying record, kept in constant touch with an anxious ground crew.

The weather was so bad the Keys at first radioed they did not think it would be possible to make the regular refueling contact, but later instructed the ground plane to go up.

At 11:20 p. m. [Chicago time] the brothers had been in sustained flight 586 hours.

Dr. E. B. Key and Mrs. Key, parents of the flyers, and the flyers' wives, were visibly worried and expressed the wish the pilots would come down. However, they refrained from appealing to the Keys to make a landing.

The refuelers expressed belief the brothers would fight the storm as long as they could. They said the Keys took on a full load of gasoline.

DEFENSE FIGHTS BARBOUR'S STORY IN WILL HEARING

Attorneys for William George of Aurora, executor of the will of the late Mrs. Fannie B. Henderson of Aurora, yesterday began the presentation of evidence before Federal Judge John P. Barnes in opposition to the suit of Lionel R. Barbour, Detroit attorney, who is seeking the $650,000 estate left by Mrs. Henderson on the contention that he was her common law husband. The will left the money for construction of an old peoples' home in Aurora.

Attorney Cassius Poust, who with Attorney John K. Newhall is representing George, began the reading of the first of 27 depositions to be offered by the defense. Charles J. Plastow, foreman in an automobile factory in Detroit, deposed that he had been asked by Barbour to testify that in 1925, the year of the supposed common law marriage, Mrs. Henderson had been introduced to him as "Mrs. Barbour." Plastow said he refused, claiming he had never met her in that manner.

It is the contention of the defense that even if a common law marriage existed, such a ceremony is illegal in Illinois, and therefore Barbour has no right to the estate. The hearing was continued until today when other depositions will be read.

OLD SAYING RUNS TRUE; CURIOSITY KILLS THE CAT

Almost everybody has heard of the old adage that curiosity killed a cat. It is true. The cat killed was one that in this mundane life was known as Mae West and was employed as a fulltime mouser in the Log Cab-In tavern at 5929 South Halsted street.

The tavern is undergoing the ministrations of interior decorators. Part of their equipment consisted of several cans of creamy looking paint. It was this paint that aroused Mae West's curiosity. She stuck a paw into one can and, discovering it did not contain cream—she could tell by the consistency—overturned it. All four of the cat's feet were involved in the sticky stuff.

This maddened her. She scratched a few patrons. Then she leaped on the counter and batted off two liquor bottles. The proprietress, Mrs. Mae Cullerton, said: "Scat!" Mae West said: "Pht!" and meant it, whereupon she attacked and routed Mrs. Cullerton and Mrs. Cullerton's son Thomas. That left her in complete possession. But not for long. Policeman John Watson of the Englewood station was summoned and he shot Mae West.

Things are now nearly normal at the Log Cab-In. When patrons want to know why there are paint smudges on the bar Mrs. Cullerton reminds them that curiosity killed a cat.

COLLISION VICTIM AWARDED $55,000 IN INJURY ACTION

Preihs of Pana, who is sitting in the Circuit court here, awarded damages of $55,000 yesterday to Sam Feldman, 24 years old, 3512 West 12th place, a bookkeeper, in his personal injury suit against Samuel Kunin, 73 years old, head of a wholesale grocery company bearing his name.

Feldman alleged he incurred a back injury and a dislocated pelvis when an automobile in which Kunin and his family were riding and which was driven by their chauffeur, collided with the car in which Feldman was a passenger while rounding a curve on U. S. highway 20 near Chesterton, Ind., on May 13, 1934.

According to the evidence Kunin's car was on the wrong side of the four lane highway when the accident occurred.

WOMAN LEAPS 18 FLOORS TO DEATH ON MICHIGAN AVE.

Mrs. Edith L. Nelson, 29 years old, of Blanchardville, Wis., was killed yesterday when she plunged from an 18th floor window of the 30 North Michigan Avenue building. Her body struck an automobile in front of the building, narrowly missing pedestrians.

Mrs. Nelson was the wife of Dr. Neils Nelson, dentist of Blanchardville. Several days ago she came to Chicago and was a visitor at the home of Mrs. Eunice Smith, 4819 Roscoe street. She had been suffering recently from mental and nervous diseases.

Accompanied by Mrs. Smith, she went yesterday to the office of Dr. Gilbert Marquardt in room 1812 of the 30 North Michigan building, which is occupied almost exclusively by physicians and dentists. Dr. Marquardt was in his inner office preparing to examine the patient when she walked over to a window of the reception room, raised it and leaped out into the street.

EMPLOYES SHARE IN ESTATE LEFT BY HUGO DALMAR

Twenty-five employés of the insurance agency of the late Hugo Dalmar will share in his estate, it was revealed yesterday when his will was admitted to probate. The bulk of the estate, estimated in "excess of $20,000," is left to the widow, Mrs. Alma Dalmar, 935 Edgemere court, Evanston, a son, and a daughter. The will directs that each of the twenty-five employés be given $100. Larger gifts totaling $6,500 are left to other employés, including $1,000 each to Blufus F. Willis, houseman, and Mrs. Nellie Benton, laundress for the Dalmar family. Mr. Dalmar died last March 18 at the age of 61.

The following additional wills were also admitted to probate:

LE ROY MILLNER, died May 14. Estate $17,000 to widow and two sons. Myra B. Millner, widow, executrix.

WILLIAM F. RUESCH, died May 24. Estate $17,000 to widow, two sons, and four daughters. Arthur Holste, executor.

CONVICTS FLEE PRISON; FILLING STATION HELD UP

A few hours after two convicts escaped yesterday from the honor farm of the Joliet penitentiary two bandits answering their descriptions held up the filling station of H. H. Hancock on route 7, eight miles south of Joliet, and took $5.

The men who escaped are Harold McAllister, 25 years old, serving one year to life for burglary, and Jesse Chastine, 36 years old, serving a one to 14 year term for manslaughter. Hancock said that one of the men who held him up had a gun.

This man answered the description of McAllister and was wearing clothing that resembled that worn at the honor farm. After the robbery, Hancock said, the men drove south in an old Ford roadster.

HORNER GRANTS 10 DAY REPRIEVE TO 3 SLAYERS

Springfield, Ill., June 28.—(AP)—Gov. Horner this afternoon granted a ten day reprieve for three East St. Louis men under sentence to be electrocuted in Chester penitentiary after midnight.

The stay of execution was requested by John Karnes, East St. Louis attorney, who was refused a writ of supersedeas by Chief Justice Clyde E. Stone of the Illinois Supreme court at Peoria last night. During the ten days Karnes will take appeals to other Supreme court justices.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Norman Barry, local NBC announcer and commenator, was severely injured Thursday night when his automobile overturned near Rapid City, S. D., where he was on duty in connection with the U. S. Army Air corps-National Geographic society stratosphere balloon camp awaiting suitable weather conditions for a takeup to the upper regions.

Driving alone from the stratocamp to Rapid City, Barry lost control of his car, which plunged into a ditch, turning over and pinning him beneath it. Meager reports indicate that his chest was crushed and his back severely injured. Barry is in the Black Hills Methodist hospital at Rapid City. Stuart Dawson was dispatched by plane yesterday to replace Barry at Rapid City.

Charles Francis [Socker] Coe will broadcast the New York International Golden Gloves bouts from Yankee stadium Tuesday evening for the Mutual Broadcasting system. W-G-N will carry this broadcast for listeners in this region. This will be Coe's first appearance at the mike since he announced the Sharkey-Schmeling bout in 1932. Coe is well known as a writer of fiction, particularly crime stories.

The Chicago Cubs-Cincinnati Reds night game on Monday evening at Crosley field, Cincinnati, will be broadcast by WIND with Russ Hodges at the mike. The broadcast will start at 9 o'clock and will rune for the duration of the game.

Mrs. Jesse Crawford, the former Helen Anderson, will substitute for her husband on his NBC organ concerts while he spends a few days under observation at Augustana hospital. Crawford will enter the hospital tomorrow. . . . Murray Forbes, Al Hoofingham, the head man on NBC's Hoofinghams, is to be written out of the show for a few days while he goes to St. Luke's hospital for an operation.

Edsel Ford will speak tomorrow evening on the final program of the CBS series, presenting Victor Kolar and a symphony orchestra with guest artists, at 8 o'clock. Frederick Jagel, operatic tenor, will be the soloist.

The Chicago Symphony orchestra, directed by Eric DeLamarter, will give the first concert in the civic concert series from the Grant park bandshell on Monday evening. A half hour of this program from 9:30 to 10 will be broadcast over WENR-NBC. First nine of these concerts are sponsored by NBC and Chicago Federation of Musicians.

ROB MEAT MARKET.

GIRL, ENGAGED TO WED JEW, ANGERS NAZIS; VANISHES

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

LOBAU, Germany, June 28.—This little Saxon town is in turmoil over the fate of a Christian girl who disappeared following the arrest at Leipzig of her fiancé, a Jewish business man named Valentine. The authorities informed Valentine's family of his arrest as a result of having engaged himself to marry a Christian. Valentine is being held in a concentration camp.

The girl was taken into custody, supposedly by police or Nazi Storm Troopers, and hurried away to an unrevealed destination. Efforts of friends to learn her whereabouts met with stolid official silence.

The incident is declared by observers to be another example of the arbitrary arrest system now in force under which local officials may lock up whomever they please without bringing any specific charge. There is no law or decree on the statute book justifying the arrest of a Jew because he has become engaged to a Christian girl.

CHURCH TOWERS TOPPLE AS QUAKE ROCKS GERMANY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 28.—Considerable damage was reported today following upon an earthquake which rocked southeastern Germany last night. It was the most severe quake Germany has experienced since 1911. Villages in the mountains of Wuerttemberg suffered greater damage than cities and towns in the valleys.

Church towers in Kappel and Kansachs, Wuerttemberg, toppled and crashed into the auditoriums of the churches. Priests risked their lives to rescue holy relics from the altar. The castle of the prince of Thurn and Taxis was evacuted because of the danger of crumbling walls, which were cracked.

In Riedlingen and Buchau, near Friedrichshafen, chimneys crashed into the streets. The shock also was felt in Frankfurt-on-Main. Seismographs in Stuttgart, Karlsruhe, and Freiburg cracked under the strain.

Former College Student Hangs Himself in Hotel

Harlin McCartin, 23 years old, hanged himself yesterday with a wire to a hook in a bathroom at the Halwood hotel, 740 Englewood avenue, where he made his home. The body was discovered by a bellboy. Elmer Morgan, 6317 Normal avenue, told the police that McCartin, who was night chef in a restaurant at 6215 South Halsted street, was formerly a student at the University of Illinois, but quit in 1933 after finishing his sophomore year. He had since been striving, Morgan said, to save enough money to finish the four year course. Both Morgan and McCartin formerly lived at Egan, Ill., near Rockford.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

It's open season on the sun protection preparations, friends.. Judging by the array of unguents and lotions that have inundated us in the last few weeks, those of us who are outdoor spirits by nature but indoor souls by complexion are going to have a chance to change our summer ways.

For the average type of skin—the kind that will burn or tan depending on how it is treated—there's a perfectly elegant product in the shops, and one that will take the sting out of many a lazy beaching-spent afternoon. It's almost sure-fire enough to turn the fairest skinned among you into a Hindu princess, too. You've guessed it! It's a beach oil, and one of the nicest we know of.

It's pleasant to apply, moreover, and has a fresh fragrance that doesn't suffer by warmth. Not as heavy or "gooey" as many beach oils, it still does the trick and will induce that golden, toasted brown that will be the envy of both the too pale and the blue-black beach enthusiasts.

We won't go so far as to say that nobody will guess that you have applied it. It doesn't quite do the disappearing act, and you will glisten a bit as you sit and take your ease in the company of Old Sol. But it isn't the heavy, sticky variety that scoops up quantities of the beach and leaves you looking like an animated sandpile, either.

From the standpoint of packaging we think the house that puts out this product has pulled a trump. Its smart bottle, capped with an ivory incrusted bee, has a trick little pair of raffia handles that make it the handiest thing in the world to swing over your arm as you saunter down to the waves. There are many excellent beach preparations available this season, but we think that this ranks among the best.

Some of you Dresden china ladies are going to want to keep your milk and roses complexion throughout the summer, and for you we'll put pen to paper on another day. But don't overlook the fact, some of you fair ones, that a dark skin plus golden locks can be a perfectly ravishing combination, too! M. S.

Many Nuptials of Interest to Chicago Today

Mrs. Merrill Coit Will Be Bride in Rome.

BY JUDITH CASS.

In Rome, in far away Stockholm, on both the Atlantic and Pacific seaboards as well as in Chicago's own houses of worship, wedding bells will chime today for ceremonies interesting to Chicago. Certainly in number as well as importance the services are a fitting climax for the traditional month of brides.

The wedding in Rome will have for its principals Mrs. Merrill Coit of Chicago and Green Lake, Wis., the former Eleanor Babcock, and Thomas Russell Ludlam of New York City, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William L. Ludlam of Montclair, N. J. At high noon in St. Paul's Episcopal church Mrs. Coit and Mr. Ludlam will repeat their wedding vows and then there will be a wedding breakfast at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hale P. Benton on the Janiculum.

Mr. Benton, who is manager of the American Academy in Rome, will give the bride in marriage, and Mrs. Benton will be her cousin's matron of honor. Dr. Preston A. Wade of New York is to serve Mr. Ludlam as best man and ushering will be Charles B. Johnson of Grosse Pointe, Mich., Marchese Francesco Barbi, Harold C. Bodman of Lake Forest and Florence, Italy; Commendatore Vittorio Falorsi, whose wife was Theodosia Haskell of Chicago, and Commendatore Ion Munro of Rome.

Mr. Ludlam is taking his bride on a short trip through the Dolomites and Switzerland and then bringing her back to this country to live after Oct. 15 at 70 Park avenue, New York.

The trip to this country will be the completion of a round the world journey for Mrs. Coit for last February she set out from Vancouver with her three daughters, Elizabeth, Eleanor, and Celia.

John Trainer Takes Stockholm Bride Today.

The wedding in Stockholm today is that of Miss Barbro Gyllenkrok, daughter of the Hon. Col. and Mrs. Knut Sperling Goran Gyllenkrok, and John Milton Trainer Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Trainer of Glencoe. This service is to be read at 5:30 o'clock in Hedvig Eleanora, a Stockholm church, and then there will be a reception at the Gyllenkrok home.

At least four young Chicagoans will attend the ceremony. Andrew McNally III. and Truman W. Morsman of Omaha went abroad with Mr. Trainer to serve as his groomsmen, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pope have arranged the itinerary of their European trip to be in Stockholm today.

Many Chicagoans are interested today in the marriage of Miss Nancy Whitman, daughter of Mrs. Chatfield Whitman of Hamilton, Mass., formerly of Chicago, and Hendrick Whitman of Boston to Thomas Jefferson Davis Jr. of Cincinnati. Mrs. Whitman is the former Adelaide Chatfield Taylor, daughter of Hobart C. Chatfield Taylor of Santa Barbara.

The service will be read in the late afternoon in Christ church, Hamilton, Mass., by the Rev. William Stride and a reception will follow at Blandystone Farm, Mrs. Whitman's home in Hamilton.

Cullen-Trevvett Nuptials in East.

Three young Chicago men are in Washington today for the wedding of an ex-Chicagoan, Walter Egan Trevvett, to Miss Madeline Cullen, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cullen of Washington and niece of Mrs. James Freeman Curtis of Washington. The wedding will take place in Mrs. Curtis' home at 1925 F street, the Rev. C. Ernest Smith of St. Thomas' Episcopal church officiating. Only relatives and close friends have been invited.

Miss Genevieve O'Connor of Washington will be the bride's only attendant and Stewart Boal of Chicago will serve as Mr. Trevvett's best man. Norman McDonald and William Miller are the other two Chicagoans who have gone to Washington for the ceremony.

The bride will wear the wedding gown of the bridegroom's grandmother, the late Mrs. Samuel Egan of Chicago, and she also will carry Mrs. Egan's prayer book. Mr. Trevvett, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney A. Trevvett of Carmel, Cal., formerly of Chicago, and his bride will make their home temporarily at 1925 F street and

School Offers Joint Recital; Critic Pleased

Appearing under the sponsoring banner of the American Conservatory of Music, Evelyn Weinke, soprano, and Catherine Saurer, pianist, gave a recital of agreeable content and performance in Fullerton hall yesterday afternoon.

Miss Saurer should really have been billed as pianist-composer, for she is well advanced on both these paths of musical art. Her first number was her own Prelude, Theme, Variations, and Fugue, a work not only learnedly written from the point of view of the musician, but well written from that of the hearer.

Later in the program she played another of her compositions, "Jack and Jill," following a less academic design than its predecessor and showing an equal talent for less formal music.

She is a fluent and talented performer as well as composer, with a special gift for projecting the ripples and waves of such a number as the Strauss-Gieseking "Serenade," a transcription that only a few pianists venture upon. Liszt was equally to the liking of her and her audience.

Miss Wienke's part of the program became of extra interest because of the less familiar songs that she used as well as of her studious and accurate performance thereof. Songs by Marx, Guarnieri, Sadero, Bax, and Tureman were in this listing, with better known lieder by Wolf and Strauss and Hageman's brilliant "Me Company Along" as a successful test of her voice and singing ability.

The Chicago Symphony orchestra was called yesterday morning for a rehersal of the programs which will inaugurate nine weeks of free concerts from the band shell in Grant park just north of the Field museum. The series will open next Monday night. The organization will play the first four programs, to be followed by Thaviu's band, which in turn will be followed by the Chicago Grand Opera orchestra. Eric DeLamarter will conduct the Chicago Symphony and Henry Weber the opera orchestra.

An evening of grand opera will be presented at the Chicago Commons auditorium at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow under the direction of Baroness Olga von Turk Rohn.

Couple Going to Europe on Wedding Trip

At midnight tonight Charles F. Cutter and his bride of twenty-four hours, the former Audrey McGrath, are embarking on the Europa for a month's honeymoon in foreign capitals. Miss McGrath, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice De Kalb McGrath of 20 Cedar street, and Mr. Cutter, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cutter of Elgin, were married in a lovely ceremony at 4:30 o'clock yesterday in St. Chrysostom's church. A reception followed at the Lake Shore Drive hotel.

The bride was gowned in white lace, fashioned on severely simple lines with long, tight sleeves and a train. Her tulle veil, an heirloom in the Cutter family, was held in place by a tiara headdress of silver leaves. She carried a bouquet of orchids and valley lilies.

There was color contrast in the bridesmaids' dresses of aquamarine organza designed with puffed sleeves and short trains. Their bouquets of pink roses matched the fresh roses used for trimming on their broad brimmed leghorn hats.

Mrs. John M. Kohler was matron of honor for the bride. The bridesmaids were Miss Anne O'Brien of Highland Park, Miss Betty Cutter, a sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. William Pope of Winnetka.

Upon their return from Europe Mr. Cutter and his bride will live at 153 East Erie street.

Good Morning!

Dirty politics and a murder furnish the motive power for this melodrama—adapted from another of Dashiell Hammett's lively works.

While speedy and punchful, "The Glass Key" is in no way as funny as Mr. Hammett's other opuses. In this piece he treats crime AS crime and not as a font of humor. There are several laughs, but these are swiftly frozen on your lips by the contemplation of brutalities that cause the torso to shudder and the eyes to close.

The good have an edge and the bad are awfully bad in "The Glass Key."

The story concerns a beloved ward heeling politician, Paul Madvig, who's been none too particular in the past, but who, with election coming, decides to string along in the cause of right. He attaches himself to the forces of Senator Henry, who is out for reëlection and popular with uplift movements.

By so doing, and by his refusal to countenance the activities of a certain prominent gambler, Shad O'Rory, he makes powerful enemies who dig powerful pitfalls and make him a powerful lot of trouble.

Always at Madvig's right hand is his faithful lieutenant, Ed Beaumont. Ed knows the boss isn't long on brains, but he loves the man—also the man's daughter, and when trouble calls—it's Ed who usually answers. Ed it is, who, when Madvig is accused of murder, invades the enemies' underworld hideouts and, at the risk of his life—gets the goods.

Edward Arnold is great as the ward heeler. George Raft's the berries as Eddie—is he TOUGH—well he has to be. Gwinn Williams as the gambler's brutal boob of a number one boy makes you forget to swallow, and other rôles are all played in convincing—sometimes TOO—convincing fashion. Frank Tuttle did a nice job of directing.

"He practically handed me the key to his house," says Madvig proudly to Eddie respecting the senator.

Four New Jesuits to Say First Masses in City Tomorrow

Four Chicago priests will celebrate their first masses tomorrow. The new clergymen and their churches are: The Rev. Walter O. Crane, Our Lady of Mount Carmel church; the Rev. Raymond T. Grant, St. Lucy's church; the Rev. James F. McGuire, St. Mel's church, and the Rev. Robert J. Stenson, Church of the Resurrection. A fifth priest will say his first mass in St. Mel's church on July 7. He is the Rev. William J. Campion. All of the new priests were among the class of 45 Jesuits who were ordained by Bishop Francis Johannes in St. Mary's college in Kansas last Sunday.

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

AN attorney for Home Owners' Loan corporation recently advised a suburban dweller the necessary procedure for him to borrow money to remodel his house. The loan applicant must bring in his tax bills, his deed, his insurance policy and a front and rear view photo, he told him. The applicant nodded understandingly, but the next day he telephoned the attorney from a photographer's studio.

"I've had a front view taken, but are you sure about the rear view?" he inquired. "I can't figure that out."

THE door of appropriate names department is again shutting, perhaps permanently, but before it does so the world must be told, via Ruth McDonald, that a man named Listenwalter makes telephone switchboards.

* *

AT a house party last week-end half the guests went out about 10 o'clock to hunt for night crawlers for the next day's fishing. Even two small boys were permitted to stay up to hunt bait for their Sunday morning fishing. This demand for bait was brought to mind by a little incident reported yesterday. A man named J. R. Shideler from Edwardsville, Ill., who was fishing with his sons in southern Illinois, stopped at a farm house to ask if there were somewhere they might dig a few worms for bait.

"No, we ain't got no worms," said the woman who answered the door, "we want them for ourselves."

* *

THE inebriate on the State street car is reported with some pleasure. He was heard muttering to himself:

"If my wife hasn't got supper ready when I get home I'm gonna give her hell. And if she has I ain't gonna eat a dam bite."

* *

ALTHOUGH I have read and heard a great deal about the German shepherd dogs trained to be eyes for the blind, and seen them in the movies leading their masters, I saw it on a downtown street yesterday for the first time. A slim man in a gray suit and a panama hat with a turned down brim strode east on Randolph street, a police dog by his side. The stiff, yokelike arrangement attached to the dog's collar caught my eye, and then I saw that the man was blind and that the dog was guiding him. At the crossing the dog stopped and the man took the necessary downward step, and at the opposite curb the dog again stopped, signal for his master to step up. They moved on toward Michigan avenue, with its hurrying pedestrians and lines of trafic, the man striding confidently. At the corner the dog turned his body, blocking his master's progress toward the avenue; then, with the requisite stop at the curb, he started south. The dog led the man across Randolph street, but midway across the light changed, and the trafic officer's whistle blew. The dog quickened his pace, hurrying his blind charge across in front of the impatient motors, not forgetting to warn him of the curb. . . . There were tears in my eyes as they disappeared in the crowd, partly because of the intelligent and responsible animal devoting his life to duty and partly because of the blind man and his touching confidence in his dog.

Lutherans Approve Project to Place 300 New Ministers

Cleveland, O., June 28.—(AP)—The 36th triennial convention of the Missouri synod, Evangelical Lutheran church, adopted today a plan for placing approximately 300 recently ordained ministers.

It provides for congregations to increase mission fund contributions, placing the 300 as assistant pastors, and appealing for special financial aid from church societies and individuals.

The convention also voted to establish a retirement pension fund for the clergy and teachers in its schools. A committee of the synod's board of directors and district presidents was authorized to put the plan in operation.

Tavern Party a Gay Fete of Love's History

If the governing members of the Tavern take the proper cue from the party they staged last night in their handsome quarters atop 333 North Michigan avenue, they will repeat the idea next year. From the time the guests arrived shortly past 10 o'clock until the early hours when they said their farewells, it was a gay, rollicking affair taking not a little of its fun from the fact that it was a dramatic portrayal of love's history.

William C. Boyden, the Tavern's president, appeared, for instance, as John Alden when he was courting the Puritan Priscilla. The Horatio Chandlers came as Indian lovers. Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Bischof were a Venetian "signor" and "signora," while William Welch interpreted Grecian romance.

From the Garden of Eden to this modern day the guests' costumes told the tale of love making. Some of them were amusing. Others were delightfully becoming and colorful.

The whole idea was a compliment to Edgar Miller, who recently finished a set of murals entitled "Love Through the Ages" for the Tavern's private dining room. This room was a popular rendezvous for the guests last night, for it was equipped with a large and well stocked refreshment bar.

The weather kept part of the guests from the terraces. Shortly after midnight there was a tableau in which Aphrodite appeared.

A loud clang on an ancient emperor's gong announced the tableau and then Karleton Hackett, robed and bearded, read a part of Sappho's ode to Aphrodite as an invocation. A dance by a troupe of black chiffon clad vestal virgins introduced Aphrodite.

Early Assyria was suggested in the costumes worn by Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery Orr. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred P. Shaw and their guests indicated by their dress that they had studied romance in the days of Pocahontas. Mr. and Mrs. Philip Faversham came as Puritan lovers.

Alice Denniston, Stromberg Grandchild, Bride Today

Miss Alice Denniston, granddaughter of Albert Stromberg, inventor and partner in Stromberg, Carlson & Co., will be married today to Harry E. Bremer of Milwaukee in old St. Mary's church, 9th street and Wabash avenue. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. Edward J. Mulally. Miss Denniston is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Denniston of Park Ridge, and the bridegroom is the son of William Bremer of Milwaukee, president of the Bremer Aluminum company. After a wedding trip through Canada, the couple will make their home in Bucyrus, O.

Slicker Makers Really Solve Rain Problem

BY RHEA SEEGER.

When slicker makers get busy at the task of outwitting the rainy weather, you can find some astonishing results. Take the last gasp in slickers—and you can take them and have them for ridiculously small sums. These new inventions are so smart and snappy one might pray for a rain or two if one wasn't already water logged from daily contact with the last rather lengthy orgy of rain.

We discovered these trick waterproof outfits modestly hanging around the more sportive clothes in a shop for sportsmen and women. One neat outfit consists of slacks and a hooded jacket of a transparent waterproof material called "helio." It's supple, wears better than the oiled silk stuff it resembles, and will not split when creased.

The slacks are the regulation affairs and not too wide, so that they do not look sloppy. The jackets zip up the front, the hood ties snugly around your face, completely covering the hair, and a tab is buttoned across the throat and by that time you are as watertight as you can be made. The sleeves also fit snug and tight around the wrists.

These are the finds of the year for fresh and salt water feminine sailors, for fisher-ladies who go out even though the rain descends in torrents.

For the golfer some understanding soul has sent the wrap-around skirt of this same rain and wet proof helio, and the thing wraps way around, too, with not a chance of any of your good tweeds or silk golf outfits getting even damp.

Then you can slip into a short waist-length jacket, or the short one with the hood as described above, or a knee length number.

The colors are knockouts, in white for sailing or fishing; in amber, in navy, and in brown. All you need is a swim suit and these slacks and coat will keep you dry and sea going in the biggest downpour.

John Paul Scripps Weds Miss McClanahan in Yuma

Santa Ana, Cal., June 28.—(AP)—John Paul Scripps, chairman of the board of the Santa Ana Journal, and Miss Elizabeth Field McClanahan, La Jolla, were married in Yuma, Ariz., today. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Lowry McClanahan, widow of the late Louisville, Ky., sportsman. The bride's paternal grandfather was Curtis Hardin Field, former Colorado Supreme court justice. Her great-great-grandfather was John Stacks Jones, founder of the pony express. Scripps is the grandson of Col. Milton A. Macrae, pioneer newspaper publisher.

The Ortega Feud

By Marie De Nervaud

SYNOPSIS.

Chris Jackson is sent by Bill Benton, new sherif of Monterey county, to put an end to the Ortega-Alvado feud, which has resulted in numerous murders. Both families believe California to be still Spanish and want Americans kept out. Pietro Sanchez runs the general store of the Big Sur valley. While calling there Chris encounters Guido Ortega, Ramon, his dare-devil son, and Ysabel, his beautiful, sad eyed niece. He falls in love with Ysabel at first sight, and has a quarrel with Ramon and publicly spanks him. Chris outfits himself for a supposed lion hunting trip. He receives a note sent by messenger from Ysabel Ortega hinting of a mysterious danger, begging his aid, and asking him to meet her in a fortnight. Chris camps in a canyon on the northern boundary of the Alvado ranch. A shot from an unseen hand gives him warning to leave. He is saved by Rocky, an old Indian hunter, who advises him to leave the country. Next day Chris meets Francesca Alvado, flirtatious Spanish beauty, who warns him her father welcomes no strangers. Chris tells her of his encounter with Ramon Ortega. It gains him entree to the Alvado ranch. Guido Alvado invites Chris to a rodeo to be held in a week. During the rodeo the warring families hold a traditional three day truce. Ysabel Ortega is facing a forced marriage with her cousin, Ramon. Her uncle refuses to tell her the secret of her birth, as he had promised to do on her eighteenth birthday. She tries to escape from the ranch, but every road is guarded. She meets Rocky and appeals to him. He promises to delay the priest's coming until after the rodeo. Chris, for safety's sake masquerading as Rocky, encounters the real Rocky. Ysabel returns home, trusting in Rocky's assistance.

INSTALMENT XVIII.

A SURPRISE VISIT.

Ysabel drew a deep breath of the exquisite fragrance of the Agripina roses beside her and she closed her eyes for a moment with a desperate prayer that strength would be given her to break through that circle. Even if she never knew who she really was or gained the inheritance that she now knew was hers it would be better to stand alone in the world than to be Ramon's wife. But she must not lose everything without a struggle; she must fight to the last ditch.

If Rocky could save her for these next five days she must employ all her wits and cunning to find out what she could of her true history in that time. Any means would be fair, now that she knew the real feeling of the Ortegas for her.

Spurred with the challenge of this resolve, Ysabel stooped down, picked one of her roses and fastened it in the knot of her robosa as she made her way to the dining sala.

Ysabel slipped into her seat without comment. She could feel Nita's eyes darting from her to Ramon with excited speculation as she served her.

Señor Ortega evidently sensed Nita's suppressed curiosity, for he announced abruptly. "Padre Ignatio has been delayed and will not be here tonight. Tell Maria she need not stay after dinner."

Nita nodded and bolted for the kitchen to bring the news to Maria.

Ysabel's eyes flashed angrily. "At least we need have no pretense among ourselves. I hope you have both thought better of this mad scheme and that you have told Padre Ignatio not to come."

"Is it my habit to change my mind so easily?" Señor Ortega's cold scorn disposed of Ysabel's suggestion. "The wedding will take place as soon as he gets here."

Without attempting to prolong the argument Ysabel ate her dinner in a silence that was charged with suppressed emotions. Even Nita, whose furtive glance darted from one face to the other of that silent trio, sensed the electric undercurrent, and her hand shook with nervous reaction to it, as she changed the dishes as noiselessly as possible.

Ramon was the first to break under the strain and when Nita had put on the dessert and withdrawn to the kitchen he brought his fist down on the table with a violence that evoked protest from the glass and silverware.

"Madre de Dios! This place is a tomb!" He threw his napkin on the table and thrust back his chair, leaving his dessert untasted, as he glared from Ysabel to his father. "I, for one, have had enough of it!"

Without further words he strode from the room. They could hear his rapid steps cross the hall; then the slamming of the heavy front door reverberated down the long dark passage way that led to the court.

Ysabel had a momentary impulse to try once more to appeal to him to keep his promise to lift the veil from the past and tell her what she had every right to know, now that she had come of age; but one glance at his face showed the futility of any such course. Whatever clews she could find to her identity would have to come from some other source.

A sudden sense of suffocation in his presence came over her and with a murmured excuse she made her escape to the haven of her room.

Pulling herself away at last from the absorbing process of trying to recall every single incident of her childhood that might suggest a solution to the mystery that she felt instinctively she must fathom now within the next few days or never.

The wind had come up and the waves were beating with ever increasing fury against the cliff.

Ysabel shivered as she closed the window. Usually she loved the violence of the sea and the shock of the impact of the waves gave her a sense of exhilaration, but tonight she felt a sudden revulsion from it.

Undressing as quickly as she could Ysabel slipped into bed and drew the covers around her ears in an effort to shut out the surge of the waves.

After a series of fitful cat-naps, alternating with long periods of wakefulness, Ysabel had a desperate feeling that she could bear it no longer, and slipping into her dressing gown she determined to finish out the night in one of the guest rooms on the second floor in the front of the house.

There, at least, the roar of the ocean would be subdued, and would no longer beat on her overstrained nerves so as to make sleep impossible.

Taking a candle, Ysabel cautiously stole along the arched passage way that flanked the court and up the stairs to the second floor.

She had no fear of waking her uncle or Ramon, whose rooms were on the south side of the court on the ground floor. It was a relief, too, to put as much space as possible between herself and them.

Instinctively she sought out the large square bedroom with the heavy carved furniture that she had always understood to have been her mother's. Here it was, her uncle had told her once, that her mother had died when Ysabel was nearly two years old.

This room, with its somber furnishings, had always held a sort of terrified fascination for Ysabel, but tonight, somehow, it seemed a refuge.

At least her mother had not been an Ortega! If only these walls could speak and tell her what she longed to know!

Ysabel blew out her candle and felt her way to the window. The same waning moon, though still farther spent, that had guided her last night, in her desperate attempt at escape, lighted the plateau and the hills beyond.

A short distance away the straggling adobe buildings of the rancheria stretched lazily in the dim light. From the window of one of the huts streamed a yellow shaft of light that cut through the shadow of the walls with startling effect.

Realizing that some of the vaqueros must be indulging in one of their all night vigils of gambling, Ysabel idly watched the gleam of that yellow streak across the shadows.

Suddenly she stiffened and her fingers grasped the window frame in tense excitement. Stepping into the lighted area, a figure paused, and looked into the window, then shrank back in the shadow of the wall, as though listening to what was going on inside.

The thing that set Ysabel's heart beating at such a rate was the fact that, even in that short moment, she had clearly recognized Rocky's tall, erect figure. The light had gleamed on his shock of white hair, and, as he had glided into the shadows, there had been no mistaking that peculiar stride.

Any trace of sleepiness completely banished by this discovery, Ysabel waited in breathless suspense for the next move of that motionless figure which she could only distinguish from the rest of the shadowed mass because she had seen him take his place in it.

What could he be doing here? And how could he possibly have had time to stop Padre Ignatio from coming, and yet be back here again at the ranch?

With a sickening dread Ysabel realized that Rocky's presence there could mean only one thing. He had not carried out his promise to her to find Padre Ignatio and stop him. The fact that the padre had not come tonight must be merely a coincidence and undoubtedly he would appear tomorrow if Rocky had failed her.

Eugenie Sunshades Are Numerous at French Race Course

AUTEUIL, France, June 28.—(AP)—Empress Eugénie sunshades, black hats, lace mits, and ground trailing frocks combined today to make one of the most eccentric style displays Paris ever has seen at the running of the fashionable Prix des Drags race.

There were numerous tiny silk ruffled sunshades, some "glass" hats, hats with merry widow isinglass brims, felt crowns trimmed with birds of paradise, and scores of elaborate ground trailing organdy or ruffled net frocks in pastel tones.

Ostrich feathers were everywhere—in rainbow-hued capes, hat trims and belts. There were vivid corsage bouquets of nasturtiums and sweet peas on wide bright belts of the same tones to add further flashes of color to the gayly dressed women.

BY MARY MEADE.

Potato pancakes seem to be a general favorite among TRIBUNE readers. Scarcely a week goes by without some mention of them in our mail. As a result it seems only wise to take space every so often to mention one of said queries in the weekly forum. This particular request comes from Mrs. H. D. of Chicago, who mourns that her current recipe makes them thick and only faintly flavored by the potato. Her recipe, as she quoted it for us, had only one large potato and a full cup of flour. This one of ours, with its greatly increased potato content and little flour, may prove just the one she wants. At any rate we hope so.

Potato Pancakes.

1 tablespoon flour
1 tablespoon top milk
1 egg
1 teaspoon salt

Grate the potatoes and mix with the flour, milk, and beaten egg. Add the salt, stir well, and cook by spoonfuls in hot fat, using a heavy skillet.

The "deflated appearance" of her spinach timbales is troubling Miss M. L. E. At the same time they showed an eggy portion in the bottom, something a good spinach timbale never thinks of doing. The recipe Miss E. sent in for our checking is a good standard one, so our diagnosis is this: Perhaps the white sauce was not thoroughly blended with the beaten whites in folding. The whites may have been overbeaten (they should be stiff but not dry) and the timbales may have been undercooked. They need to be baked in a slow oven, set in a pan of water, until they are really firm. Just as when baking a soufflé, it always is the better part of valor to leave a timbale in the oven for a short time after you really think it should be sufficiently baked. The actual time of course depends upon the size and material of the baking cups.

Miss E. also asks if the timbales may be baked in paper cups. Excellent idea, say we, if the cups are set in muffin pans so that they may be placed in the pan of hot water.

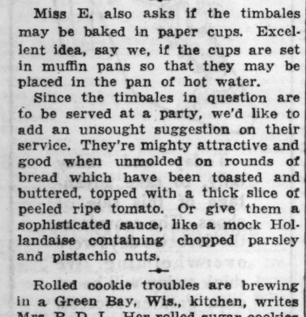

Since the timbales in question are to be served at a party, we'd like to add an unsought suggestion on their service. They're mighty attractive and good when unmolded on rounds of bread which have been toasted and buttered, topped with a thick slice of peeled ripe tomato. Or give them a sophisticated sauce, like a mock Hollandaise containing chopped parsley and pistachio nuts.

Rolled cookie troubles are brewing in a Green Bay, Wis., kitchen, writes Mrs. P. D. L. Her rolled sugar cookies are entirely too hard, she says, and they have the unfortunate habit of sticking to the baking sheets after they come out of the oven. Too much flour is the first guess as to their overhardness, but as long as we don't have her recipe to check it's impossible to tell. She may be baking them in too slow an oven, for that also causes cookies to dry and become unfortunately hard.

Cookies have to be loosened from the pan while they're still hot to prevent their sticking. If you loosen them just as soon as they come out of the oven it's not hard to remember. Greasing the tin isn't usually necessary, for most cookie recipes contain enough fat to take care of that point.

Block Is Legacy of Quilt Period in Pioneer Era

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Gold and Silver" is one of the old pieced blocks which we have inherited from our sturdy pioneer mothers, who started bravely across the continent for gold in the rush to California. The woman who so generously donated this pattern to our column declared it had been in her family "as long as she could remember." It was pieced shortly after her mother migrated to Kansas in 1850.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower.

Mrs. Merrill Coit Will Be Bride in Rome.

Out on the west coast, in San Francisco, Chapin Hunt, another former Chicago beau, is taking as his bride this afternoon Miss Laura Hammer, daughter of Mrs. W. H. Hammer of San Francisco and niece of Mrs. Will Sampson of Chicago. This service will be read at 4:30 o'clock at the Hammer home. After a reception Mr. Hunt and his bride will leave to make their home in Sacramento.

Four Weddings in Suburbs.

Here at home there are four lovely ceremonies this afternoon and evening and all of them concern young people in the suburbs to the north and west.

In the presence of 200 friends Miss Marjorie Bertha, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Bertha, and Orville H. Schell Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Orville H. Schell of New Rochelle, N. Y., will exchange their wedding vows at 4:30 o'clock. The service will be read in the Winnetka house at 745 Sheridan road that the Berthas have taken for the summer.

The bride is to be unattended but Mr. Schell will have his younger brother, William, for his best man. After a reception Mr. Schell and his bride will leave by motor for New York, where they will sail Wednesday on the Conte Grande for a six weeks' honeymoon abroad. Upon their return they will take an apartment in New York City.

Hedly Ceremony in Lake Forest.

When Miss Marion Hedly moves down the aile of the Church of the Holy Spirit in Lake Forest this afternoon to become the bride of Robert W. Buckley, she will be preceded by a half dozen of her friends as bridesmaids. The service, which will be read at 4 o'clock by Dr. Herbert W. Prince, will be followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Hedly, in Libertyville.

Robert Kenyon Jr., one of the bridegroom's friends, is to play the organ for the processional and recessional. Miss Madeline Hedly is to be maid of honor for her sister and the bridesmaids will be Mrs. Robert Herreford [Thelma Jensen], Mrs. Richard Atherton [Elsa Kochs], Miss Barbara Ann Sargent, Miss Betty Stahelin of Detroit, the bride's cousin, Miss Charlotte Fleming, and Miss Mary Lynch.

June and Jane Grayling, tiny twin sisters, will be the flower girls, and Miss Hedly's small cousin, Milton Sandling Jr. of Battle Creek, Mich., will be the ring bearer.

Only the immediate families are to hear Miss Ellen Wacker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick G. Wacker of Lake Forest and Thomas C. Sheffield, son of L. T. Sheffield of New London, Conn., and Mrs. Herbert Dittler of New York City, repeat their wedding vows at 4:30 this afternoon at the Wacker home in Lake Forest. A number of friends have been invited, however, for the reception at 5 o'clock.

The service is to be read by Dr. Burtis McHatton, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Lake Forest. The bride will be unattended but Mr. Sheffield will have Frederick B. Adams Jr. of New York City for his best man.

Kennedy-Parker Rites in Evanston.

Miss Anna Margaret Kennedy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Archer Kennedy of Evanston, will become the bride of James Peabody Parker, son of Dr. and Mrs. Fred W. Parker of Glencoe, at 8:30 this evening in a ceremony at her parents' home at 2715 Sheridan road. The service will be read by Dr. Ernest F. Tittle, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Evanston, with a reception following.

Miss D'Arcy Kennedy is to be her sister's only attendant and Fred W. Parker Jr. of Grosse Pointe, Mich., will serve his brother as best man.

Mr. Parker will take his bride east by motor and then they will return to live at 1402½ Central street in Evanston.

Sudden illness on the part of Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed has caused a postponement of the sailing date of Mrs. Goodspeed, Mr. Goodspeed, and Mrs. Charles H. Swift, who had expected to sail today on the Europa for Germany.

A Gay Week-end in Lake Forest.

Lake Foresters are in the midst of the gayest week-end they have experienced for some months, for there are many guests in the north shore town for the horse show which ends this afternoon.

Some are staying over for Arlington Park's opening Monday, and since the horse show and its attendant parties started Thursday it would seem that by Tuesday, after five hectic and gay days, those most active in Lake Forest activities would be ready for a rest.

There are many luncheons planned for today to break the morning and afternoon performances at the ring, with Mrs. Leslie Wheeler and Mrs. William H. Mitchell among the hostesses.

Reception for Downeses Tonight.

The words "Dress, Uniform or Formal, Navy-White Service" down in one corner of the invitations to the reception and dance the Army and Navy club is giving tonight for Rear Admiral and Mrs. John Downes insure that the party will be a picturesque one, for there is nothing that complements gay summer evening gowns better than uniforms.

Admiral Downes is the new commandant of the Ninth naval district and he and his wife and their daughter, Miss Carylye, are being entertained extensively in town and on the north shore.

Among the dinner parties that will be given before the reception and dance is one that Mrs. Francis T. A. Junkin will give at her home, 179 Lake Shore drive, for her niece, Miss Evelyn Harkness of Leesburg, Va., who is visiting Mrs. Junkin.

John L. Doles Will Give Party Tonight.

In the spirit of old France with all the ceremony and formality that they and their guests can revive, Mr. and Mrs. John Dole are entertaining tonight in the great Norman castle that Mrs. Dole's grandfather, the late Ward Dunham, built many years ago in Wayne. The Doles and their three children now live with Mrs. Dole's mother and sister, Mrs. Wirth S. Dunham and Miss Jane Dunham in the castle.

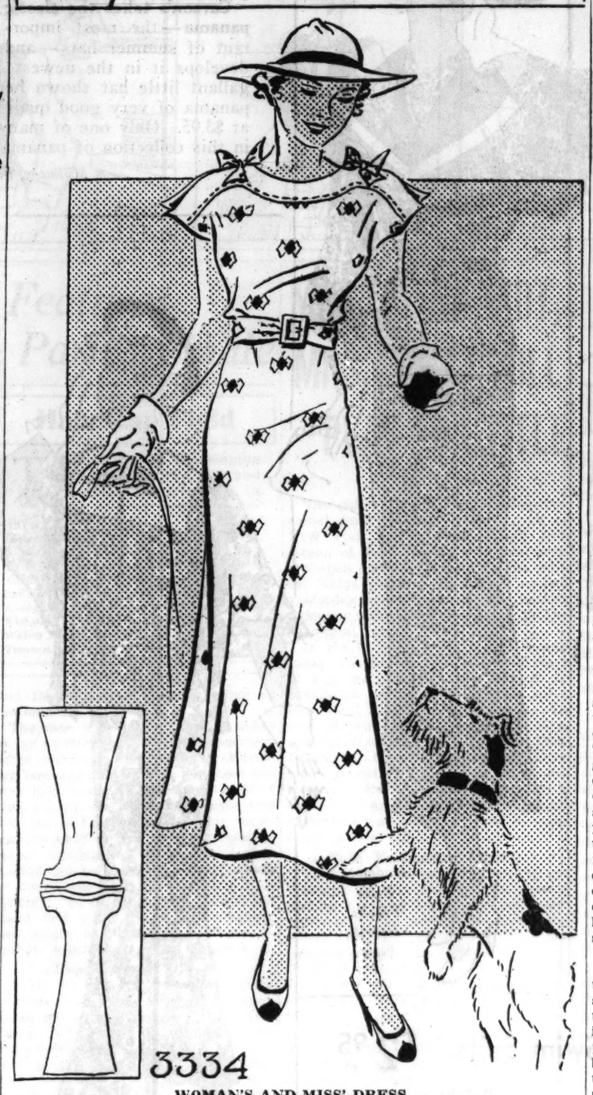

In the same garden in which her mother made her debut Miss Grace Barnum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hyde Barnum of 532 Oak street, Winnetka, will make her debut today at a reception from 4 to 8 o'clock. Among the assistants will be Miss Annabelle Brumaker of Lebanon, Pa., who arrived yesterday for a visit with Miss Barnum, who was her roommate at William and Mary college in Virginia, and Miss Ann McCall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sumner T. McCall who moved from Winnetka to Greenwich, Conn., last fall but who are back in Winnetka for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Mellen C. Martin will be at home in their beautiful and authentic reproduction of an Andalusian country house tomorrow from 4 to 6 o'clock. The Martin house at 630 Rosewood avenue, Winnetka, is one of the most picturesque and unusual on the north shore.

Mr. and Mrs. John Brandon Guthrie of Winnetka are going to introduce their new daughter-in-law, Mrs. John B. Guthrie Jr., to their north shore friends at a tea between 3 and 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at their home, 730 Walden road. Young Mr. Guthrie has just brought his bride back here after a wedding trip.

Try to Have Child Work with Some One.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

"He's no gardener," said the tall lad's mother wistfully, as she looked at the weeds growing apace in her little garden.

"Most boys aren't," said her neighbor. "Didn't you ever notice that the love of gardening usually comes with a settled existence, marriage, and maturity—or even middle age? It's hard for boys that age to plug along alone, too—they work twice as well if they have company. Even I get lots more done when John and I work together outdoors."

That's true not only of gardening but of almost all home jobs that young people have to do. And this is one more point I want to make in connection with the subject we were talking about yesterday—the troubles of parents in getting their children to do certain useful and helpful things about the house or grounds.

One of the points we want to add to yesterday's is this one: that work is pleasanter and lighter if you have some one to do it with. So try, sometimes, to work with your child, especially if he or she is an only child. To make beds together, or dust together, or sew together, or work outdoors together takes a lot of the drudgery out of a chore. Or if you can't actually share the work, try to lend your presence—take your sewing to the scene of operations or be occupied near by so you can call back and forth or talk companionably. Naturally you can't and shouldn't candy coat all your child's chores—but an occasional lift like this makes things go more easily and with more momentum.

Another suggestion is, don't expect too much of the children. And still another is my own personal belief—that it's a good plan to put variety into a child's share of the work, if possible. "I'm so sick of making the beds, mother, can't you give me something different to do?" is the way many children feel.

Avoid nagging and scolding. Show that you're not a taskmaster, but a sympathetic friend. Use a combination of tact and friendliness and variety, with a dash of praise and interest, and I think you'll find the children doing their part with a pretty good grace.

"Helping Your Child to Be Orderly" is a fully written booklet which will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self addressed envelope.

CONQUERING CONTRACT

DEFENSIVE PLAY.

WEST

SOUTH

| SOUTH | WEST | NORTH | EAST |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 Cl. | 1 Sp. | Pass | 2 Di. |
| 3-Cl. | Pass | 3 Ht. | 3 Sp. |
| 4 Ht. | 4 Sp. | Dbl. [1] | Pass |
| Pass | Pass | | |

1. It wasn't so much that North actually believed he could set West, although the singleton of his partner's suit did look tempting. It was that the prospect of a set was close enough for him to warn South to lay off any five-club or five-heart saves.

Naturally, the singleton club was opened. South took the jack with his king, and banged a diamond back into the tenace in the dummy. West tried to look surprised, took on the board, and returned a low spade, again contorting his features into an expression indicative of a finesse. South went right up with the ace.

At this point, all South had to do was figure out an entry into his partner's hand. Did North hold a singleton club? Or was he the proud possessor of the ace of hearts? After weighing it pro and con, South decided that North could not hold the ace of hearts. He returned a low club so that North would not be put to any guesses. North obediently ruffed, and played back a diamond, which was trumped by South. This was the fourth and setting trick. South gladly conceded the rest.

The normal defense of playing three rounds of clubs fails because North has nothing but small spades in his hand. The declarer can ruff high, draw trumps, and claim the balance.

Sunday Paper to Give List of Party Winners

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

The boys and girls who've won invitations to the first big party of the season, which is to take place at the College Inn of the Hotel Sherman next Wednesday, will find their names listed in tomorrow's TRIBUNE.

I have read all of your letters—some of them were very good and won invitations. Quite a number forgot to tell me one or the other of the three things necessary—your name, your address, your age—so you can't blame it on me if you didn't win an invitation!

When you see the paper tomorrow, if you're fortunate enough to find your name listed, please see that the correct address is given. If it's wrong please notify me immediately so that your invitation won't go astray.

There'll be good news for the disappointed youngsters, too, because I will announce our next gay party, which will be your next opportunity to try to win an invitation, so you needn't feel too badly if you missed the first time.

Full particulars for meeting and the time of the ice carnival will be contained in your invitations. So watch tomorrow's paper for the good news!

Joan Blondell Bans Dressy Togs for Son

Actress Making Plans for Happy Childhood.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., June 28.—[Special.]—Joan Blondell says she wants her young son, now 7 months of age, to have a happy childhood and has made this motherly resolve: "Norman Scott Barnes never will be the best dressed boy in his neighborhood."

Katharine Hepburn has taken an eight acre estate and told inquirers at her studio she wanted room enough to walk around on her own grounds because her own yard was the only place she could be sure she would not be disturbed.

Frank Albertson, the actor, has completed a two reel silent film which he personally photographed and directed, after writing its plot and business managing all arrangements. He made it in his spare time with his wife, Virginia Albertson; Sally Haines, John Newell, and John Meehan Jr. in the cast. It is titled "Saddle Buster." Albertson is looking ahead to the time when he no longer will be an actor and intends at that time to become a professional movie camera man.

Two of the gatemen at M. G. M. were talking. "Who's that guy just went in?" one asked the other. "O, he's one of the writers." "I thought so. You can tell them writers; they all got a heavy tan."

Conchita Montenegro, star in Spanish, French, and English language films here, is going to Paris to make both French and Spanish versions of "La Vie Parisienne," and leave in August for Rio de Janeiro, where she will be met by Raoul Rauline, Brazilian singer and film star. The two will then make a trip on the Graf Zeppelin to Germany. Miss Montenegro said when she left Hollywood, "I'll wire when and if we get married."

Lupe Velez was one skipper who riled the M. G. M. company of "Mutiny on the Bounty" by steering a yacht with the engine running into waters forbidden because they were being used for 1790 sea scenes. A coast guard patrol boat whizzed up to Lupe and Johnny's yacht, Allure, and told them to get off that part of the ocean, and they did.

Wealthy Beaux Are Decidedly in Minority Today

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"My mother objects to my going with men who haven't money. She always has talked moneyed men to me as the ambition for a girl to have. But my best beau, Jack, has everything but money. He has character, ambition, goodness, looks, everything. Everybody respects him and predicts for him a bright future. I am in love with him, but my mother says if I marry him she won't help out one bit, and she has money. She always has been indulgent with me and of course she's my mother and I hate to hurt her feelings, for, after all, she has been good to me always. JACKIE."

Your mamma, Jackie, just couldn't have heard about a depression or anything to blight her ambitions? Where is a girl going to meet all these moneyed young men? Or is it an old gent she wants you to look out for?

You just tell the parent for us that her ideas are dated, and that she's all wrong. Tell her that a young woman today has all the breaks when she has a young man proposing to her whose sole claim to fortune is "a promising future." More than that she cannot ask for, things being as they are and not likely to change materially for some time. If mom would read less fiction and perhaps attend fewer movies with the rich and happy ending, she would be in a better position to get a view of the world today.

But never mind mom, Jackie. Don't you let her make any mess of your prospects. Of course she's been good to you and you don't want to hurt her feelings, but they're going to be hurt a great deal more later on if you don't marry the man you want to marry and you're either on her hands for life or you're back on her hands after an unhappy marriage. But that's not the real argument! It simply matters more that you make a successful marriage than that mamma goes through a few pangs of disappointment.

Beach Type of Mattress Is Aid in Daily Exercise

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

When you're buying your beach mattress, if you haven't bought it already, buy one with an eye to using it as a mattress for home exercising. My experience with women and exercise is that they're much more willing to exercise if they can go through exercises standing up. It's getting down on the floor that seems to send all their good intentions awry. I don't know why it should be so hard, but the fact is that women do balk at the floor exercise.

Besides a few exercises that may be done standing up, most of the exercise benefits are gained from getting right down to work on the floor. I guess we're just a pampered sex and find the floor so hard. So, I suggest the beach mattress purchase with an eye to its use at home. Or, if you're clever, you can invent a folding mattress of your own, as one woman I know did out of an old, thick quilt doubled and covered with unbleached cotton.

This year, at many of the beaches, you are going to find gym instructors to put you through your exercises. Why not get in on the benefit of this outdoor gym work? There's nothing like that outdoor air for burning up the fat. Your bathing suit will make the perfect gym costume. You perspire more out in the beach sun, and you can dash right into the water and get your swim directly following. It's really the ideal way of doing gym work.

I'd like to see a movement fostered to turn at least one of the life guards at every beach into a physical instructor so that women would get this benefit out of their summer. It's a grand time to approach women on the subject, since they are in a mood for reducing when they see their overweight figures in comparison with the young Dianas who roam the beaches.

SIMMONS ONLY SOX NAMED ON ALL-STAR TEAM

Cochrane Picks Four Yanks, Four Tigers.

The stage was set yesterday for baseball's greatest show—the third annual all-star game which will be played at Cleveland's Municipal stadium July 8. Manager Mickey Cochrane of the Detroit Tigers announced the 20 players who will comprise the American league squad which will seek its third consecutive victory in the game, originated by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE two years ago.

MICKEY COCHRANE.

Announcement of the lineup revealed that only one member of the Chicago White Sox, surprise team of the 1935 season, was named. Al Simmons, one of the hardest hitting outfielders in the league, will be the only Sox representative in the contest.

Four Yanks, Four Tigers.

The list is headed by the New York Yankees, now leading the American league race, and the Detroit Tigers, winner of the 1934 pennant. Each club will have four players. Philadelphia and Boston each placed three and Cleveland and Washington two apiece.

In announcing the lineup Manager Cochrane said last minute changes were made because of the injury suffered by Earl Averill, Cleveland's star outfielder.

Five Pitchers Named.

Five pitchers are among the 20 players named by Cochrane with the aid of the seven other managers in the league. They include Lefty Gomez, Yankees, and Bob Grove, Boston, southpaws, and Mel Harder, Cleveland; Schoolboy Rowe and Tommy Bridges, Detroit. There will be three catchers, Bill Dickey, New York; Rick Ferrell, Boston, and Cochrane.

OUTFIELDERS—Bob Johnson, Philadelphia; Al Simmons, Chicago; Joe Vosmik, Cleveland; Roger Cramer, Philadelphia; Ben Chapman, New York, and Sam West, St. Louis.

TRAINER—Dennis Carroll, Detroit.

NATIONALS GIVEN EDGE

New York, June 28.—(AP)—The National league's All-Stars, who have been beaten twice, rely on their superior batting strength to turn the tables in the third annual inter-league game to be played July 8 in Cleveland's municipal stadium.

Based on current averages of the probable starting lineups, the Nationals have an edge over their American league rivals in six out of the eight positions, outside the pitching.

THIRD BASE—Martin, Cardinals, .347; Foxx, Athletics, .337.
RIGHT FIELD—P. Waner, Pirates, .312; Vosmik, Indians, .346.

SCORER RULES AGAINST CUBS ON DROPPED FLY

Pirates Are Routed, 8 to 0.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Roy Henshaw, the Cubs' tiny left hander, yesterday pitched a one hit game against the Pittsburgh Pirates, 8 to 0. It will be recorded in the National league archives as a one hit instead of a no hit performance because the official scorer failed to observe that Fred Lindstrom had both hands on a high fly knocked by Relief Pitcher Mace Brown in the sixth. When the ball dropped to the ground through Freddy's paws and Brown pulled up at second, the official scorer signaled a two base hit, and it was so recorded.

FREDDY LINDSTROM.

The Cubs, apparently thinking that the little lefty had entered baseball's so-called Hall of Fame, swarmed around him at the close of the game, shaking hands, slapping him on the back and otherwise expressing jubilation.

Lindstrom Expected Error.

The players, after going to their clubhouse and confirming earlier reports they had heard relative to the scoring, professed to be bitter in their indignation. Lindstrom stated that he had both hands on the ball and that, though he had made a long run, he had traveled far enough to make a catch of the ball. Freddy said that he fully had expected to draw an error, regardless of the fact that Henshaw was more than half way to a no hit game at the time the play came up.

When the ball dropped to the ground the scorer asked for opinions from members of the press. One who has acted as official scorer himself expressed the belief a hit had been made. Two others who do not accept the scoring fee and consequently are never official scorers took no part in the official action, possibly because they felt no obligation to be on the spot one way or the other.

His Second Shutout.

Henshaw obviously was in superb form as he defeated the Pirates for the third time this season. It was the second time he had shut them out, he having turned them back, 3 to 0, on April 30. It was the fourth Cub victory over the Pirates in five games played. The other Cub victory, the 12 to 11 brawl game on April 29, was credited to Fabian Kowalik.

While Henshaw's pitching—whether you call it an unofficial no hit or an official one hit game—overshadowed everything else, there were many other heroic incidents. All of them were concentrated in the first two innings, in which all the runs of the day were made.

The victory drive, as things turned out, was the first of the Cubs' twelve hits. It was Gabby Hartnett's seventh homer of the year, good for two runs, Cavarretta previously having been walked by Big Jim Weaver after two were out.

Big Second Inning.

But the second inning was the bruiser. In this splurge the Cubs made six runs after two were out. Woody English led off with a single. Then came the two outs, followed by a walk, a single by Herman, a triple by Cavarretta, a single by Hartnett, a double by Lindstrom, and a triple by Klein.

Returning to the matter of whether Lindstrom should have been given an error, it may be said that the deci-

Handicap Race Features Washington Park's Finale

BY FRENCH LANE.

Eight top notch performers will clash in the $5,000 Washington Park championship handicap this afternoon and after they bow their way off the track the curtain will drop on the Washington Park Jocky club's summer racing season.

It has been a season that has been marred by rain and off weather from the time it started, but it caught on with Chicago's racegoers. The series of stake races conducted by the new owners of the track brought to the front horses that are certain to figure prominently in the championship battles that will come along later in the summer.

Horses Come Along.

Black Helen and Count Arthur were the chief developments among the 3 year olds. Grand Slam, Rollin Home, Dnieper, and Erin Torch appeared to be the best juveniles uncovered. The Championship handicap this afternoon will bring to the front the best of the older performers.

If Riskulus doesn't win this afternoon's mile and a quarter battle, then half the race players in California will be broke. After a careful prep he has come to the race in perfect condition. His owner, Norman W. Church, has arrived from the coast to see him run. Chicago players thought so well of his chances last night that they made him the overnight favorite at 8 to 5. He's not likely to pay much more than that regardless of what the track conditions may be, although his trainer, Woody Fitzgerald, was hopeful that a fast track would prevail.

Tearout Second Choice.

Second choice in the betting was Tearout at 3 to 1. His great race back of Black Helen and Count Arthur in the American Derby of last Saturday and his earlier victory in the Latonia Derby won a big following for him. Mrs. John Hertz's Watch Him and the Brentwood stable's Late Date also came in for considerable backing and were about equal third choices in the speculation. This left Evergold, Calumet Dick, Gusto, and Silent Shot as the long shots in the field.

The race will mark Riskulus' debut as far as summer racing is concerned. After winning the Arlington Handicap last summer in which he beat the best that could be mustered against him, he traveled to the far west and was one of the stars at the big meetings in California during the winter. Since moving to Chicago he has started in one overnight event which no doubt was little more than a conditioner. In that affair he showed his speed and but for some bad racing luck might have been the winner although it was at a sprint distance.

Expect Crowd Today.

If the crowd at Washington Park yesterday is a good barometer, then one of the largest crowds of the Washington Park season will gather at the Homewood course today to see the final program decided. The largest week day crowd of the season was present yesterday. The betting was the largest for any week day during the meeting, it going beyond $250,000.

Three year olds came together in the best race on the program and Countess Ann, daughter of Reigh Count-Christie Ann, owned by A. A. Young of Kentucky, was the winner. She staged a great drive in the stretch to beat the favorite, Star Banner, by four lengths. L. B. Wilson, owned by Roscoe Goose of Louisville, finished third.

Handicap Field

| Horse. | Wt. | Jocky. | Prob. Odds. |
| Gusto | 112 | M. Helm | 10-1 |
| Late Date | 111 | L. Balaski | 5-1 |
| Silent Shot | 100 | No boy | 20-1 |
| Cal'met Dick | 102 | J. Wagner | 15-1 |
| Evergold | 114 | No boy | 10-1 |
| Riskulus | 119 | A. Robertson | 8-5 |
| Watch Him | 110 | J. Westrope | 7-2 |
| Tearout | 109 | W. Hanka | 3-1 |

MRS. REINHARDT, MRS. HILL WILL PLAY FOR TITLE

The gallery hopes for an all-professional final between Helen Hicks of New York and Mildred [Babe] Didrikson of Texas in the women's western open golf tournament at the Sunset Ridge Country club were spoiled yesterday when both of the game's business girls were eliminated in the semi-final round.

In the 36 hole championship match today, the halves of which will start at 9 a. m. and 2 p. m., Mrs. S. L. Reinhardt of Northmoor will meet Mrs. Opal S. Hill of Kansas City. In one of yesterday's semi-finals Mrs. Reinhardt won all the way from Miss Didrikson, the all-round girl athlete who recently became a business woman golfer like Miss Hicks, by a score of 5 and 4. Miss Hicks in the meantime was losing a 2 and 1 argument to Mrs. Hill.

Babe Encounters Trouble.

Thus ended the only competitive appearance of the year of the game's leading business exponents, since the western is the only tournament for which they are eligible. Neither defeat came under the head of an upset, for their conquerors have been ranked among the stars of the game for several years. Mrs. Reinhardt is a former runner-up for the national title, and, like Mrs. Hill, has held the closed championship of the Women's Western Golf association three times. Neither, however, has ever won the open event during the six previous years it has been held.

Miss Didrikson encountered trouble at practically every stage of her match with Mrs. Reinhardt, winning only one hole out of the fourteen played. Mrs. Reinhardt was three up at the end of the first nine, which she turned in 39, one over par, against Babe's 44. In the Hicks-Hill match they turned the nine all even. At the 11th Miss Hicks went ahead for the first and only time with a birdie four at the 11th, but she lost the next three and Mrs. Hill earned halves on the following three to win the match.

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Par—Out | 455 | 434 | 535—38 |
| Par—In | 554 | 553 | 535—40—78 |
| Mrs. Hill—Out | 555 | 534 | 735—42 |
| Miss Hicks—Out | 555 | 554 | 635—43 |
| Mrs. Hill—In | 554 | 553 | 53 |
| Miss Hicks—In | 545 | 663 | 53 |
| Mrs. Hill wins, 2 and 1. | | | |
| Mrs. Reinhardt—Out | 544 | 435 | 635—39 |
| Miss Didrikson—Out | 764 | 534 | 645—44 |
| Mrs. Reinhardt—In | 554 | 55 | |
| Miss Didrikson—In | 555 | 56 | |
| Mrs. Reinhardt wins, 5 and 4. | | | |

Mrs. Hill and Miss Hicks halved four straight holes before the Kansas City star took the fifth, where the New York girl was in a trap and then over the green. The match was even again after the seventh, where Mrs. Hill was twice in the rough, and still short of the green with her fourth shot. Two neat wood shots and a five foot putt gave Miss Hicks a birdie and the 11th, but Mrs. Hill rallied to win the next three holes, and take the 2 up advantage which she held to the finish. Miss Hicks

SOX RALLY FAILS AS INDIANS BEAT WHITEHEAD, 6 TO 5

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., June 28.—John Henderson Whitehead, the Texas rookie who once was the owner of eight straight big league victories and no defeats, now possesses six defeats in a row. He reached the even half dozen mark this afternoon when the Cleveland Indians made sport of his deception and sent the White Sox stumbling in defeat, 6 to 5. The trimming dropped the Chicagoans to fourth place, which for them is a new experience in this campaign.

On May 30 when Whitehead achieved his eighth victory, his pitching opponent was Oral Hildebrand. The ex-Butler collegian returned today in hopes of better luck and managed to make amends so far as credit for the triumph was concerned. But he wasn't around at the finish. He injured an ankle in the eighth inning, so Mel Harder had to hurry into action in the ninth. The Sox, refusing to feel depressed, promptly ripped loose with a rally, but had to be content with one run, mainly because of a hair raising stop by Hal Trosky at first base.

Sox Bounce Back.

The Sox experienced only one profitable inning during the eight Hildebrand opposed them. Due to the knack of the local performers in bouncing drives off the nearby right field wall, the Chicagoans fell behind by 2 to 0 in the third inning, but in their customary vigorous fashion they bounced right back in the fourth. Before Hildebrand could get them under control, they scored four runs. That gave them a 4 to 2 lead, but between base hits and passes the Indians went out in front again in the sixth and were not headed off thereafter.

One of the ringleaders in the fourth inning assault was Mule Haas, who doubled to stretch the string of consecutive games in which he has hit safely to fifteen. The Mule, however, didn't have a chance to figure when the Sox indulged against Harder in the ninth. This pleasing incident was handled by Simmons, Sewell and Washington, who performed as a pinch hitter. But the outbreak was halted before the Sox could even up for a homer with which Sammy Hale knocked Whitehead out of the game in the eighth.

Sox Win Back Lead.

The Sox enjoyed such a limited amount of luck against Hildebrand at the start that the two runs scored by the Indians in the third were considered fatal for the moment. This explosion against the Sox rookie started when Knickerbocker singled to left with two out. Vosmik's fly, which would have been caught in an ordinary park, bounced off the right field wall for a single. Knickerbocker taking third. Campbell's everyday fly also hit the wall, this one for two bases, scoring Knickerbocker and Vosmik. Simmons got Trosky's fly to conclude the inning.

The Sox started to adjust the situation when Radcliff opened the fourth

EFFORT TO RAISE MUTUEL TAKE IS ABANDONED

Springfield, Ill., June 28.—[Special.]—Efforts to raise the track's share of the money bet through the pari-mutuel machines at all race tracks in Illinois from 6½ to 8 per cent were abandoned in the legislature tonight when Representative Joseph L. Rategan [Dem., Chicago], amended the Maypole bill and left the percentage at its present rate.

Fairmount near Collinsville is the only track which would benefit, for its take would be 8 per cent, as the measure was drawn originally. Introduction of the amendment followed within three hours after the senate had refused to approve the Fairmount increase. An effort will be made to pass the bill tomorrow and then obtain senate concurrence.

CALIFORNIA AND WASHINGTON WIN IN CREW TRIALS

Long Beach, Cal., June 28.—(AP)—Two rugged crews from the Pacific coast demonstrated convincingly to their eastern foes that they have their work cut out for them in the national collegiate sprint regatta as Washington and California swept to easy victories in the qualifying trials today.

Coach Ky Ebright's Golden Bears, Poughkeepsie champions, set the pace when they defeated Syracuse by two and one-half lengths in the first heat, to be clocked in 6 minutes 40.8 seconds, the fastest time of the day for the 2,000 meters.

Syracuse was timed in 6 minutes 51.2 seconds, six seconds faster than the second heat winner. Wisconsin was seven lengths behind the winner.

The Huskies were almost seventeen seconds slower than California as they led Pennsylvania's great sprint aggregation across the finish line in 6 minutes 57.2 seconds to win by three lengths. The University of California at Los Angeles was third after it had stuck within a length of Pennsylvania down the homestretch.

Washington, California, Pennsylvania, and Syracuse will race tomorrow for the championship, while Wisconsin and U. C. L. A. will meet in a consolation race.

St. Louis, Mo., June 28.—(AP)—Willie Dreyer of Barrington, Ill., National Junior A. A. U. 10,000 meter champion, won the Ozark A. A. U. championship today, defeating a field of eighth. His time was 35 minutes 1 8-10 seconds. Second place went to Cletus Ferguson, Cape Girardeau, Mo., and third to Ray Carr, Lake Shore A. C., Chicago.

ALFRED PERRY TAKES BRITISH OPEN GOLF TITLE

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

MUIRFIELD, Scotland, June 28.—For the first time since the world war the British open golf championship has been won two years in succession by Britain. Alfred Perry, 30 year old professional from Leatherhead, Surrey, with rounds of 69, 75, 67, and 72 scored a four stroke victory over his compatriot, A. H. Padgham, his total of 283 equaling the record established by Gene Sarazen at Sandwich in 1932 and tied by Henry Cotton last year.

W. Lawson Little, American amateur golfer, broke the amateur record for the Muirfield course with a 69 on the fourth and last round and not only took fourth place with 289 but won the honor of being the first American and the first amateur on the list.

Pickard Finishes Fifth.

Henry Picard, after steady rounds of 72, 73, and 72, carded a 75 to place fifth with 292. He never really accustomed himself to the quickly changing conditions of Muirfield, but his performance on his first visit to Britain was otherwise creditable.

Henry Cotton, the lowest priced favorite who ever started the British championship, faded away after the first round and finally trailed Picard on the scoreboard by one stroke—ten strokes behind Perry.

The new champion has never been to the United States. He was born on the edge of the Coulsdon course at Surrey and for some years was one of the assistants to James Braid. He played for the Ryder cup team in 1933, but never previously had gone very far in the open. He weighs about 156 pounds.

Mac Smith Finishes Weakly.

Mac Smith, after a first round score of 69, gave one of the most disappointing displays of his career. He seemed to find some sort of bogey in the last five holes and on successive rounds played them worse and worse. At the last hole in the final round he took 7, playing from trap to trap, and then fluffing a shot on the edge of the green. Nevertheless, a warm hearted Scottish crowd gave their favorite a sympathetic cheer and one heard shouts of "Come back again next year, Mac."

Babe Hits Into Traps.

Rough and traps cost Miss Didrikson the first hole of her match with Mrs. Reinhardt, who went two up on the second by holeing a ten footer for a birdie. Both birdied the third, but Babe found another trap on the fourth. Babe won her only hole of the match on the sixth with a par four, Mrs. Reinhardt approaching short. Babe was three down after the eighth, where another trap caught her tee shot. The Texas girl missed a short putt at the 12th, going four down, and she was five down after the 14th, where failure to drop another short putt cost her the match.

White and Haas Advance to Final of College Golf

Washington, D. C., June 28.—(AP)—Charles Yates of Georgia Tech and Johnny Fischer of Michigan, former winners of the crown, were eliminated today by Ed White of Texas and Fred Haas of Louisiana, in the semi-finals of the national intercollegiate golf tournament.

White upset the 1934 victor, Yates, 4 and 3. Simultaneously, Hass defeated Fischer, the veteran Walker cup player and 1932 titleholder, 5 and 3.

White's victory was doubly pleasing to him for just a year ago he ran into Yates in the finals of this tournament at Cleveland and was beaten 5 and 3. He started out early today to even up the old score, winning the first two holes and never allowing Yates to go ahead. For the thirty-three holes that the match lasted, White was 1 under par.

Haas' golf was steady but not nearly so sensational as that of White. In fact, it was Fischer's errors as much as Haas' playing that brought about his defeat. Johnny had seven 3 putt greens.

HAMMAN WINS OVER CHASE IN DES MOINES GOLF

Des Moines, Ia., June 28.—(AP)—Leland Hamman staged a remarkable comeback today to enter the semi-finals of the trans-Mississippi golf tournament with a 3 and 2 victory over Hal Chase of Des Moines, in a 36 hole quarter finals match.

Hamman's victory sent him into a semi-finals match with Johnny Goodman of Omaha, the former national open champion, who played par golf today to overwhelm young Billy Cordingly of Des Moines, 11 and 10.

Johnny Dawson of Chicago crushed Bob Conliff Jr. of Oklahoma City, 6 and 4. The Chicago star will meet 17 year old Sid Richardson of Creston, Ia., in the semi-finals tomorrow.

Seven Chicago District Golf Players Win

Rockford, Ill., June 28.—[Special.]—Seven Chicago district golfers and one player from Rockford survived today's first and second round matches in the Illinois amateur golf tourney at the Rockford Country club.

Larry Moller of Quincy, the defending champion, was eliminated by Al Lays, Glen Oak amateur, in the second round, 2 and 1, and Cliff McKelvey of Decatur, runner-up in the 1934 tourney at Springfield, lost to George K. Whyte of Waukegan in a first round match.

The second round also saw the elimination of Jimmy Frisina of Taylorville, the medalist. Frisina fell before Al Andereggen, the Chicago veteran, 3 and 2.

Armstrong Wins Easily.

Don Armstrong, the 1933 state title holder, had an easy time for the first two rounds, sweeping over Warren Dawson of Chicago, holder of the state championship in 1931 and 1932, 5 and 4, and Steve Williams Jr. of Evanston, 7 and 6.

The other Chicago district players who reached the quarter finals, which will be played over the 36 hole route tomorrow, were: James Gerard, Skokie; Charles Smead, Elmhurst, and Larry Witt, Midlothian. Johnny Hobart was the Rockford winner.

Moller managed to get past the first round with a one up victory over Richard Durkes of Dixon, despite erratic iron play. In the afternoon he encountered trouble with his tee shots at the beginning of his match with Lays, and before he had reached the turn he had found the rough and the traps half a dozen times.

Andereggen played great golf to beat Frisina, scoring three birdies on the first nine, which he turned with a four up margin. Al holed a 12 foot putt for a 3 on the par 4 fourth, a 20 footer on the next for a deuce and a 10 foot putt on the seventh. He jumped a dead stymie 3 feet from the pin and holed out on the seventh for a half in par 3. Andereggen's medal score for the first nine was 34, two strokes under par.

Finish in Rain.

Didrikson and Sarazen Pair for First Time

More than 2,000 are expected to see the match between four of the nation's greatest money players at Tam O'Shanter tomorrow afternoon. Helen will be paired with Thomson while Babe will have Sarazen as a partner. Incidentally, this is the first appearance of Gene and Babe on their tour of the country as partners. This tour will last one year and will take them to every large city in the country.

Added to the natural rivalry between Miss Hicks and Miss Didrikson will be the offer made by Tam O'Shanter through its president, Dr. Robert Borchert, of $100 to either or both girls for breaking the women's course record of 78 now held by Mrs. Lillian Zech.

POSTPONE GOLF SCHOOL FORM TEST ONE WEEK

Rain Stops Contest, but Pros Give Exhibition.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Inclement weather forced postponement last night of the form contest which was to conclude the third annual free golf school conducted by THE TRIBUNE in conjunction with the Chicago Daily Fee Golf association. Persistent showers which fell throughout the twilight hours at the Mid-City Golf club, Grace street and Western avenue, forced the contest over until next Friday night.

In spite of the dismal drizzle which visited Mid-City during the evening, all the 50 prize pupils of the school, more than 1,000 fans, and the greatest collection of guest artists the school has seen in its three years, appeared, ready to do their part of the program.

Visiting Pros Attend.

Officials of the Daily Fee association made every effort to go through with the form contest which annually concludes the largest plan of free group instruction in the game. All the professionals who were to do the judging were on hand for the dinner given by Mid-City, and were ready to take their chairs in front of the platform on which each of the pupils was to take the three test swings. Finally, it was decided to postpone the contest, in justice to the pupils, who would have been forced to go through their turns on a floor made slippery by the rain.

The rain, however, failed to daunt the professionals who appeared, with raincoats and umbrellas, all ready to do their share. These included Gene Sarazen of Brookfield Center, Conn., winner of the Masters' tournament at Augusta a few months ago; Jimmy Thomson of Long Beach, Cal., the game's longest driver, and Helen Hicks of New York, America's first business woman golfer. They were joined at dinner by the judges of the school, including Harry Cooper of Glen Oak, Tommy Armour of Medinah, Horton Smith of Oak Park, Frank Walsh of Bryn Mawr, and Dick Metz of the Lasker course.

Thomson Gives Exhibition.

All the professionals remained until nearly 9 o'clock, and even after the contest was finally postponed stepped out in the rain to be introduced to the pupils by Tom Walsh of Westgate Valley, president of the association. The treat of the evening, and one of the best demonstrations ever given to a large group in the Chicago district, was furnished by Thomson and Frank Walsh on Mid-City's lighted driving range. Thomson, standing coatless in the drizzle, hit several dozen balls while explaining the how and the why of his tremendous drives.

Next Friday night's demonstration will follow the same plan as that intended for last night. The golf bags, clubs, balls, and trophies donated by THE TRIBUNE, in addition to the playing memberships awarded by the Daily Fee association, will be presented to the winners, not only of the 18 hole medal play tournament held at Cog-Hill last Sunday but also of the form contest. All pupils are requested to appear at the course before 7 p. m.

GIANTS DEFEAT DODGERS, 11-7, IN TEN INNINGS

New Yorkers Tie Score in Ninth.

Brooklyn, N. Y., June 28.—(AP)—The Dodgers started after the league leading Giants today in a way that aroused memories of last season's finish. But after a ten inning struggle the Giants finally came out ahead, 11 to 7.

The Giants waited almost until the last minute, after some fine relief pitching by Dazzy Vance had checked one threat short of a tie. Two runs behind going into the ninth, they knotted the count on a rally started by Hank Leiber's tenth home run of the season, then went on to win with an outburst against Ray Benge in the tenth.

MOON MULLINS—A TALKING PICTURE

Tigers Win Two Games from Browns

St. Louis, Mo., June 28.—(AP)—Paced by Hank Greenberg, who knocked three home runs to send his mark for the season to twenty-three, atop both major league circuits, the Detroit Tigers filled the outskirts of Sportsman's park with hits of every variety today to take both halves of a doubleheader from the St. Louis Browns, the first game 10 to 1 and the second 7 to 2.

Greenberg hit into the left field seats for his first home run in the fifth inning of the opener, then reopened his attack in the same inning of the second game with another homer, and added one later for good measure. Rogell and Boss Mickey Cochrane clouted homers in the first game which saw every one of the American league champions register in the runs column.

PACHO ARRIVES FOR BOUT WITH SAGILIO TUESDAY

Bobby Pacho, contender for Barney Ross' junior welterweight title, has arrived from New York to prepare for his ten round bout with Frank Sagilio of Cicero at White Sox park next Tuesday. He was accompanied by Manager Larry Morrison and Johnny Erickson, eastern featherweight.

Pacho will be making his first appearance here since February when he lost a disputed decision to Davey Day at the Coliseum. Since then he has encountered ten opponents. He whipped eight of them. He knocked out Irish Jimmy Brady in five rounds in the semifinal to the Tony Canzoneri-Lou Ambers lightweight title match. Paola Villa is included among three other knockout victims. He won decisions from Eddie Marks, Johnny Moro, Harry Carleton, Joey Zoda, and fought a draw with Leonard Del Genio.

Sagilio will be making his first Chicago start under the management of Jack Hurley, former manager of Billy Petrolle. Pacho, who gave Champion Ross two hard fights not long ago, is expected to give Sagilio his severest test. Bobby, El Centro, Cal., Mexican, is an aggressive, two-handed fighter who may burst the Sagilio bubble.

Roy Williams, Chicago light heavyweight, who campaigned successfully in Australia and California for the last 18 months, yesterday sparred 10 rounds with Clinton Bridges. Bridges will meet Lou Thomas of Indianapolis, for the second time in a five round supporting match at White Sox park.

Cornelius, Giants' Leading Pitcher, to Face Brooklyn

Willie Cornelius, tied with Matlock of the Pittsburgh Crawfords for the pitching leadership of the Negro National league with 11 victories and one defeat, will be on the mound for the Chicago American Giants when they open a four game series with the Brooklyn Eagles at Cole's park, 39th street and Wentworth avenue, today. The series will be resumed with a double header tomorrow and a single game Monday.

Tilden also won the prize for low score on four par 3 holes, shooting 13. The low net foursome prize went to H. Dickson, L. Barnett, A. D. Watson, and S. A. Goodman, who had a total score of 303. V. Spoehr won the high gross prize with a 143.

Scorer Costs Roy Henshaw No Hit Game

sion was one purely of judgment on the individual play. In times past official scorers have been accused of shading their judgment in view of no hit possibilities, and in such instances the charge has been made that the scorer, not the pitcher, "pitched" a no hitter. Yesterday's official scorer probably would have been subjected to such criticism, for the play was a mighty close one.

The Cubs jumped into scoring action after Galan and Herman had supplied infield outs in the first inning. Cavarretta walked. Then Hartnett lined homer No. 7 into the right field stands, scoring behind Cavarretta. Lindstrom singled to left, but the inning ended on Klein's hard liner to Jensen.

Six Runs in Second.

English led off the second inning with a single to center, after which Jurges flied to P. Waner and Henshaw, attempting to bunt, fouled to Padden. Then Galan walked and Herman singled to left, English scoring. Cavarretta tripled to right center, scoring Galan and Herman, whereupon Birkofer replaced Weaver. Hartnett singled to center, scoring Cavarretta, and Lindstrom doubled to the center field bleachers, scoring the speeding Hartnett from first. Klein tripled to right center, scoring Lindstrom, whereupon Brown became the third Pirate pitcher of the inning. English, up the second time, sent a long fly to L. Waner.

The Pirates' offensive against Henshaw in the first three innings consisted of a walk by Jensen in the first inning and one by Suhr in the second. Of the ten batsmen who faced Henshaw in this span, Thevenow hit the only ball to the outfield.

Brown doubled for the only hit off Henshaw with one out in the sixth. For a moment it seemed Lindstrom would make the catch, but the ball evaded his grasp. Hafey batted for L. Waner and fanned. Then Jensen popped to Cavarretta.

DOUBLE-HEADER TODAY

Larry French this afternoon will endeavor to prolong his winning streak, now up to four straight, in one of the games of the Cubs' double-header with the Pirates. In the other Lon Warneke will seek to halt his losing streak at three straight. Red Lucas and Waite Hoyt will pitch for the visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Gabby Hartnett are the parents of a daughter, born yesterday morning. The child is their second, Charles Leo Jr. being the first. The Chicago Hartnetts have varied the sequence of Gabby's parents, Mrs. Hartnett Sr. having brought seven boys, then seven girls into the world.

Sox Rally Fails; Indians Triumph 6-5

Whitehead Meets Trouble.

Whitehead turned out two more good innings before falling into difficulties in the sixth, when the Indians jumped into the lead by scoring three times. A pass to Campbell started this foray. Trosky singled past Bonura, Campbell sprinting to third. Campbell scored while Hayes was tossing out Hale. Berger fanned for the second out. Phillips was walked, the idea being that Hildebrand would be easy.

But Whitehead could not get the ball over for Hildebrand and the latter walked, filling the bases. Galatzer singed over second on a ball Whitehead should have grabbed. It scored Trosky and Phillips, giving the Indians a 5 to 4 edge. Whitehead threw out Knickerbocker to end the trouble.

Dykes produced a single with one out in the seventh, this being the first hit off Hildebrand since the fourth, but nothing came of it. A single by Hayes with one out in the eighth also proved of no help.

Wanted: A Little Luck.

Whitehead's finish in the eighth came after two men had solved his teasers. One of them, Hale, hit the ball into the left field bleachers, a mere matter of 415 feet from the plate. When Berger singled to center, Whitehead was withdrawn in favor of Wyatt, who finished the inning with no more unfavorable happenings except the removal of Hildebrand, whose right ankle turned as he stepped on the edge of first base.

The Sox effort to delay the outcome in the ninth began with Simmons' single to right off Harder. He stole second as Appling fanned. Trosky staged a sensational one handed stop to rob Dykes of a base hit. Sewell slapped a single over short to score Simmons. Then Washington was summoned to bat for Wyatt and he delivered a single to left, but a moment later Radcliff lined into Knickerbocker's hands and the show was over.

COLLEGE STARS PLAY IN WESTERN NET MEET TODAY

A record entry of 148 is expected. Among the collegians who have filed entries are Russell Ball, Northwestern; Robert Reese, Georgia Tech; Donald Leavens, Northwestern sophomore star, and John Law of Stanford, who holds the Pacific coast intercollegiate title.

Others who will participate in the nine day meet include Thane Halstead, Illinois state champion; Milton Ruehl and Marvin Wachman of Milwaukee, and Robert [Lefty] Bryan of Chattanooga.

BRADDOCK DINNER.

NEW YORK, June 28.—At the testimonial dinner given to Heavyweight Champion Jim Braddock to celebrate his victory over Max Baer, Herbert Bayard Swope, former New York publisher now in business and chairman of the New York state racing commission, and Matchmaker Jimmy Johnston of Madison Square Garden were the wittiest speakers. Swope's humor was his usual sophisticated and scintillating brand. Johnston's was his naive admission of his actions under circumstances which might have proved embarrassing to any other narrator.

Mayor La Guardia was best of the politicians, although their trend in general was toward the sentimental and rhetorical. Mayor La Guardia said "that championship was won not by Jim Braddock here, but by three little tots in a New Jersey home," referring, of course, to Jim's three small children. Braddock's reply to it all was simple, direct, and common sense with the usual promise to be a credit to the game.

Harry Hirschfield scored with this one: Two little Jewish boys on the east side were discussing Hitlerism. Said Solly to Izzy. "Do you think, Izzy, there ever will be any race riots or pogroms here in New York City?" Replied Izzy, "Oy, oy, no. Where would they get the mob from? From Philadelphia?"

Dead Pan Louis.

Joe Louis is not the happy-go-lucky, laughing, carefree Negro one might expect from a boy whose origin was among the cotton pickers of Alabama. Instead he rarely smiles. He is not surly or ill natured, answers questions freely, but the rollicking nature simply isn't there. When his hand was held aloft in token of victory over Carnera his expression hardly changed.

Readers, no doubt, have seen by this time pictures of Joe with broad smiles. They are synthetic, usually produced after obvious effort by the interviewer, or at the request of photographers, readily granted, to yield a more appealing camera effect.

Carnera's Future.

Primo Carnera's ring future, if any, is uncertain. The Man Mountain, sore of heart and body, feels the urge to quit, to go back to Italy with his share of the proceeds from the Louis debacle.

It is likely Primo will be urged by those who profit from his ring appearances to continue against lesser opponents for what those bouts may yield at the box office. Carnera has practically nothing left from his previous fights in America covering a period of nearly six years, including the build-up period. Managerial percentages, an unfortunate real estate investment of heavy dough, and attorneys' fees for the frequent litigations in which he has been involved took it.

Loudest Cheers for Dempsey.

Champion Braddock and four ex-champions were introduced to the more than 60,000 spectators at Yankee stadium Tuesday night. Ex-champions were Jack Dempsey, Gene Tunney, Primo Carnera, and old Jack Johnson.

Dempsey, now a New York restaurant host, drew the heaviest salvo of applause. Tunney, who retired with his ring earnings to a Connecticut estate where he might have time for his Shakespearean predilection, was more cordially received than when he was champion. Carnera was less enthusiastically greeted than Louis, with a few boos in the chorus. Braddock drew the respectful acclaim of a clean living champion without any particular enthusiasm.

Old Jack Johnson, whose shaven head fairly gleamed under the ring lights as he removed his panama hat, flashed his golden toothed smile to applause which had forgotten his former escapades. Jack now conducts an amusement place in Harlem, or at least his name is over the door.

Heavyweight Title Tenure.

The heavyweight title has changed hands more frequently in the last five years than at any previous time in American boxing history. After Tunney's retirement, Max Schmeling won on a foul from Jack Sharkey in 1930. Sharkey outpointed Schmeling in 15 rounds in 1932. Carnera knocked out Sharkey in 6 rounds in 1933. Max Baer stopped Carnera in 11 rounds in 1934. Jim Braddock outpointed Baer in 15 rounds in 1935.

Sox Send Lyons Against Hudlin, Cleveland Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., June 28.—Ted Lyons, who was overlooked when the American league picked its all-star team for the July 8 game here, will pitch in the second game of the series for the White Sox against the Indians tomorrow. Willis Hudlin is the probable local nominee.

At the conclusion of this series Manager Jimmy Dykes will study Al Simmons' batting achievements and if the finding isn't satisfactory the Milwaukee Duke will be benched. That will mean Mule Haas in center field and Vernon G. Washington in right.

There were about 5,000 paid customers present, but the park was bulging with thousands of Ladies' day guests.

Donald Budge Beats Boussus at Wimbledon

LONDON, June 28.—Donald Budge celebrated his debut on the Wimbledon center court today by defeating France's Christian Boussus. It was not an exciting match, for the slim, solemn Frenchman never found his game till the third set.

Budge took the first eight points, raining deep fast drives and following up for the kill to win the first three games, losing only a single point. He ran away with the first two sets. Then Boussus rallied momentarily, taking the third set, but it was a flash in the pan and Budge won with a final love set, 6-3, 6-2, 3-6, 6-0.

Von Cramm Beats Mako.

A more exciting game was proceeding on the No. 1 court, where Baron Gottfried von Cramm, after leading the cheerful Gene Mako two sets with the loss of one game, was forced to concede the third set. From the start Mako went out boldly with volleys and drop shots, but the German baron produced the best form he has yet shown in England. Playing effortless tennis he dominated the game and at the end of the second set he was in such smashing shape that he looked likely to be finalist.

In the third set Mako led 5-3, taking the ninth game at love. Every point in this set was fiercely contested and Mako finally won it. But the effort finished him and Von Cramm swept into the last eight, 6-0, 6-1, 3-6, 6-1.

Peggy Scriven Beaten.

With the retu[illegible] heat wave thousands of spectators paraded the grounds, but it was a slack day, producing no great thrills. English girls had a busy time eliminating each other, Miss Fearnley W. Whittingstall trouncing Peggy Scriven, 6-3, 6-3, letting Miss Scriven make mistakes.

The liveliest match of the day was the doubles, where Allison and Van Ryn defeated the English team of Avory and Lee, 3-6, 6-1, 7-5, 6-2.

R. BALL DEFEATS REESE, FAVORITE IN COLLEGE NET

Wildcat Meets Coast Star in Semi-Finals.

Russell Ball, 18 year old Northwestern university sophomore, provided the first major upset in the National intercollegiate tennis tournament in Evanston yesterday when he eliminated Bill Reese of Georgia Tech, 6-0, 1-6, 6-4, to enter the semi-final round, which will be played at 2 o'clock today.

Ball will face Leonard Patterson of California Institute of Technology, in today's semi-final match. Patterson advanced by defeating George Ball, Russell's younger brother, also a Northwestern sophomore, 6-4, 6-2.

Sutter in Semi-Final.

The other semi-finalists are Wilbur Hess of Rice institute, first ranking player, and Ernest Sutter of Tulane. Hess went into the semi-finals by eliminating Paul Guibord of Dartmouth, 6-4, 6-1, while Sutter beat William Schommer of Minnesota, Big Ten champion, 6-1, 6-2.

Russell Ball is the only non-seeded player to reach the semi-finals and the last of the mid-western players in the tournament. He is the first Big Ten player to reach the semi-finals in the National intercollegiate tournament.

Hess Wins Again.

Hess, who has won all of his matches in straight sets, wasn't extended in overcoming Guibord, last of the eastern entries. Guibord led 2-1 in the first set, but Hess evened the match and went on to win, 6-4, 6-1.

Three teams reached the semi-final round of the doubles. Seward and Dey of Stanford will meet Newton and Bennett in the upper bracket today. # OMAHA AT 1-2 TODAY TO WIN DWYER STAKES

Five Others Named for Aqueduct Feature.

New York, June 28.—[Special.]—While William Woodward, his owner is on the Atlantic bound for Europe, Omaha, the three year old champion, will go to the post at Aqueduct tomorrow afternoon in what many observers consider will be his easiest race of the year. Only five others have been named to run against the triple crown winner in the mile and an eighth of the Dwyer stakes which will feature a seven race program. They are hardly in his class, and the consensus is the son of Gallant Fox will be a short price, and win easily even though he is giving much weight to each of the others.

In addition to the appearance of Omaha, Aqueduct race goers will be treated to a view of Joseph E. Widener's Peace Chance, the colt which won the 1934 Belmont stakes and which some consider a better horse than the champion of that year—Cavalcade. Peace Chance is making a return to competition in the Horn Pipe handicap.

INFLATION SLOW BUT REAL PERIL, AYRES ASSERTS

Economist Warns U. S. Is Courting Disaster.

New Brunswick, N. J., June 28.—[Special.]—Inflation as an "ultimate development seems to be a very real danger," Leonard P. Ayres, vice president of the Cleveland Trust company, said here tonight in an address before the Graduate School of Banking. He said present prospects did not indicate that we were on the verge of inflation severe enough to cause further dollar devaluation. He said when inflation comes it will be a slow process.

"In Germany, France, Belgium, and Italy," he said, "the processes of inflation took about five years to develop from the time when the governments entered upon policies of financing large peace time deficits by bank credit up to the time when the public generally began to spend money rapidly because of fear that it would still further depreciate in purchasing power.

U. S. Follows Disastrous Policy.

"The method we are following is the one that proved disastrous in Europe. In all those countries, including Germany, the increasing issues of money that caused inflation were not mere printing press issues of flat currency, but issues secured by government bonds and notes discounted at banks."

Ayres pointed out that the experience abroad indicates there is no good hedge against inflation. In Germany and France the best hedge was investing in foreign securities.

"The next best," he said, "was to buy stocks of the soundest and most conservatively managed companies and to hold them. Stock speculation during inflation proved to be even more difficult and hazardous than during ordinary times.

"One of the strange facts about these inflations is that while they destroyed the values of most existing debts, they did not succeed in lightening the debt burdens of either the people as a whole or of corporations."

Equity Owners Not Helped.

He said although inflation confiscates creditors' property and hands it over to shareholders, the many new difficulties presented force the equity owners to incur new debt and leave them in the same position they were before.

Inflation, when it comes, Ayres stated, will be ushered in by a business recovery.

"It may well be doubted," he added, "whether any national administration would have the fortitude to check and restrict such a recovery."

He counseled taking precautionary steps when interest rates start to rise, accompanied by advances in prices of nonagricultural commodities.

"The time to become alarmed about the situation," he advised, "will be when short time interest rates have risen so far that they are above the yields of high grade bonds."

PUBLIC FEELS MORE SECURE, DUN ASSERTS

New York, June 28.—[Special.]—The public's feeling of greater security in the future is indicated by the steady increase in new charge accounts and the extension of deferred-payment buying, Dun & Bradstreet said today in the weekly trade review.

"Warmer weather and preparations for the July 4 holidays gave a strong impetus to consumer buying of summer merchandise, and sales at many of the principal centers of distribution reached the best level of any week of the month," the survey reported.

"Emerging from the protracted rainy and cold spell of the early weeks of the month, June sales give evidence of reaching a larger total than was at first estimated. With seasonal weather emphasizing the necessity of covering requirements long postponed, retail sales for the week averaged 5 to 20 per cent ahead of the comparable 1934 totals."

Wholesale markets had larger orders than in the preceding week in most branches and as prices become firmer or give indication of advancing, fall buying is marked by less caution, the agency said.

"There was comparatively little change in industrial operations for the week, but more unevenness was in evidence, as schedules declined slowly in some divisions and advanced in others," it said.

SUBURBAN BANKS WILL REPAY MORE TO DEPOSITORS

Authorization of repayments to depositors of four closed suburban banks was announced by State Auditor Edward J. Barrett last night. The distributions aggregate $123,947 and are to be the final ones before the current quarter ends tomorrow. Each of the four banks has made previous returns.

The largest of the four payments will be the 5 per cent return of $51,700 by the Des Plaines State bank. It is the fifth "dividend" and brings total repayments up to 40 per cent. Checks will be mailed to depositors today. Money was obtained in ordinary liquidation of assets.

Maywood State bank depositors will receive their third 5 per cent return, amounting to $46,781. Funds were acquired in ordinary liquidation and checks were mailed last night.

Checks will be mailed today for a second repayment of 5 per cent at the Arlington Heights State bank. The amount involved is $17,600 and money was obtained in ordinary liquidation.

Restitution of funds to depositors of the Citizens' State Bank of Glencoe will total 25 per cent with the payment of another 10 per cent when checks are mailed today amounting to $7,866. Money was acquired through ordinary sale of assets.

Bendix Aviation Acquires Hurley-Townsend Company

The Bendix Aviation corporation has acquired the Hurley-Townsend corporation, manufacturers of spark plugs for aeronautical motors, it was announced yesterday by Vincent Bendix, president. "The addition of spark plugs to the present line of aircraft magnetos, battery ignition, switches, and other products for the industry is a logical development," said Bendix.

NEW BANK BILL IS DRAFTED FOR SENATE ACTION

Drastic Changes in Measure Rumored.

Washington, D. C., June 28.—[Special.]—The administration's 1935 banking bill, attempting further to centralize control over currency and credit in the federal reserve board, finished today its stormy course through the Glass subcommittee in the senate.

At the same time President Roosevelt signed the resolution extending the temporary bank deposit insurance system for two months. The resolution was adopted by congress to bridge the time it expects to take to act on the omnibus bill, and to prevent the permanent deposit insurance provisions from going into effect July 1.

The omnibus measure will be reported to the full committee on banking and currency next Monday in a form believed to differ vastly from that first suggested by administration officials when it was submitted to congress.

Committee Pledges Secrecy.

Meanwhile, interested parties, including officials of the federal reserve board, were trying in vain to find out what had been decided by the subcommittee, whose members agreed to strict secrecy at today's final session.

The most significant indication of the probable contents of the bill was the apparent joy of Senator Glass, open foe to the measure as originally introduced. He expressed himself as "more satisfied" with the bill than ever before. This was taken by some as indicative of an important change in Title II., which centers control over the federal reserve board more in the hands of the President through the appointive power, and providing an open market committee to extend further control over credit. This was the section most severely condemned by Senator Glass.

Rumors of Changes Heard.

One of the few rumors was to the effect that the subcommittee had inserted a clause permitting banks to be originators of security issues and exempting them from some sections of the securities and exchange act of 1934. Subcommittee members declined either to confirm or deny this.

The bill may be in the full committee a considerable time before reported to the senate for action, unless a complete agreement can be reached on the subcommittee's report. Congressional leaders feel now that they can take ample time to consider the measure. The emergency label was removed from the bill by the sixty day extension of the temporary deposit insurance plan, which was originally a part of the omnibus banking measure.

FDIC Head Is Satisfied.

The sixty day extension of the temporary features of federal deposit insurance was hailed with satisfaction today by Chairman Crowley of the FDIC.

"This will give congress an additional sixty days to consider the banking bill providing for an assessment of 1-12 of 1 per cent on total deposits annually for the purpose of insurance for deposits," he said.

The FDIC mailed back today to about 8,000 banks the checks for several million dollars which had been sent in for the purchase of class A stock in the FDIC. Had the permanent features of the law gone into effect, providing for a quarter of 1 per cent assessment on the total deposits of the banks, about $100,000,000 would have been received, Crowley estimated.

BANKS MAY UNDERWRITE

New York, June 28.—[Special.]—An amendment to the banking act of 1935, permitting banks to underwrite new issues of securities and exempting them from the civil liabilities imposed upon underwriters by the securities act of 1933, has been adopted by the senate banking subcommittee, it was learned today.

The amendment, which has been urged by bankers for some time, as a means of reopening the capital market, will go a long way toward restoring to banks of deposit, including J. P. Morgan & Co. and other private banks, their share in the securities business which was taken away by the banking act of 1933. The amendment is a part of Title III. of the banking act of 1935, which deals in general with amendments to and provisions of previous banking legislation.

Amendment Is Explained.

The new amendment provides, according to reports received in Wall street today, that banks may underwrite new issues of securities, both stocks and bonds; but does not permit the banks to sell securities, either at wholesale or retail.

Under the amendment banks underwriting securities need have no fear of the liabilities set forth in sections 11 and 12 of the securities act of 1933, which provided that underwriters, as well as issuers and merchandisers of securities, may be sued by purchasers of securities if the registration statement of the issue contains any untrue statement of a material fact or omission of such a fact.

The amendment, if it is adopted by congress, will establish banks of deposit in a new relationship to the securities business—that of underwriters or insurers of the success of new issues, having no direct concern in or profit from the actual sale of the issues.

Kroger Grocery Profit Sets Record for 24 Week Period

Kroger Grocery and Baking company announced yesterday that net income after all charges for the twenty-four weeks ended June 15 was the largest for that period in the company's history. Net income amounted to $2,353,948, equal after preferred dividends to $1.30 a share on the 1,813,092 no par shares of common stock outstanding. This compares with a net income of $2,285,520, or $1.27 a share on 1,789,633 shares in 1934.

Marshall Field Retirement Is Linked to Tax

BY HOWARD WOOD.

The forthcoming retirement of Marshall Field III. from the investment banking firm of Field, Glore & Co., was connected yesterday by gossip with the movement for higher taxes on large incomes. Beneficiary of the Field estate, established by his grandfather, pioneer Chicago merchant and founder of the firm of Marshall Field & Co., and director of a number of leading American corporations, Marshall Field III. ranks high among the nation's wealthiest citizens. But as a friend pointed out, he will escape no taxes by retirement except those on profits made in the investment company. He is already in the "higher brackets."

To one who asked if the threat of increased taxes had anything to do with his decision, Mr. Field is reported to have said:

"Well, what would you do if you were in my position?"

* *

According to his associates Mr. Field has announced his intention to leave the field of finance to devote more time to his many "outside activities." He is much devoted to art and outdoor sports and his friends say he probably will give much more time to these.

Field, Glore & Co., have recently figured in a number of important pieces of bond financing and the firm is reported to be prospering. Being one of the few large investment banking concerns left in business in the central west it has been in a position to profit by the recent revival in the bond business.

One factor influencing his decision was reported to be the discouragement provided by the securities act of 1933, which exposes underwriters of securities to great personal liabilities, the full extent of which has not yet been determined by the courts.

Prior to formal approval by the New York stock exchange of changes in the partnership no statement was forthcoming yesterday from the company's offices here. Charles Glore, his partner, said that Mr. Field was in the east. It is understood that the firm will retain its present name.

Mr. Field is a trustee of the Field estate and director of American Light and Traction company, Chicago and North Western Railway, Columbia Gas and Electric corporation, Continental Insurance company, European Electric Corp., Ltd., Italian Superpower corporation, Marshall Field & Co., Owens-Illinois Glass company, United Light and Power company, and Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company.

His directorships also include those in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Metropolitan Opera association, and the Saratoga Association for the Improvement of the Breed of Horses. His home is at Lloyd's Neck, Huntington, N. Y.

Other partners of Field, Glore & Co. are J. Russell Forgan, Maulsby Forrest, and T. Weller Kimball. Additions to the firm will be made, but information concerning changes is being withheld pending formal approval by the New York stock exchange.

STEEL INDUSTRY PAY ROLLS SHOW UPTURN IN MAY

New York, June 28.—[Special.]—Due mainly to the fact that May had one more day than April, pay rolls in the steel industry last month were $600,000 greater than in April, the American Steel and Iron institute reported today. The higher pay roll total occurred despite a drop in the production of ingots of 4 per cent, a scaling down in employment, a slight reduction in the hourly wage rate and a cut in the average hours worked per week.

Total pay rolls in May were $46,493,536, compared with $45,890,244 in the preceding month. Operations, based upon ingot production, which is usually followed closely by activity in finished steel products, average 43.53 per cent of capacity in May, against 45.28 per cent in April.

Total employment in the steel industry was 421,570 in May, a decrease of only ¾ of 1 per cent from the total of 424,623 employés in April. The average hourly wage was reported at 65.5 cents for May, a slight decrease from the average rate of 65.9 cents per hour paid in April. The average number of hours worked per week by wage earning employés in May was 33.9, compared with 34.2 in the preceding month.

COURT APPROVES CITY NATIONAL BANK NEW LEASE

Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan yesterday approved the lease between the City National Bank and Trust company and the 208 South La Salle Street Building corporation which had been pending since the early part of last month.

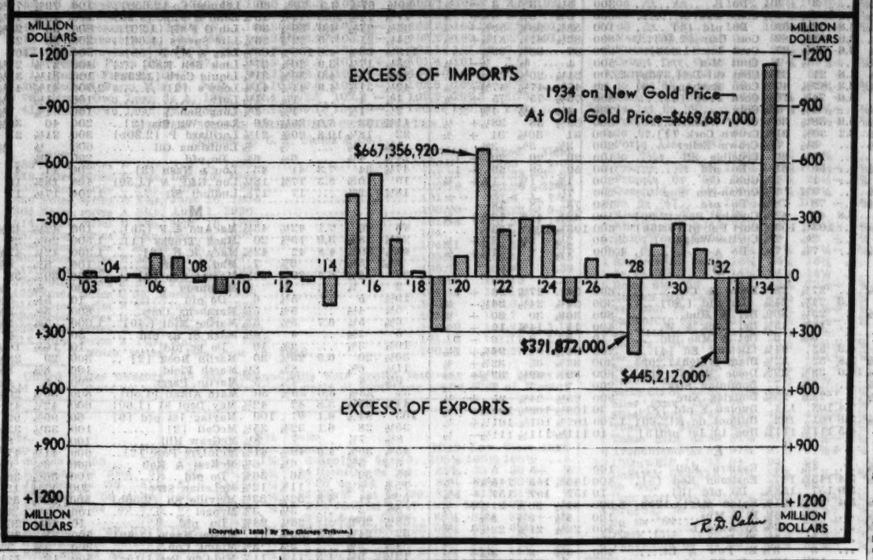

The new lease calls for base rental of $186,000, graduated to $286,000 a year. It supersedes the old lease, which would have expired on Oct. 31 but was canceled, which called for rentals ranging from $222,000 to $324,000. The new lease will expire optionally in 1959.

The jurisdiction of the court arose from the fact that a plan for reorganization of the building corporation under section 77B of the bankruptcy act is pending.

International Telephone Notes Extended, Rate Cut

New York, June 28.—[Special.]—The International Telephone and Telegraph company announced today that an agreement had been reached with the banking group holding its $22,880,000 notes, due Aug. 1, providing for an extension of the bulk of the issue on a reduced interest basis until May 1 next year. Under the plan the company will reduce the principal amount by $520,000 through payment in cash and will issue $22,360,000 new notes bearing a coupon rate of 4½ per cent. The obligations falling due on Aug. 1 carry an interest rate of 5 per cent.

Excess of Exports or Imports of Gold 1903-1934

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, June 28.—The release for publication here tonight of the text of the stabilization resolution that the International Chamber of Commerce will adopt tomorrow morning at its closing session shows the United States delegation's victory against British opposition was complete.

The resolution is the American draft, submitted by Elliot Wadsworth on Wednesday, with four slight changes. The alterations strengthen the American proposal. The resolution reads:

"The International Chamber of Commerce declares that stabilization of foreign exchange rates on the basis of gold is imperative for effective world economic recovery.

Urges Governments to Act.

"The chamber urges the principal governments concerned to inaugurate immediately appropriate consultations for the purpose of formulating and putting into effect an agreement for such stabilization and to take the speediest possible measures for adjusting their national economic policies to assure a safe functioning of an international gold standard over a long period.

"This declaration is based on the following considerations:

"1. The uncertainty as to the monetary policies of the principal trading nations and the instability of foreign exchange rates have led to a breakdown of international trade and must continue to lead to its further dislocation.

Causes Other Difficulties.

"2. Monetary uncertainty and foreign exchange instability inevitably lead to such developments as the establishment of compensatory tariffs and quotas designed to protect local markets from invasion by countries with depreciated currencies; a cessation of international long term investments; flights of capital and increases in the volume of international short term debts; exchange controls and embargoes on the free movement of capital; the hoarding of gold and foreign exchange.

"3. Postponement of stabilization until harmony has first been established between internal and external price levels must lead to a deterioration of position, since disharmony is itself in a large measure the effect of currency instability and the restrictions which have resulted from it.

"4. Permanent monetary stabilization can in practice be obtained only by the reëstablishment of the international gold standard."

British Want Stabilization.

The British delegation's complete capitulation is taken as evidence that British business men like those of the rest of the world, really want stabilization, but do not wish to embarrass their government before the general elections are out of the way. Hence they first presented the government's case, knowing it will prevail for the present, and now they feel free to join all other business leaders in a declaration that will permit them to bring pressure for stabilization at the earliest possible moment.

Rudolph S. Hecht, president of the American Bankers' association, told the chamber today that the United States and Great Britain already have taken steps toward stabilization. He warned the delegates that no nation should take any action to impede progress toward restoration of normal conditions in the world's currencies.

DEALER IN OIL ISSUES ATTACKS SECURITIES ACT

New York, June 28.—[Special.]—J. Edward Jones, dealer in oil securities, who recently caused the arrest of a former employé of the Securities and Exchange commission on the ground that the latter had solicited and accepted a bribe, filed a petition today in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals attacking the securities act of 1934 as unconstitutional.

The act, the petition charges, was in violation of the fourth, fifth, ninth, and fourteenth amendments, and was a usurpation by the national government of powers delegated to the states. It also was charged that the SEC itself had exceeded its own authority by attempting to function as a legislative body. The petition is an outgrowth of numerous exchanges between the broker and the commission.

Last Sunday Jones brought about the arrest in his home at Scarsdale of William A. Raybell, a former investigator of the SEC, who was said to have been trapped into accepting $250 as part of $27,500 he had demanded to help Jones in his fight with the commission.

VANDERBILT TRUSTS LOSE IN VALUE, EARN TWICE ORIGINAL SUM

New York, June 28.—[Special.]—Three trust funds, totaling $11,802,600, decreased in value to $8,612,316, but earned $16,263,996 between Sept. 12, 1899, and March 3, 1934, an accounting in the estate of Cornelius Vanderbilt III., filed in the Surrogates court today, shows.

The accounting, filed by Mrs. Gertrude Vanderbilt Whitney, his daughter, and Cornelius Vanderbilt, his son, as executors of the estate of Alice G. Vanderbilt, trustee, who died on April 22, 1934, is for trusts established for the benefit of both of them and for Countess Gladys Szechenyi, also a daughter, of London.

An original trust of $5,364,853 established for the benefit of Mrs. Whitney decreased to $3,914,592, but earned an income of $7,391,444, out of which she received $7,272,683 as life beneficiary. The trust for Countess Szechenyi, originally $5,364,853, decreased to $3,914,548 and earned $7,394,262, out of which she, as life beneficiary, received $6,672,349. Cornelius Vanderbilt's trust of $1,072,894 decreased to $783,174, earned $1,478,289 during the period, and netted him $1,464,609.

The principal of the three trusts, bequeathed under the testator's will to the issue of his children, was turned over to the United States Trust company under an order by Surrogate James A. Foley appointing that bank administrator on Feb. 8, 1934.

HOME BUILDING CONTINUES GAIN, DODGE REPORTS

New York, June 28.—[Special.]—Residential building awards continue to show substantial improvement over the totals for 1934, the F. W. Dodge corporation reported today. The volume reported in thirty-seven eastern states in the first half of June amounted to $25,779,200, nearly equal to the total for the entire month of June, 1934, it said.

"Coming on top of substantial improvement in May, the current gain assumes even greater importance," said L. Seth Schnitman, chief statistican of the corporation.

Non-residential building contracts in the first half of June amounted to $22,292,200, against $21,541,000 for the same 1934 period, according to the report. Civil engineering projects were $18,466,800, against $28,705,300.

The figures for all types of construction in the thirty-seven states totaled $66,538,200 for the first half of June, an increase of about 5 per cent over the same period in 1934.

Construction contracts for the year to June 15 totaled $615,038,300, of which $184,119,900 was for residential building, compared with $790,574,900 and $118,464,800, respectively, in 1934.

Court Continues Hearing on Zion Reorganiaztions

British Money Expert Gets 'Bid' to U. S.

Washington, D. C., June 28.—[Special.]—What amounted to an open invitation to Sir Frederick Keith-Ross, the British economist, to stop in Washington for conversations during his trip to North China to act as an observer in the Sino-Japanese dispute was issued informally today by Secretary Hull.

Whether the secretary of state had in mind the possibility of discussions of stabilization prospects was not disclosed. He did not mention the subject directly.

When Hull's attention was called at a press conference to London reports that Sir Frederick was making his trip by way of the United States and planned to pass through Washington, he said he had noticed the reports to this effect, but added that there could not be too many exchanges of ideas and information, especially by leading and outstanding authorities on economics and finance.

Believes All Willing to Talk.

Hull said he assumed everybody would be pleased to participate in those kind of exchanges individually or in any other way that would be mutually convenient and agreeable. Sir Frederick, he pointed out, is one of the outstanding men in economic and financial affairs in the world.

Hull declined to comment on reports that the governor of the South African Reserve bank was coming here to study stabilization prospects. Presumably his conversations would be more with federal reserve officials, it was said.

That Secretary Hull would welcome conversations touching upon stabilization is evident from his repeated utterances in speeches and statements of recent months pointing to the desirability of order being established in the exchange field.

London Not Ready, Is Belief.

While the British attitude is sympathetic in principle, London does not appear ready to proceed definitly with the subject. Officials here expect a period of relative calm this summer in foreign exchange, following the survival of the crisis by the French franc, with British and American aid, but they are hopeful that some moves may be possible perhaps in the fall in the direction of a preliminary or tentative stabilization agreement.

Secretary Hull said no decision had been reached for the United States to send an observer to the North China area, and that there had been no new developments here on that situation.

Banker Sails for U. S.

LIVERPOOL, England, June 28.—(AP)—Johannes Postmus, governor of the South African Reserve bank, left Liverpool today to talk over the possibility of ending world currency wars with United States and Canadian bankers.

It was understood Postmus, who buys vast quantities of gold annually, hoped to see President Roosevelt and Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau. He is expected to present views on currency stabilization to Americans.

Bill Offered to Block Suits Against U. S. on Gold Clause

Washington, D. C., June 28.—(AP)—An administration bill to deny holders of government securities the right to claim damages in court actions as a result of dollar devaluations was introduced today by Chairman Steagall of the house banking committee. The legislation was requested yesterday by President Roosevelt in a special message to congress. Chairman Fletcher of the senate banking committee said he would call a meeting soon to consider the message.

Steagall said the measure would be taken up by the banking committee on Monday and reported to the house "after possibly a couple of days' hearings."

"There won't be any trouble in the committee or house either, I'm sure," he added.

Would Bar Suits Against U. S.

The bill would take from holders of bonds, notes, certificates of indebtedness, treasury bills, and other government securities which contain the "gold clause" the privilege of suing the government on the ground that devaluation of the gold dollar had harmed them. It also would give holders of securities which contain the gold clause until Sept. 1, 1935, to exchange them for other securities which do not have the gold clause, which is a promise to pay off in gold.

The bill declares that "no holder of any of the money or securities of the United States has suffered any damage because of measures heretofore taken" by the government in its monetary program.

Fight Against Bill Brewing.

A fight against the bill was in the making. Conservatives in the senate said passage of it would add "repudiation to repudiation." They also spoke of "dishonesty" in governmental policy.

The legislation asked by Mr. Roosevelt would authorize payment of holders of $10,136,570,340 in gold securities that sum in devalued dollars or nongold clause securities would close the Court of Claims to all suits to recover payment in gold or in the dollar equivalent—$1.69 for each devalued dollar—and reaffirm the administration's policy of maintaining "dollar for dollar" equality.

In the famous "gold cases" the Supreme court ruled that the government could not change the terms of government bonds calling for payment in gold. It held, however, that the holders of such bonds must show actual damages in bringing suit. The new legislation would not allow such suits to be brought.

WHEAT CLIMBS LIMIT AS SHORT TRADERS COVER

Rain and Black Rust Are Influences.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Wheat jumped five cents a bushel yesterday, the maximum permitted under the rules of the Board of Trade, when a sudden spurt of buying caught the majority of traders by surprise.

A variety of factors contributed to the initial impulse behind the market's advance. Prices started up as soon as trading opened when news came in of a recurrence of rains in the harvest belt in the southwest and discovery of black rust in Nebraska and in one section of the northwest was reported. The big push in prices came later in the day when a stampede of buying broke out among speculators who had short commitments in the market.

Report Big Operator Active.

One of the biggest operators in the wheat pit who is credited with extensive short operations in recent weeks was reputed to have contributed largely to the buying in an attempt to retire his short sales. Buying orders came into the market through several different commission houses and the source of the demand was not suspected at first.

A wild scramble to cover developed, however, among big and little speculators and prices climbed rapidly. The bearishness of the professional traders for the last several days had resulted in an oversold condition, which made the market extremely sensitive to even moderate buying.

The upturn in prices in Chicago was the most important influence in causing the sharp advance in Kansas City and Minneapolis. In both the outside markets wheat shot up the 5 cent limit.

September at 85⅞ Cents.

September wheat, the leading feature, closed here at 85⅞ cents a bushel, as compared with Thursday's last price of 80⅞ cents. The five cent limit was not reached until the last few minutes of trading and there was no letdown in the feverish activity in the last hour of business. The July and December futures gained 4¾ and 4⅞ cents, respectively.

Milling demand for wheat was reported to be fairly heavy in both the Chicago and Minneapolis markets. The delay in harvesting operations is said to have given commercial buyers some concern because of their depleted inventories. This demand, however, could account for only part of the buying, the bulk of which came from the professional speculators.

The volume of trading was the heaviest in this market in some time. Actual figures on the day's business are not announced until the following morning, but brokers said that the transactions completed in the wheat pit ran far ahead of recent trading sessions.

Other Grains Strong.

Corn and other grains were strong, but most of the activity centered in wheat. At the close corn futures were selling ⅞ and 2½ cents a bushel higher. Rye and oats futures advanced an average of 2 cents a bushel.

| | Yesterday. | Thursday. | Wk. ago. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Wheat | 85⅞c | 80⅞c | 81½c |
| Corn | 77 c | 73⅝c | 75⅝c |
| Oats | 34½c | 32⅝c | 33½c |
| Rye | 48⅜c | 47 c | 47⅞c |

Explanation of the lag in corn prices yesterday is found in the spreading operations of speculators recently. There has been heavy short selling of wheat against purchases of corn. This operation is based on the assumption that wheat is likely to decline because of impending harvest movement, while corn will be comparatively strong because supplies are scarce and the harvest still months away. When speculators began to buy in their short commitments in wheat yesterday they sold the corn to close out the spreads.

FEDERAL DEFICIT RISING RAPIDLY TO 3½ BILLIONS

Washington, D. C., June 28.—(AP)—The treasury tonight neared the end of the fiscal year with the deficit rising rapidly toward $3,500,000,000. With two days still unreported, the deficit was $3,444,000,000, expenditures $7,221,000,000, and receipts $3,776,000,000, as compared with a deficit of $3,866,000,000, expenditures of $6,949,000,000, and receipts of $3,083,000,000 a year ago.

Disbursements were divided into $3,547,000,000 for "emergency" outlays, and $3,673,000,000 for "general expenditures," against $3,893,000,000 and $3,056,000,000 for the same period of last year.

The public debt stood at $28,671,000,000, an increase of $1,618,000,000 for the year. The balance in the general fund totaled $1,938,000,000, or $643,000,000 more than when the fiscal year began.

SURPLUS RAISED BY LIVE STOCK NATIONAL BANK

Directors of Live Stock National bank approved a $250,000 increase in surplus, the second increase in a year, according to David H. Reimers, president, yesterday. This brings surplus up to $750,000. The bank is capitalized at $1,000,000.

"The management regards it advisable under existing conditions to build the surplus account to really sizable proportions as an added safeguard to depositors," said Mr. Reimers. "Considering that a large portion of the assets is invested in high grade, short term securities, current earnings from operations are regarded satisfactory."

Frederick H. Prince, Boston capitalist and chairman of the board of Armour & Co., owns more than 80 per cent of the bank's stock.

Charge Banks Looted Road; Ask 10 Million

New York, June 28.—[Special.]—Fifteen officers and directors of the banking firm of James Speyer & Co. and J. & W. Seligman & Co., and Edward N. Brown, a director of the St. Louis-San Francisco Railway company, were accused of fraud and conspiracy in a $10,506,090 suit filed today in the Supreme court by John G. Lonsdale and James M. Kurn, trustees of the railway.

The defendants were charged with selling worthless stock of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad company to the St. Louis-San Francisco road.

Another action, filed simultaneously, asks $1,049,978 from the directors of Speyer & Co. and Brown, charging a similar fraud in connection with the sale of 25,000 shares of the common stock of the Gulf, Mobile and Northern Railroad company.

Road Now in Receivership.

The St. Louis-San Francisco railroad has been in federal receivership since Nov. 1, 1932. In 1916, when it was reorganized, the two banking houses were the "confidential and trusted advisers, agents and guides in all financial matters and the road was completely dominated and controled" by them, the complaint states. As such the banking houses and Brown were able to "use its funds and property and manipulate its affairs for their own benefit, gain and profit," it is alleged. The frauds charged were not discovered until the federal receivers investigated the railroad's affairs, they declared.

Brown later became chairman of the board of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad, for which Speyer & Co. acted as bankers, the complaint stated. His salary was $50,000 a year.

Charge Stock Selling Conspiracy.

Through the alleged conspiracy, it is charged, the bankers and Brown caused the Frisco to acquire 183,333 shares from Speyer & Co. for $1,506,090 and to pay the bankers a "special commission" of $1.25 a share. Speyer & Co. had bought the stock for $45.98 per share and sold it to the Frisco for $60.23, the complaint charged.

This stock became worthless when the Rock Island road went bankrupt. The plaintifs demanded $1,506,090 plus interest from January, 1926, and an accounting of all profits made by the banking company and Brown in the Frisco's affairs.

In the second action the trustees ask the return of $1,049,978 for stock in the Gulf railroad, plus interest from Sept. 30, 1932. They offer to return the stock to Speyer & Co., if that sum is repaid.

Another Stock Deal Recited.

Speyer & Co. "bore the closest confidential and trust relationship and dominated the administration" of the Frisco reorganization, the complaint states. In this position it, with Brown, caused the road to buy the Gulf stock "in order, at the expense of the Frisco, to save Speyer & Co. from their disastrous investment."

The Gulf stock was sold to the Frisco for $38.04 a share, although its market value at the time was only $13.62, the complaint charges.

DOLLAR FALLS UNDER NEW PAR AGAINST FRANC

New York, June 28.—[Special.]—Pound sterling reached the lowest level of the week against the dollar today while gold bloc currencies were showing moderate gains. The pound was off ½ cent at $4.94 and French francs improved ⅝ point to close at 6.64 cents.

The rise in the franc reduced the value of the dollar against francs to 99.90 cents from $1.00 yesterday, and based upon the old parity of the franc the dollar was worth 59 cents, compared with 59.06 cents yesterday.

Dutch guilders were up 6 points at 68.35 cents and Swiss francs rose 4 points to 32.85 cents. Italian lire were 1½ points higher at 8.30½ cents. Chinese currencies dipped with the falling silver prices in London. Hongkong dollars were off 55 points at 55½ cents and Shanghai dollars were 20 points lower at 39¾ cents.

With the price of gold in London unchanged, sales continued strong. At 141 shilling 3½ pence an ounce, £505,000 of the metal changed hands. The dollar equivalent of the price was $34.93. Bar silver, which has been weak in the last few days, was off another 1-16 penny to exactly 31 pence in the London market.

NASH DECLARES 25 CENT DIVIDEND; LOSS IS REDUCED

Directors of the Nash Motors company yesterday declared a dividend of 25 cents a share, and at the same time announced that the company had a net loss of $556,310 after all charges in the quarter ended May 31. This compares with a loss of $893,369 in the second quarter of 1934. The dividend is payable Aug. 1 to stock of record July 15.

Shipments in early may of the last of the 1935 model Lafayette series cleared the way for the 1936 Lafayette, according to C. W. Nash, chairman of the board. Sales of the 1936 Lafayette and the 400 series Nash, both of which are already in the hands of distributors, should bring about increased volume in the next few months, he said.

Eaton Manufacturing Pays 12½ Cents Extra Dividend

The Eaton Manufacturing company yesterday declared an extra dividend of 12½ cents and regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents. The Duff-Norton Manufacturing declared an extra dividend of 10 cents and the regular quarterly of 15 cents. The Lane company reduced the quarterly common dividend to $1 from the $2 paid April 1. Telautograph company declared a common dividend of 15 cents, a reduction from the 25 cents previously paid quarterly.

NORTH WESTERN ROAD FILES PLEA TO REORGANIZE

Milwaukee Line May Take Action Today.

The Chicago and North Western Railway company filed a voluntary petition yesterday in federal court here for reorganization under section 77 of the bankruptcy laws. Similar action by the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad is anticipated today, when President H. A. Scandrett is to amplify the skeleton announcement of the company's intentions, made Thursday in New York.

Federal Judge John P. Barnes, to whom the North Western case was assigned, immediately approved the bill as filed in good faith and authorized the company to continue in possession and operation of the property. The order provided that the railroad open a new set of books as of June 30, and make monthly reports to the court.

Unable to Meet Maturities.

The North Western faces interest charges and maturity obligations aggregating $29,464,892 before the end of this year, according to the petition, which was signed by President Fred W. Sargent. There is no possibility at this point of borrowing money with which to meet these obligations, the bill added.

Negotiations looking toward readjustment of fixed charges have been in progress for some time with the larger creditors, representing nearly half of the obligations, the petition stated. An agreement is expected soon, and at that time a definite reorganization plan will be submitted to the court.

Yesterday's bill contained no outline of plan, and was a routine petition. It set worth, among other things, that the company operates in nine states—Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, South Dakota, North Dakota, and Wyoming.

Expect Plan in 90 Days.

A copy of the petition was furnished to the interstate commerce commission. It is estimated a plan will be worked out within 90 days.

Already in default are $1,817,956 interest on 20 year convertible bonds, $500,000 due the Railroad Credit corporation, $498,465 interest on a Reconstruction Finance corporation loan, and $187,000 in equipment trust certificates held by the RFC.

Other obligations listed in the petition for the remainder of the year by months: July, $662,875 in five interest items; August, $590,929 in six interest items and $780,000 in maturities; September, $1,445,638 in six interest items and $442,000 maturities; October, $676,554 in six interest items and $12,030,000 maturities [$11,495 to the RFC]; November, $4,361,883 in seven interest items and $196,000 maturities; December, $1,232,270 in five interest items and $4,194,583 maturities [including $4,194,583 to RFC].

Many Roads Being Reorganized.

With this petition and the similar one to be filed by the Milwaukee road, more than 70 railroads are either in receivership or process of reorganization. They represent nearly one-third of the nation's railway mileage and approximately one-fifth of total railroad capitalization in the United States.

The North Western lays the blame for its troubles on the extended depression, unprecedented drouth, great growth of competing forms of transportation, high taxes, restoration of wage cuts, and increased cost of materials under operation of NRA codes.

An indication of future prospects is seen in business this fall if general conditions show a "reasonable upturn" and if the first excellent crop prospects in five years in the road's territory materialize.

COPPER PRODUCT PRICES CUT AS METAL DECLINES

New York, June 28.—(AP)—Leading manufacturers of brass and other copper products today announced lowered price schedules to conform with the reduced market for copper. The Anaconda Wire and Cable company and the General Cable corporation reduced the price of copper wire 1 cent a pound, Revere Copper and Brass cut the price of copper tubing 1 cent a pound and other products ⅝ to ¾ cent a pound. Similar readjustments were announced by the American Brass company.

These revisions were the outgrowth of the abandonment of the 9 cent Blue Eagle price for the metal, marked by transactions yesterday at 8 cents a pound. While the 8 cent price only came into the open Thursday, it was reported in well informed circles that sales of first hand metal had been made quietly at this level as early as last Friday.

Copper sales last week amounted to 9,098,000 pounds, according to the Engineering and Mining Journal, a figure somewhat larger than had been expected.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 28.—Advices from Washington that it will be at least two months before anything is done on President Roosevelt's "soak the rich" tax program lessened the anxiety of the financial district today and induced a mild recovery in stock prices. Although the gains were mostly fractional and scattered over a wide front, some of the preferred and volatile shares were up as much as 2 and 3 points.

Outside participation in the market was not large but there was enough new demand and week-end short covering for professional account to take care of any selling that appeared on bulges. Traders were wary, watching news from the nation's capital, but there was a widespread feeling that technical conditions had been improved and that most stocks were again in position to respond to constructive influences. The day's volume amounted to 755,630 shares.

Utility Group Does Best.

The utility division of the list turned in the best performance of the session. Consolidated Gas was a strong spot as the New York City board of estimate voted thumbs down on a municipal power plant. American Telephone, Brooklyn Union Gas, Detroit Edison, and Peoples Gas scored gains of more than a point. North American preferred rose almost 3 points and West Penn Electric did equally as well.

Trade news at the end of the week gave traders little clue to the trend of things. As predicted, railroad carloadings last week decreased sharply, the decline being partly ascribed to the passing fears of a coal strike. The federal reserve bank's review shows retail trade in this district has been holding up well but the usual seasonal gain over May did not take place.

Farm implement shares were aided by the rise in the price of wheat. J. I. Case gained over a point, as also did International Harvester, while Caterpillar and Deere were fractionally higher.

Another group of stock to harden was the liquors.

Railroad Group Is Firmer.

Despite the dip in carloadings, which was said to have been largely discounted, the rails managed to finish fractionally higher. Atchison, Great Northern, Baltimore and Ohio, and New York Central were among those scoring small advances.

Auburn was a strong spot in the motor section, driving up over 2 points. Chrysler was fractionally better, while General Motors was unchanged.

Westinghouse Electric was over a point higher, while other blue chips like American Can, Eastman Kodak, General Electric, Corn Products, and Du Pont moved up fractions.

U. S. Steel and Bethlehem were slightly improved.

SEC GETS FLOOD OF LISTINGS FOR NEW SECURITIES

Washington, D. C., June 28.—[Special.]—Registrations under the securities act of 1933 were received in unprecedented volume by the Securities and Exchange commission today, bringing the total for June to $565,210,981 and since Jan. 1 to $1,244,729,231. Filings received for docketing during the day alone aggregated $189,748,295.

Some of the filings were rushed here by airplane to get them to the commission before June 30, the last day on which corporations may use financial statements as of Dec. 31.

There are reports that other large corporations will try to submit registration statements tomorrow, and the total at the end of the month is expected to exceed 600 million dollars.

Notable among the issues because of the low interest rate of 3½ per cent proposed, and the largest to be received today was $70,000,000 by the Duquesne Light company of Pittsburgh to be used in refunding 4½ per cent bonds. Other major issues sought were $56,000,000 by the Pure Oil company, $28,000,000 by the B. J. Goodrich company, and $16,000,000 by the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois.

PERMIT SOUGHT TO SELL SPIEGEL, MAY, STERN STOCK

Washington, D. C., June 28.—(AP)—An application to issue 70,000 shares of common stock and 175,000 rights has been filed with the securities commission by the Spiegel, May, Stern Co., Inc., of Chicago. Net proceeds are expected to be $3,102,127, most of which is to be used to retire bank loans.

The proposed maximum offering price for the common stock is $47.50, while the rights are to be issued to the holders of outstanding common stock, being eligible to purchase two-fifths of one share of common stock. Wertheim & Co., have agreed to take all the 70,000 common shares not subscribed for by the common stockholders, marking the first registration with the commission showing a firm commitment by an underwriter.

Chicago Produce District Receiver Upheld by Court

The Appellate court yesterday affirmed the order of Superior Judge Joseph Sabath appointing a temporary receiver for the Chicago Produce district, a produce market area bounded by West Fourteenth place, West Fifteenth street, South Racine avenue, and South Morgan street. The temporary receiver was appointed pending completion of litigation in which a permanent receiver for the district is sought and an accounting of its business is asked. Charges had been made in the suit that the trustees of the district had mismanaged the property and taken excessive fees and commissions in a reorganization of the district.

New York, June 28.—[Special.]—An apparent selling move in second grade rail bonds was checked today when a strong investment undertone made itself felt. Prices of the group moved up as much as 1½ points before further fractional easing. Selling volume was not heavy.

Railroad issues were not greatly disturbed by bankruptcy discussions even though it was generally taken for granted that the St. Paul will announce tomorrow its decision to follow the North Western through the courts. The bonds of these two carriers were mostly lower.

Federal Bonds Easier.

Government bonds were slightly easier as a result of lagging investment demand, although liquidation was not apparent and price changes were narrow. Losses ranged from 2-32ds to 5-32ds and gains were fewer and smaller while a number of Treasury loans ended unchanged.

Followers of utility bonds were heartened by the plea of Representative Huddleston, an administration followed, to regulate holding companies instead of destroying them. Firm spots in this group included bonds of American and Foreign Power, American Water Works, Columbia Gas, International Telephone, and Detroit Edison.

Other Special Performers.

Special performers elsewhere included Nickel Plate 5½s, "Soo" Line 5½s, Paramount-Famous 6s, Bush Terminal 5s, and Goodrich 6s. In addition to North Western and St. Paul issues, other losers included Lehigh Valley 4½s and Illinois Central 4s.

Another good advance in Panama 5s was the principal feature of the foreign division. There also was a large volume of buying in Peruvian 6s at higher prices.

Transfers were nearly a million dollars less than on Thursday at $10,925,000, par value, and the turnover in United States governments approximated $2,480,000 against $2,980,000.

Pennsylvania Electric.

Investors' Guide: Will you please give me information regarding Pennsylvania Electric company first and refunding 5s, series H, due April 15, 19??—Mrs. P. G.

Answer: Pennsylvania Electric company is an operating unit of the Associated Gas and Electric system, furnishing mostly electricity in a highly industrialized section to 543 communities in western Pennsylvania. Erie, Johnstown, and Warren are some of the principal cities served. This is a region where coal, steel, and heavy industrial production predominate. Output of this utility, consequently, fluctuates with the rate of activity in the durable goods industry.

An increase of nearly 5 per cent in gross revenues in the twelve months ended March 31, 1935, over the preceding twelve months enabled the company to cover fixed charges 1.85 times, against 1.77 times in the twelve months ended March 31, 1934. They were earned 1.89 times in 1934, 1.79 times in 1933, 2.12 times in 1932, and 2.89 times in 1931.

Reduction of funded debt during 1934 by about $2,800,000 and the $2,540,000 note maturity in 1935 reacted adversely on current position. Current assets at the close of the year totaled $1,221,000, and current liabilities were $3,501,000. The 1935 note maturity was held by the parent company and was canceled by crediting the parent company with the amount due it.

All issues of the company's bonds are currently regarded as a business man's investment.

Southern Pipe Line.

For the first four months of 1935 crude deliveries totaled 291,000 barrels, down about 3 per cent from deliveries of 302,000 barrels during the first four months of 1934. Deliveries in 1934 totaled 945,383 barrels, against 867,820 in 1933, 1,139,491 in 1932, and 2,188,532 in 1931.

Net income in 1934 was $61,000, or 61 cents a share, in comparison with net of $35,000, or 35 cents a share, in 1933. In 1932 the company lost $6,000. Profits in 1931 were $175,000 and in 1930 $259,000.

At the close of 1934 current assets were $873,000 and current liabilities were $5,000. Capitalization consists of 100,000 shares of $10 par capital stock. Dividends are not paid at a regular rate. One of 15 cents a share was paid on March 1, 1935. In 1934 they totaled 25 cents a share, and in 1933 20 cents. Dividends were $1.15 in 1932 and $2 in 1931.

The stock is medium grade and somewhat speculative.

LIBBY, M'NEILL CONSIDERS PLAN TO REFINANCE

$25.66 Arrearage on $7 Preferred Stock.

Libby, McNeill & Libby, one of the nation's foremost canners, is considering submission to stockholders of a plan to recast the company's financial structure and refinance outstanding bonds. President E. G. McDougall disclosed this fact yesterday after a spurt of activity in the company's stock wich accounted for 3,050 of the 24,000 shares traded in an otherwise quiet day on the Chicago Stock exchange.

McDougall declined to comment further than to say that the directors are considering the matter. No formal announcement is to be made until details have been definitely developed.

Ten Million Funded Debt.

The funded debt of the company consists of $10,312,500 outstanding 5 per cent first mortgage sinking fund bonds due Oct. 1, 1942, and callable at 103 and interest due.

Capital stock includes 97,500 $100 par shares of $7 cumulative first preferred, callable at 105 on 60 days' notice, 14,500 shares of $100 par $6 non-cumulative second preferred redeemable at 105 on 60 days' notice, and 625,000 shares of $10 par common.

A previous recapitalization plan was approved by stockholders on May 22, 1930. Under it the $7 cumulative preferred was approximately halved through issuance of the second preferred, part of which was used to wipe out dividend arrears on the $7 preferred.

Loses During Depression.

As profits turned to losses in the depression period, however, dividends again lapsed, none having been paid since July 1, 1931. Arrears on the $7 cumulative issue were $25.66 at the close of the fiscal year on March 2 last. No dividend has been paid on the common since 1921.

For the eight years ended Feb. 28, 1931, net income averaged $2,100,000 annually, but the succeeding two years saw deficits of $4,982,000 and $6,248,000. Increased volume and rising prices restored profitable operation in the year ended March 2, 1934. The net was $2,206,342. A further rise to $3,032,288 was recorded in the period ended last March 2.

A strong current position was evidenced by current assets of $27,434,873, including $19,469,580 inventories and $1,857,890 cash, as against current liabilities of $7,398,879.

CUBA DECIDES TO PAY ON PART OF FOREIGN DEBTS

HAVANA, June 28.—(AP)—Cuba today decided to resume payments on part of her foreign debt. A budget for 1935-1936 totaling $65,125,000, which was approved by the cabinet, provided $4,000,000 for part amortization of the Speyer and Morgan loans on which service was suspended by decree in April, 1934.

The moratorium then declared was to continue "until the government's income reaches $60,000,000 annually," which it did this year. Other foreign obligations in default were not mentioned in the budget.

The Mendieta government suspended payment on $52,000,000 of bonds, held mostly by American investors which were floated through Speyer & Co. and J. P. Morgan & Co.

A public works indebtedness of $80,000,000, owed largely to the Chase National bank, had been previously defaulted by President Ramon Grau San Martin, who asserted it was "illegitimate" because contracted by the deposed President Gerardo Machado without the consent of the people.

Decorative Arts Building Deeded to Insurance Firm

According to the county records, the southwest corner of North Michigan avenue and East Ontario street, 100 by 75 feet, improved with the five story Decorative Arts building, was conveyed yesterday by Louis M. Nelson to the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company. The revenue stamps indicated a price of $426,000. According to the insurance company the property was conveyed to satisfy a mortgage.

Brazil Prepares to Pay 19 Millions U. S. Credit

RIO DE JANEIRO, June 28.—(AP)—Brazil's government, beset during recent months with demands for suspension of service on the country's big foreign debt, today was authoritatively reported preparing to pay $19,000,000 in commercial credit owing to United States business.

BOND NOTES

Offering to the selling group of $18,594,000 of Consumers Power company first lien and unifying 3¾ per cent mortgage bonds, series of 1935 and due in 1965, has been completed and no allotment was made on oversubscriptions, according to Bonbright & Co., Inc., managers of the selling group.

The New York public service commission authorized yesterday the Central Hudson Gas and Electric corporation to issue $9,765,000 first and refunding mortgage 3½ per cent bonds due in 1965, to be sold at not less than 98 per cent to refund other bond issues and for other purposes. A registration statement covering the issue was filed recently with the securities and exchange commission.

The Connecticut Light and Power company, it was announced yesterday, has arranged for the private sale of $10,000,000 series E first and refunding mortgage 3¾ per cent 30 year bonds. The proceeds will be used to redeem outstanding bonds, leaving about $1,000,000 for additions, betterments and improvements to property.

New state and municipal financing scheduled for the first week in July will amount to $10,843,000, according to the Daily Bond Buyer. This compares with a revised total of $14,473,000 during the current week. An issue of $3,500,000 city of Dallas, Tex., bonds is the largest single piece.

ILLINOIS INSURANCE CODE AGAIN FAILS TO PASS IN STATE SENATE

Springfield, Ill., June 28.—[Special.]—For the third time within two weeks sponsors of the revised insurance code failed late today in the Illinois senate to obtain twenty-six votes—a majority—for the measure. The bill has been approved in the house. The vote was 19 to 10, with twenty-two senators either absent or not voting.

The code, which was prepared by a legislative commission with the aid of Ernest Palmer, state director of insurance, was called for passage by Senator Louis O. Williams [Dem., Clinton].

"This is the first time in the history of the state that an effort has been made to codify Illinois' insurance laws," said Senator Richard J. Barr [Rep., Joliet]. "Besides a codification, there are many new and meritorious features in this code. One provision is that the insurance companies' funds cannot be invested in enterprises in which officers of the investing company are interested. If we had had that on the statute books before there wouldn't have been some of the tragic failures of insurance companies that we have seen. Another feature is the penalty for vexatious delays in settling claims."

Senator Harold G. Ward [Dem., Chicago] also made a plea for passage. When it became apparent that no more votes could be obtained Senator Williams moved to suspend consideration of the code, leaving the way open for another roll call tomorrow.

Washington, D. C., June 28.—[Special.]—Freight loadings on the nation's railways last week slumped sharply from the preceding week and the corresponding weeks of 1934 and 1933. The total for the week, reported by the Association of American Railroads, was 567,847 cars, off 35,245 cars, or 13.1 per cent, from the preceding week, and 55,475 cars, or 8.7 per cent, below a year ago, as well as 41,780 cars under 1933.

The drop was principally due to a sharp letup in coal loadings, compared with the abnormally high trafic in coal during preceding weeks, when a strike was threatening in the bituminous fields, but which has failed to materialize.

Total loadings since the beginning of the year to June 22 were 14,558,021 cars, compared with 14,790,620 in the corresponding period of last year, and 12,702,570 in 1933.

NORRIS GRAIN CO. BIDS FOR PLANTS OF ROSENBAUM

Offers Stock in Payment; Two Plans Submitted.

The Norris Grain company yesterday made two alternative offers for the purchase of the properties of the Rosenbaum Grain corporation which is undergoing reorganization under section 77-B of the bankruptcy act. The bids were presented to the federal District court by Attorneys Benjamin F. Goldstein and Irving Herriott, counsel for the Chicago Elevator Properties, Inc., a Rosenbaum subsidiary which has direct control of the warehouses in Chicago.

The first offer proposes the formation of a new company in which the Norris company would hold all the common stock and the Rosenbaum estate would be given $850,000 of preferred stock. The company would take over and manage the elevator properties, assuming the mortgage of $850,000.

Would Provide Business.

Under the plan the Norris company would agree to direct storage business growing out of its grain merchandising to the new company and would lease additional space for its own use. The offer is contingent on the retention by the Rosenbaum organization of the lease on the North Western elevator in South Chicago which the owners, the Chicago and North Western railway, has threatened to cancel.

The second offer of the Norris company excludes the North Western property. Under its terms the Rosenbaum trustees would receive for the benefit of creditors of the company $500,000 in common stock in a new concern, which would take over and manage the wholly owned Rosenbaum elevators. Acceptance of the second offer, however, would make necessary revision of present mortgage agreement, it was explained by the attorneys.

Seek to Continue Lease.

Meanwhile it was learned that efforts will be made to have the Chicago and North Western continue the present lease on its South Chicago warehouse. It is understood that the road has tentatively offered the elevator to the Cargill Elevator company of Minneapolis. The situation has been complicated by the fact that the railroad has filed for reorganization under the bankruptcy act, and its affairs are now under jurisdiction of the federal court, as are those of the Rosenbaum company.

The hearing scheduled yesterday on all proposals of reorganization and liquidation before Federal Judge William H. Holly was put over until July 2.

Earlier in the day Judge Holly approved the compromise plan for settlement of debts owed to the Rosenbaum Grain corporation by members of the Rosenbaum family. The family will pay $350,000 in cash to the corporation and give notes for approximately $286,000.

SPRING PIG CROP, 30 MILLION HEAD, SETS LOW MARK

Decrease Is 7,405,000, or 20%, from 1934.

The United States this year produced the smallest spring pig crop on record, the department of agriculture revealed yesterday. The total number of pigs saved during the spring season [Dec. 1 to June 1] was 30,402,000, a decrease of 7,405,000, or 20 per cent, from the small crop saved in the spring of 1934 and a decrease of 20,814,000, or 40 per cent, from the average of the spring pig crops of 1932 and 1933.

It was estimated that the number saved in the north central states [corn belt] will be about 23,703,000 head, a decrease of 22.3 per cent from the spring of 1934 and 42 per cent from the average of 1932 and 1933.

May Be 40 Year Low.

While there is a prospect of an increase of 19 per cent in the number of sows to farrow in the fall, over the number farrowed in the fall of 1934, the department of agriculture estimates that the total number of pigs saved during all of 1935 will likely be the smallest for "probably forty years at least."

If the number of sows that farrow in the fall of this year should total about as estimated, the report said, the total number farrowed in 1935 will be about 8,196,000. This is a decrease of 934,000 litters, or more than 10 per cent from the total in 1934 and 41 per cent from average for 1932 and 1933. For the corn belt states the decrease from last year would be over 12 per cent, and from the average of 1932 and 1933 nearly 44 per cent.

Slaughter to Show Decrease.

Commercial hog slaughter for the marketing year Oct. 1, 1935, to Sept. 30, 1936, will be considerably less than that of the present marketing year which promises to be the smallest since 1909-1910 and the second smallest in thirty years, the report said.

The number of hogs over six months old on farms June 1, 1935, as indicated by the survey which is made through the rural mail carriers was much smaller than on that date in 1934 or any recent year. The decrease from last year amounted to about 30 per cent, or about 8,000,000 head.

In all of the principal hog states production in 1935 will be far below the maximum allowed under the corn adjustment program, the report says.

SHARP RISE IN LARD PRICES DUE TO SPRING PIG REPORT

Aggressive short covering developed in lard futures yesterday, especially in the deferred deliveries. The buying was stimulated by a department of agriculture report estimating the spring pig crop at 20 per cent less than the abnormally small crop of the preceding year. While heavy profit taking developed on the advance the close was about the top, with net gains of 20 to 22½ cents on the active futures, while the May was 7½ cents higher. Bellies were unchanged to 12½ cents lower. Cash lard closed at $13.60; loose, $13.72; leaf, $14, and bellies at $17.12 per 100 pounds. Prices in dollars per 100 pounds follow:

LIGHT HOGS SELL STRONG; OTHERS POINT LOWER

Light and medium weight butcher hogs sold strong to 10 cents higher on opening rounds yesterday. The top sales up to $12, including the processing tax, equaled the highest point of the week, but heavier stock was a drug on the market and sold mostly weak to 10 cents lower. Some offerings exceeding 275 pounds declined as much as 15 cents on final rounds.

The setback in weighty stock and the larger proportion of these in the receipts pulled the average price down 5 cents to $11.20, a loss of 25 cents compared with the preceding Friday. The range of prices widened again, selected 200 to 220 pound averages bringing the peak prices. The volume of hog receipts at all leading packing centers continued to fall.

Better grades of cattle were scarce and brought about steady prices, but a burdensome supply of inferior southern cattle sold weak to slightly lower. About 15 carloads of these were on the market, almost 20 per cent of the day's receipts. The steers brought $3.75 to $7 and hefers sold downward from $6.

Most native steers yesterday brought $8.50 to $10.65. Some 1,161 pound were in the run.

PRICES OF COTTON FUTURES ADVANCE 17 TO 25 POINTS

Aggressive buying of cotton futures credited to the government pool and to New Orleans and regarded as in connection with sales of spot cotton by the pool of between 35,000 and 45,000 bales to Russia, swept prices up as much as $1.25 per bale in leading markets yesterday. Net gains ranged from 17 to 25 points, with Chicago leading.

In addition to this buying there was also support as the result of unfavorable crop comments from Texas and Oklahoma, where the condition is regarded as the poorest in several years. The forecast indicated further rains overnight in the western belt.

Spot cotton closed 15 to 20 points higher, with New Orleans and New York 12.20 cents, Houston 12.00 cents, and Galveston 11.95 cents per pound. Prices in cents per pound follow:

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, June 28.—(AP)—Bleachable cottonseed oil closed 19 to 30 points net higher today on sales of 147 contracts. Bullish cotton crop advices, the government pig report, strength in grains and good outside buying accounted for the upturn. Bleachable spot, nominal; July closed, 9.90c per lb; September, 10.05c; October, 10.03c; December, 10.02c; January, 10.03c.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, June 28.—(AP)—Cotton goods were in light demand with prices irregular. Rayon yarns were firm and the trade expected advances. Rayon fabrics sold steadily in moderate volume. Silk goods of the better grades were firm and sold better than last year. Expectations of a strike in the garment trades restricted sales in worsted dress goods and coatings. Burlaps were quiet and barely steady.

GOVERNMENT RELIEF BUYING CAUSES ADVANCE IN BUTTER

Announcement that the government had accepted tenders of 3,285,000 pounds of butter for relief distribution led to fairly aggressive buying of futures on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday and the close was ⅛ to ¼ cent higher, with November finishing at 24⅝ cents per pound. Profit taking caused a recession from the best figures of the day. The into storage movement at the four leading points of accumulation Thursday aggregated 800,000 pounds, compared with 300,000 pounds for the corresponding period last year.

Trading in egg futures was light with prices ⅛ cent lower on the October at 25⅝c per dozen. Heavy offerings over the market more than offset bullish statistics. Cheese futures closed unchanged. Sales of butter were 118 cars; eggs, 30 cars, and cheese, 1 car. Prices follow:

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

If you register before Monday you can receive your training under the old law. You need not start to school immediately but you MUST register before Monday if you want to complete a course in beauty culture in 625 hours instead of 1,000 hours.

Shop owners will tell you that they prefer beauty operators who have been trained by Mme. Louise at DeLEE. That is why every DeLEE graduate is employed. We know that if you come in and register for a course at DeLEE you will never regret your choice. We will be open all day Friday until 9 p. m. and Saturday until 6 p. m.
